JOHN HAY IS LAID TO REST

Severe Simplicity Marks Burial of Late Secretary of State.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS

With Members of Cabinet and Foreign Representatives, He Leads Funeral Cortege.

MRS. HAY IS AT THE GRAVE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—The body of John Hay rests tonight in his family burying ground in Lakeview cemetery. Around his grave are the granite monuments of men who have done strong things for Cleveland, for Ohio, and some of them for the nation.

Five hundred feet to the west of where the great secretary lies is the memorial to James A. Garfield, 200 feet to the north rises the monolith of the Rockefeller family. Closer still are the graves of Otises and the Rusts. Most of these men were buried with funeral services far more elaborate than was John Hay, certainly, none of them could have been interred with ceremony more simple.

The day of the funeral was a day such as one does not willingly associate with the idea of death—a day of bright sunshine, whose warmth was tempered with floating clouds, and the wind that seems to blow forever over Euclid Heights. It was a day to make the majority of men rejoice to be alive and on which nothing but the irresistible force of events would bring home to them such bitter truths as illness, death and the grave.

President Roosevelt's train on the Pennsylvania came into the Union depot exactly at 9 o'clock, the schedule time. A committee of 20 prominent citizens of Cleveland was in waiting to receive him, headed by Gov. Herrick and Ambrose Swazey, president of the chamber of commerce. Vice President Fairbanks, Associate Justice William H. Day of the United States supreme court, and Samuel Mather, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hay, were also present.

Troopers Escort President.

Troop A of the Ohio national guard, which was to act as the president's escort, was drawn up opposite the doorway of the station and their sabers flashed in salute as the president appeared. He raised his hat in acknowledgment and bowed repeatedly in approval of the fine appearance presented by the youthful horsemen. As soon as the members of the cabinet had entered the carriages, the cavalry passed to the front of the column with the exception of four troopers, who rode two on each side of the president's carriage. The drive from the depot to the chamber of commerce was completed in 20 minutes.

A large crowd was gathered around the building, but the nature of the president's visit being realized, there was no demonstration.

The president and vice president entered the hall of the chamber of commerce escorted by Mr. Swazey and Gov. Herrick. There was a brief wait until the members of the cabinet and of the local reception committee had formed in column behind the president and vice president, then the doors of the Auditorium were slowly turned back, and the party, passing between rows of sentries who stood with presented arms, entered the room where the casket lay.

Did Not Open Casket.

Mrs. Hay had expressed a desire that the casket be not opened unless President Roosevelt should express a desire to look on the face of the secretary once more. This was explained to the president at the train, and he at once expressed himself unwilling to disturb the arrangements. The president, vice president and Gov. Herrick passed around to the head of the casket, while in a semi-circle around the hall stood members of the present and of former cabinets.

Those present were, besides the members of the local reception committee: Elihu Root, ex-secretary of war; Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Postmaster General Cortelyou, Attorney General Moody, Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte, Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, ex-Attorney General Knox, Charles Emory Smith, ex-postmaster general; ex-Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton, Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor; Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Eki Hioki, secretary of the Japanese legation at

WOULD ABANDON DAMS IN RIVER

Improvements for Navigation Cause Floods in Upper Mississippi Valley.

WAR DEPARTMENT WILL ACT

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, July 5.

The unheard-of situation of local opposition to river and harbor improvements has developed along the upper Mississippi. It is claimed by the owners of the land that there is very little traffic on the upper portion of the river, and that the reservoirs and dams are causing great damages to the property of that section. This is especially true this year owing to the high water on the river.

The agitation has reached the river and harbor committee and the war department will investigate the condition of the stream.

In a letter written to Representative J. Adam Bede, Representative Burton of Ohio, chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors, favors the abolition of reservoirs and dams on the upper Mississippi. Mr. Burton recalls in his letter the fact that the house committee, in reporting the river and harbor bill last session, left out all appropriations for the Mississippi reservoirs and dams. The bill passed as reported from committee, but reservoir appropriations were put in it in the senate, and then there was a vigorous fight in conference committee of which Senator Nelson was a member. The senator made a vigorous fight for the appropriation for the dams, insisting they were needed for navigation on the lower river.

Representative Bede said this evening: "The entire country in upper Minnesota seems to be up in arms over the floods, and they are charging it to the dams and reservoirs. Speaking for myself, I cannot see any necessity for further maintaining the dams." L. W. STRAYER.

SIXTY KILLED AND INJURED BY A CYCLONE IN TEXAS

Known List of Dead Is Fourteen, Two Persons Are Fatally Hurt, and the Number of Casualties Is Constantly Growing.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DALLAS, TEXAS, July 5.—A special from Nodona, Texas, says: A tornado and thunderstorm passed a few miles west and south of here this afternoon, killing 14 persons and injuring many others. The latest reports from the storm-swept district give the following casualties:

THE DEAD:

MRS. C. C. SHACKELFORD.

LINNIE SHACKELFORD, daughter of R. C. Shackelford.

MRS. S. L. TUMBLETON and three children.

MRS. MARY LESTER and four children.

CALEB WHITE.

MRS. IRB WILLIAMS.

IRB WILLIAMS.

FRANK WILLIAMS.

A man named Hobbs is fatally injured; also child.

Reports of the work of the tornado are still coming in. The number of killed and injured will probably reach 60. Many farm houses were swept entirely away. The Methodist church at Montague is reported wrecked and the court house damaged. The Dixie school house, seven miles south of here, was entirely blown away. Hailstones as large as hen eggs fell here.

MONTAGUE, TEXAS, July 5.—Nine people are dead as a result of a tornado that passed over Montague this afternoon.

THE DEAD:

A. P. EARL.

MISS SADIE EARL.

BURK EARL.

BABY OF LAWRENCE PILLOW.

TOMLINSON FAMILY, consisting of husband, wife and four children.

FATALLY INJURED.

CLAIBORN WHITE, 45 years old.

Four stores and 15 dwellings were demolished. The tornado lasted perhaps 30 minutes. The number of injured is unknown.

BEEF TRUST OFFICIALS FILE THEIR BAIL BONDS

Program Is to Bring Injunction Proceedings to Restrain Their Prosecution.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 5.—Bonds for the indicted men in the beef trust cases have been signed by the American Surety Company and were filed this afternoon. J. Ogden Armour returned today and a meeting was held in his office. Beth S. Cusey, a traffic official of the Schwartzschild & Sulzberger Company, accused of accepting and giving rebates, was the first of the packing officials to furnish bail.

The packers' campaign is dormant. John S. Miller, attorney for officials of four of the companies, said at noon that no action would be taken in resistance to the government's action before the end of the week.

"Before we take a step we will give reasonable notice to the federal attorney," he said. "The proceedings will be by injunction, I have no doubt. I do not believe at this time that a motion to quash or habeas corpus proceedings would be desirable."

The bonds signed today were for $5,000 each. The corporations furnishing bonds were Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and the Fairbanks Canning Company. The individual bonds were for Arthur Meeker, general manager of Armour & Co.; P. A. Vaneline, treasurer of Armour & Co.; Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Edward Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.; Lawrence A. Carten, treasurer of Swift & Co.; Robert C. McManus, general counsel for Swift & Co.; Arthur F. Evans, attorney for Swift & Co.; Ira N. Morris, secretary of the Fairbanks Canning Company; J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.; Charles W. Armour, president Armour Packing Company; Samuel McRoberts, assistant treasurer of Armour & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, general superintendent of Armour & Co., and Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.

SON'S DISGRACE MAKES MOTHER TRY SUICIDE

Crazed by grief over her son's disgrace Mrs. Mary Reed of Fourth avenue and Railroad street, McKeesport, attempted to drown herself in the Youghiogheny river yesterday afternoon. Her young son had been fined by Mayor Falkenstein for a trifling offense. The woman jumped into the Youghiogheny river and fought with an officer when he attempted to pull her out.

THE WABASH CUTS OFF ITS DETECTIVE FORCE

Secert Service Department Is Said to Have Been "Loose" in Free Transportation.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 5.—C. O. Eames, superintendent of secret service of the Wabash railway; J. B. Nichols, special agent of the system, and 121 operatives in the employ of Eames and Nichols have been given their walking papers by the road's officials for alleged "looseness" in the matter of free transportation.

The order severing this large number of employes from their jobs was issued June 15 by Henry Miller, general manager of the Wabash system, and the men were given to understand that after July 2 their salaries would cease. So carefully was the wholesale discharge of employes guarded by the road officials that, although many of the men already have found other employment, the fact they had been dismissed from the service did not become known until today.

F. A. Delano, first vice president of the company, who in the absence in Europe of President Ramsey, assumes the duties of chief executive of the Wabash road, declined to enumerate the charges to which he referred as "looseness in the conduct of the secret department."

BEATS DEATH IN RACE.

Locomotive Reaches Buena Vista in Time to Save the Life of a Young Child.

A race, with life as the stake, was won by an engine on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad yesterday when Drs. W. J. Gardner and Frederick McCune of McKeesport hurried to Buena Vista and performed an operation that saved the life of an infant child of Charles McCune.

A message was received in McKeesport that unless an operation was performed the child would die. Division Passenger Agent H. H. Sprout at McKeesport ordered an engine to be in readiness and it carried the McKeesport physicians to Buena Vista in record-breaking time.

CHAIRMAN SHONTS PAYS FINE FOR FAST RIDING

STAMFORD, CONN., July 5.—(Special.)—Because his chauffeur drove his car at the speed of 22 seconds for an eighth of a mile, Chairman T. P. Shonts of the Panama canal commission had to pay $26 in the city council today. The chauffeur is Percy N. Smoot, who shouldered the blame. He said he had been cautioned by Mr. Shonts to observe the law and did not know he was going so fast.

STATE MAY TAKE A HAND

Attorney General Considering the Local Tax Assessment Situation.

TALK OF MANDAMUS

Action May Be Taken to Have Judges Appoint Board of County Assessors.

SNYDER IS INTERESTED

The state law department, acting for Auditor General W. P. Snyder, may ask the supreme or Dauphin county courts for a mandamus to compel the nine local common pleas court judges to appoint the board of assessment and revision of taxes in the county. In Harrisburg last evening Mr. Snyder said Attorney General H. T. Carson has the question of taking legal action under consideration and a decision is expected soon.

The proposition to have the state take a hand originated with R. H. Jackson, an Allegheny lawyer. In company with Senator W. S. Woods the author of the act creating the board of assessment and revision of taxes, Mr. Jackson last week went to Harrisburg. Senator Woods introduced him to the auditor general and attorney general. Mr. Carson was told of the situation in Allegheny county relative to the assessment of taxes and is now examining the law to determine whether the state will interfere and if it does to determine how it will proceed. Auditor General Snyder said last night he would probably not get a decision from the law department before next week.

The act creating the county board became operative on March 24. The three commissioners are to be named by the nine common pleas court judges. The judges have not made the appointments and some time ago the commissioners were instructed to proceed under the old system of assessing taxes. The constitutionality of the Woods act has been questioned, but not passed on by the court. The new law repeals all former acts of a conflicting nature. The office of ward, borough or township assessor is abolished.

The proposed board makes all assessments for state and county purposes. The valuation and assessment of state taxes must be made annually before December 31. It is on the question of state taxes that Harrisburg is interested. The revenues from the county are about $900,000 a year. It is the duty of the auditor general to see the tax is assessed and collected. If it is the opinion of the attorney general the local assessors, who have done the work in the past, can not act now, he will doubtless endeavor to have the local court act. There is a report that Controller Cunningham has said he will not pay the local assessors if they make assessments under the old laws. It was impossible to verify this report yesterday. If the state law department acts it will probably go into the supreme or Dauphin county courts and ask for a mandamus on the nine local judges to compel them to put the new law into operation.

ROOT MAY NOT RE-ENTER THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET

Claims His Business Connections Will Prevent Acceptance of Roosevelt's Offer.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—President Roosevelt before he retired Tuesday night on the private train bearing him here, had a confidential talk with Elihu Root, who joined the party at Jersey City.

During this consultation it is understood the president asked Mr. Root to consider the idea of returning to the cabinet in the fall.

Although it is understood Root gave the president no definite answer, there being no out and out offer, it is believed he told him his business connections, made since his retirement from the cabinet, would prevent his re-entering public life.

BALTIMORE IS FLOODED.

Cloudburst Does Great Damage to Property in the City and Vicinity. Live Stock Drowns.

BALTIMORE, July 5.—An immense amount of damage which cannot yet even be estimated owing to interruption of communication by wire with the affected territory was done in Baltimore city and county tonight by heavy rains, culminating in a cloudburst in the vicinity of Timonium, on the Northern Central railway about 10 miles from Baltimore.

The Green Spring, Western Run and Gunpowder valleys sent torrents southward and through Jones Falls, a stream running through the central portion of this city and which at one time constituted the dividing line between east and west, poured a flood of water into the city. Along the streams in the section of the county indicated bridges, houses and barns have been washed away, live stock has been drowned, railroad tracks have been destroyed and telegraph and telephone lines broken. So far as can be learned tonight there has been no loss of human life.

Mine Explosion May Be Fatal to Five.

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., July 5.—By an explosion in the Tidewater coal mine at Vivian, 22 miles west of this city, today, nine miners, Italians, were injured and two of them died later in the hospital while three more are in a precarious condition, with slight chances of recovery.

Centenarian Goes for Pension.

NEW CASTLE, July 5.—(Special)—Amos Martin of this city, 107 years of age, was able this week to walk to Alderman Ranney's office to have his pension voucher certified. He was a member of Company A, One Hundredth Pennsylvania Roundhead regiment, in the civil war.

MUTINEERS GET DEMANDS

Secure Provisions Under Threat to Bombard Crimean Port.

DECLARE REBELLION

Crew of the Kniaz Potemkine Formally Proclaims Revolution Against Russia.

PRESS SCORES GOVERNMENT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

THEODOSIA, CRIMEA, July 6.—Summoned by the Kniaz Potemkine, representatives of the town council went on board the battleship and were received in the admiral's cabin by the commission commanding her. The commission demanded the delivery of 500 tons of coal and provisions of various kinds within 24 hours and threatened that in the event of noncompliance, after due warning to the inhabitants, the town would be bombarded. The commission also proposed that the mayor should transmit to the population a proclamation demanding the termination of the war, a convocation of zemstvos, etc.

Learning of these demands, many inhabitants fled the town. The workmen insisted that the demands be granted. A special meeting of the municipal council was called and the council consented to deliver the provisions, but refused to comply with the demand for coal for the reason that the town had none.

Revolution is Proclaimed.

The mutineers of the Kniaz Potemkine today formally raised the standard of rebellion and issued the following declaration:

"The crew of the Kniaz Potemkine notify the foreign powers that the decisive struggle has begun against the Russian government. We consider it to be our duty to declare that we guarantee the complete inviolability of foreign ships navigating the Black sea as well as the inviolability of foreign ports."

SOFIA, BULGARIA, July 5.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Strennitelny anchored off Varna, opposite Prince Ferdinand's palace, yesterday evening. The commander requested supplies which were immediately granted and the destroyer sailed.

SEVASTOPOL, July 5.—The Black sea squadron under Admiral Kruger returned here today from its second voyage to Odessa. The squadron included the battleship Georgi Pobiedonosetz.

Mutineers to Be Shot.

ODESSA, July 5.—Sixty-seven of the mutineers from the Georgi Pobiedonosetz, including the ringleaders, were imprisoned today. It is expected that all of them will be shot.

It is reported that the battleship Kniaz Potemkine appeared today off Akkerman, 27 miles southwest of Odessa. On July 4 a torpedo boat entered the harbor of Akkerman and demanded coal and provisions. The authorities refused to furnish them, whereupon the torpedo boat fired two shots. The torpedo boat afterward obtained all the supplies she required.

The city continues under martial law. Some of the regulations have been slightly relaxed. It is now possible to go to any part of the city or harbor without a military pass.

Shrewd Move by Mutineers.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 6.—The admiralty has received news that the Kniaz Potemkine, after shipping coal, provisions and medicines, is again at large in the Black sea, and that her destination is unknown. Whether the report of the sailing of the battleship be true or not, the crew took a remarkable step yesterday, when, with all the solemnity of a provisional government, it issued a manifesto, addressed to the powers, announcing that civil war had been begun against the existing regime in Russia and pledging the inviolability of foreign shipping and foreign ports.

This action doubtless was taken to quiet the apprehension of foreign powers and to leave no excuse for the sending of warships through the Dardanelles to effect the capture of the battleship, which Russia's Black sea fleet has not dared to attempt. It is considered a shrewd move on the part of the mutineers and stamps the commander of the crew as a leader far above the class of the ordinary sailor and strengthens the opinion that he is not a member of the original crew, but one of the revolutionaries who went on board at Odessa.

Well Supplied With Money.

The issuance of the manifesto lends a certain dignity to the mutiny and proves that the crew and their commander have no desire that the world should believe them to be mere outlaws, but that they should be looked upon as men seriously raising the standard of revolution. According to a rumor printed in an afternoon paper, the ship's strong box contained $25,000 and the mutineers would therefore be well equipped with money.

Dispatches from Tiflis received last night say that reports of the rioting at Odessa and the action of the Kniaz Potemkine have aroused the most intense interest and the wildest joy among the revolutionists. The receipt of the reports was followed immediately by a complete strike, even the lamplighters quitting work. The city is in darkness and the inhabitants generally are fleeing to the northward.

The Emperor Nicholas II., the crew of which is reported to have mutinied at Constantinople, is a Russian merchantman. Considerable anxiety is felt because the cruiser Chernomoretz, which was due at Sebastopol Monday, has not yet arrived.

Will Not Sink Ship.

The torpedo boat destroyer Smetlivy, which went in pursuit of the Kniaz Potemkine evidently failed to overtake her, as she has not been reported. All idea of trying to sink the Kniaz Potemkine has now been abandoned by the admiralty as a report from the authorities of Theodosia shows there are dissensions among the mutineers, a portion of the crew favoring surrendering. Fighting is believed to have occurred on board the battleship during the voyage. This is supported by the demand for a doctor.

Leaving aside the machinations of the revolutionists the press with one voice declares that the mutinies on board the Black sea fleet were the result of the rotten system in vogue in the Russian navy, the blue jacket being utterly neglected and the officers living ashore, except during the brief cruises. Capt. Clado, in a long review, affirms that the question of food was a mere pretext, the real cause being deeper, in the complete lack of sympathy between the men and their officers, most of whom, he says, are disgustingly incompetent. Owing their positions to influence at St. Petersburg, they care nothing for good service or the well-being and contentment of the men. Other writers, some of whom evidently are high in the service, but who write under assumed names, in a most savage fashion declare that the bureaucratic regime in the navy is only reaping what it has sown and plainly intimate that similar conditions exist in the army.

Denounces Stupidity of Government.

"Fear," says the Slovo, "is the sole basis of discipline in the army and navy, and it will prove as poor an instrument for keeping the rank and file loyal to the throne as it has the suppression of discontent among the people. The government should learn the lesson that the soldiers and sailors are beginning to awaken, as the people have already awakened."

Rear Admiral Kruger's ignoble flight in the face of the mutineers is the subject of sardonic pleasure in some quarters. The Nasha Shisn roundly denounces the stupidity of the government for attempting to deceive the people with assurances that all is quiet and in the end being obliged to admit the whole disgraceful story.

Cossacks fired on the Putiloff works strikers this morning. The trouble was started by the arrest of a youth who was entering the works. The policeman who took him into custody suspected the young man of having dynamite in his possession. The latter on being made a prisoner drew a revolver and killed the policeman and was himself wounded by a bullet fired by another policeman. The strikers quickly congregated on the Peterhof road and Cossacks were ordered to disperse them. The soldiers charged, using their whips and then fired a volley, causing several casualties among the strikers. The excitement in the district is intense.

Spirit of Revolution.

Revolutionary proclamations were scattered broadcast among the crowd and many arrests were made. The managers of the works threaten to close them indefinitely if the men do not resume work tomorrow.

The committee of ministers today submitted to the emperor a report advocating revision of the scholastic regulations in the Baltic provinces by the minister of the interior with the co-operation of representatives of the people. The report recommends that instruction in the German language be given in the schools of Livonia and that religious instruction in the mother tongue be given throughout the provinces.

MOSCOW, July 5.—The government has forbidden the holding of the big congress of zemstvoists and other representatives from all parts of Russia called for July 13.

Gen. Kozloff, the governor general, has ordered the great hall of the Ilinsky palace in the Kremlin to be redecorated and put in order, and a report is current that the emperor intends to come to Moscow for the purpose of delivering a manifesto summoning the representatives of the people.

Powers Will Not Interfere.

LONDON, July 6.—It is understood that the movements of the Kniaz Potemkine are engaging the serious attention of the powers, who are exchanging views on the possible necessity of taking joint measures to protect neutral commerce in the Black sea. According to the Associated Press dispatch from Vienna, however, nothing will be done even in the shape of joint representations to the Russian government except in the last extremity, it being desired to avoid wounding Russia's susceptibilities.

Special dispatches from Constantinople give an unconfirmed report that the Kniaz Potemkine engaged two British officers at Kustenji. According to a dispatch to the Standard from Kustenji, the Knaiz Potemkine is managed by an executive committee numbering 50 and there is no sign of any officer on the ship.

The Odessa correspondent of the Standard asserts that the Black sea squadron, including the Georgi Pobiedonosetz, has now been sent in search of the Kniaz Potemkine.

DIVORCE SUIT AGAINST OLDFIELD WITHDRAWN

The Famous Automobilist Settles With His Wife on a Basis of $3,000 Alimony.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—Suits for divorce were entered this week by the wife of Barney Oldfield, automobilist, in both Cleveland and Columubs. Both suits have been withdrawn as the result of a compromise between Mr. and Mrs. Oldfield. It is said that Mr. Oldfield agreed to give his wife $3,000 alimony upon the understanding that they were to separate.

In the Cleveland suit Mrs. Oldfield charged that her husband had an income of $10,000 a year, but that she was obliged to sell furniture for food and clothing. Mrs. Oldfield also charged that there was another woman in the case. The Columbus petition alleged infidelity, the wife basing her accusation on alleged action of Mr. Oldfield at a Columbus hotel.

IT IS HER HUSBAND SHE SEES PICKED UP

JOHNSTOWN, July 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. A. C. Congleton of Sheridan station yesterday morning while standing in her yard saw workmen pick up a man who had been hit by a train. She watched the men flag an eastbound freight, load on the unconscious form and consign it to the hospital. Later she was notified the man she had seen picked up, and who is probably fatally injured, was her husband, A. C. Congleton.

R. D. M'GONNIGLE DIES IN A HOTEL

Overdose of Trianol, Used to Quiet His Nerves, Causes Heart Failure.

CAREER OF WELL-KNOWN MAN

Robert D. McGonnigle, one of Pittsburgh's most public-spirited and best known citizens, whose friends were counted by hundreds, was found dead in his room at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday.

The report of the coroner stated death was due to heart failure, caused by the use of a drug intended to quiet his nerves.

Mr. McGonnigle, after a start in business life of the most auspicious kind, had met with reverses so serious as to make him lose the cheery disposition which was one of his greatest assets. His financial troubles worried him until his nerve was shaken. For several days he had been seen by his friends to be particularly despondent. On Tuesday night he went to the Lincoln from the Duquesne club, after having spent the greater part of the Fourth at the club. He took a room for the night.

Yesterday morning Emma M. Rohencamp, one of the hotel attendants, went to the room for the purpose of cleaning it, but discovered that it was occupied. She left, but returned later and found that the inmate was lying in the same position. The girl thought he was ill and sent for the assistant manager, C. J. Ullery.

Had Used Trianol in Excess.

A short investigation showed Mr. Ullery that Mr. McGonnigle was dead. Deputy Coroner George J. Schad, who at once made an investigation, found that trianol, a nerve sedative, had been used in such quantities as to stop heart action. The body was removed last evening to the home of a nephew, E. B. Webb, 5539 Black street, with whom he had made his home for some time past.

The word of Mr. McGonnigle's death spread rapidly. It caused a shock of deep regret among the business men of the entire community, many of whom had known him from boyhood.

Mr. McGonnigle was born in the Third ward of Allegheny in 1852. He received his education in the public schools and entered business life. He was made secretary of the old Allegheny poor board. Later he was employed by the Allegheny County Light Company as secretary and was also for a time private secretary to George Westinghouse, then the principal owner of the company. He was still later made treasurer of the light concern.

Active in Mining Companies.

With the sale of the company to the Philadelphia Company Mr. McGonnigle retired, possessed of a considerable fortune. He became interested in several enterprises, particularly western mining concerns, to which he devoted his attention in the succeeding years. He removed to Pittsburgh about 10 years ago. For one reason or another his ventures proved unprofitable. In December of last year he secured the position of vice president and manager of the Pittsburgh Light and Manufacturing Company. This position he held up to his death.

Although active in business, Mr. McGonnigle found time for enjoying life in the two ways he found most congenial. One was in charitable work and one was in hunting and general "roughin it" in the west.

Nearly all of his friends possess a copy of an attractively written book which he prepared describing his experiences in the west. He was the guest of the Eaton boys at the ranch at Maduro, S. D., near where President Roosevelt had roughed it only a few years before. He called his book "When I Went West." It was printed only for private distribution.

Active in Charity Work.

In his works of charity he was widely known. He came to be considered a local authority on such work. He was at one time president of the Kingsley House association, which conducts a social settlement in the Hill district. He was also prominent in the state charities and was for years secretary of the state association of poor directors. In his days of prosperity he was known as a man who was always ready to help a worthy cause.

When the old Schenley Riding club was organized by A. M. Jenkinson and others, Mr. McGonnigle was its first president. His Kentucky bred saddle horse "Ginger" became famous and was exhibited in a number of horse shows. The riding club developed into the Pittsburgh Hunt club of which he also was made president. He was active otherwise socially and in club life in this city.

Mr. McGonnigle's wife died in 1897. He is survived by his nephew, E. B. Webb.

Mr. McGonnigle was the son of Mathias McGonnigle, said to be the first white child born inside the "Commons," now the Allegheny parks. His father was born in 1818 in a log cabin where Ohio street and Union avenue now intersect. He was Allegheny's first librarian, having been so appointed by Col. James Anderson, who threw his private library open to the people 60 years ago.

GLASGOW IDEA ADOPTED BY HOLLIDAYSBURG

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—The Glasgow idea of making public utilities contribute to the public benefit has been adopted by the Hollidaysburg councils. At a council session a right of way franchise in the borough was granted to the Southern Traction Company of Pittsburgh, provided the corporation paves the streets its line traverses and after a term of years pays 3 per cent of its gross receipts into the borough treasury.

CAN FORECAST WEATHER FOUR DAYS IN ADVANCE

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 5.—(Special.)—Prof. David H. Snavely, who has for the last 20 years made a deep study of weather forecasts, has invented a system, which will probably be adopted by the government, by which he claims it is possible to forecast the weather three or four days in advance with absolute certainty.

TWO INSTRUCTORS FOR "TECH"

PROF. SAMUEL SMITH KELLER.

WILLIAM E. GIBBS.
Recently Appointed Professor of Physics at the "Tech."

SAMUEL SMITH KELLER JOINS "TECH" FACULTY

Well-Known Wittenberg Teacher Made Associate Professor of Mathematics.

Another addition was announced yesterday for the faculty of Carnegie Technical schools. Prof. Samuel Smith Keller, for a number of years connected with Wittenberg college, and for a year at Yale, has been made associate professor in mathematics. His appointment dates from September 1.

Prof. Keller was born in Springfield, O., and was educated in the public schools, Fayette academy, Fayette county, O., Springfield High school, Wittenberg college, Hahnemann Medical college, Philadelphia, and post-graduate course of Yale university.

Prof. Keller was professor of mathematics and astronomy in Wittenberg college in Springfield, O., since 1889, with the exception of 1905-1906, when he was instructor in mathematics in Yale university, from 1897 to the present time professor of mathematics at Wittenberg.

Prof. Keller has taken up his residence in Pittsburgh and will assist in the preparation of a curriculum and in the development of the equipment in his department. He comes to the Carnegie Technical schools after many years of preparation and with a reputation as a teacher which is expected to make this subject most attractive and interesting to the student body.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD IN WASHINGTON

Foreign Governments Well Represented. Church Edifice Crowded to the Doors.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Simple memorial services for the late Secretary Hay were held at the Church of the Covenant in this city at 11 o'clock this morning. It was coincident with the funeral services held at Cleveland and was attended by an official company representing the diplomatic corps, the army, the navy and the general public.

The church, which was draped in black, as was the pew which was occupied for many years by Mr. Hay, was crowded to the doors. An American flag, half unfurled, the staff surmounted by a gold eagle, stood on the communion table.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Tunis S. Hamlin, pastor of the church, who paid eloquent tribute to the fame and achievements of the late secretary. Two hymns, which were favorites of Mr. Hay's, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest" and "Lead, Kindly Light," were sung.

The diplomatic corps was represented by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador and dean of the corps, who was accompanied by the Italian ambassador, Baron Mayor des Planches. Dr. Nabuco, the ambassador from Brazil, was the only other ambassador present. The ministers, respectively, of Peru, Chile, Costa Rica, China, Persia, the Argentine Republic and Turkey, with secretaries of the legations, represented their governments. Venezuela, Panama, Korea, Belgium, Spain, Cuba and Nicaragua were represented by charge d'affaires.

The state department was represented by Acting Secretary Herbert H. D. Pierce, who had charge of the services. Other government departments were represented by Acting Secretary of War Oliver, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Darling, Solicitor General Hoyt, of the department of justice, and Fourth Assistant De Graw, of the postoffice department. The supreme court of the United States was represented by Justice McKenna. Mrs. Cortelyou, Mrs. Hitchcock, Miss Margaret Hitchcock and Mrs. Chaffee, wife of the lieutenant general of the army, were present. Lieut. Gen. Chaffee was unable to attend because of absence from the city.

ENGLAND PAYS TRIBUTE.

St. Paul's Cathedral Taxed to Its Fullest Extent—Dead Secretary's Daughter Present.

LONDON, July 5.—England today paid to the memory of Secretary Hay a tribute seldom accorded to a foreigner when solemn memorial services were held in St. Paul's cathedral. The immense edifice was crowded, the seating capacity being taxed to the fullest extent.

Among the visiting Americans present were J. Pierpont Morgan, Rear Admiral Watson and a hundred others. Mr and Mrs. Payne Whitney (Helen Hay), in deep mourning, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Paget entered the cathedral just before the services commenced with the playing of Chopin's funeral march, which was followed by the processional, "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er," and the impressive funeral service of the Church of England.

SERVICES HELD IN ROME.

Many Distinguished Americans Participate in Honoring Mr. Hay's Memory.

ROME, July 5.—A memorial service for the late Secretary Hay was held in St. Paul's (American) church today at the same hour at which the actual funeral was taking place in the United States. The officials of the embassy, headed by Ambassador White, who was secretary of the American embassy in London when Mr. Hay was ambassador to Great Britain, and Consul General De Castro and many other Americans were present.

The military order of the Loyal Legion of which Mr. Hay was a member was represented by Dr. Nevin, rector of the church, who conducted the services, wearing the insignia of the order.

HAY IS LAID TO REST

Washington; Secretary to the President Loeb, Supreme Justice Day and Col. Webb C. Hayes.

The party remained grouped about the casket for nearly 40 minutes. During that time a band of crepe was placed around the left arm of each man by Secretary Havens of the chamber of commerce.

The Cortege Leaves Chamber.

At just 10 o'clock, the funeral left the chamber of commerce. The casket, carried by six non-commissioned officers of the cavalry troop, was borne to the hearse between two lines formed by the present and former cabinets, who acted as honorary pall-bearers. The president, vice president and Gov. Herrick entered the first carriage and the honorary pallbearers and members of the local committee occupied the remainder of them. There were 24 carriages in the column. Headed by the cavalry moving at a quick trot, it passed along Park place and turned east in Euclid avenue.

None of the members of the Hay family was at the chamber of commerce, and in company with a few friends, they awaited the arrival of the funeral cortege at Wade chapel, inside the cemetery grounds.

Exactly on the minute of 11 o'clock, Capt. Schofield of Troop A brought his men to a halt opposite the chapel door. Mrs. Hay, Clarence Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mather and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., son-in-law and daughter of Secretary and Mrs. Hay, with a few of their friends, were already in the chapel. The casket, covered with the national colors and the beautiful wreaths sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt and by the members of the diplomatic corps, was carried in, the president, vice president and honorary pallbearers following. The chapel is not large and there were not seats for all, fully 20 men being grouped around the doorway.

Services Were Simple.

The services were opened by the Ionic quartet of male voices, which sang "Still, Still With Thee." The Rev. Dr. Haydn, pastor emeritus of the Old Stone church, then delivered a brief prayer, after which the Rev. A. B. Meldrum, active pastor, read extracts from the scriptures. The pall-bearers at the conclusion of the scriptural reading carried the casket through the door to the hearse, while the quartet softly sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

The funeral, leaving the chapel, passed along the beautiful and winding driveways of the cemetery until the Hay burial lot, one-fourth of a mile distant, was reached. The six non-commissioned officers of Troop A here surrendered their places to four assistants of the undertaker, who carried the casket over the 100 feet of green turf that extended between the driveway and the grave. Mrs. Hay, Clarence Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mather stood at the head of the grave. President Roosevelt, with Vice President Fairbanks at his side, was a few feet to the left of Clarence Hay.

Hand-Clasp of Sympathy.

The quartet sang two stanzas of the hymn "For All the Saints Who from Their Labors Rest," and then while the casket was lowered, Dr. Haydn recited the committal service of the Presbyterian church. When he had concluded, the quartet sang the final stanza of the hymn, and the benediction by Dr. Meldrum brought the services to a close.

There was a brief pause after Dr. Meldrum's voice had ceased, and the first move to leave the place was made by Mrs. Hay. She turned away from the grave, and as she passed President Roosevelt reached out her hand to him. He took it in both of his own, bowing deeply as he did so.

Mrs. Hay, with the members of her family, returned to the residence of Samuel Mather, while the president and his party, the carriage of the executive surrounded by the hard-worked members of the cavalry troop, went at a rapid pace directly to his train, which he reached at about 1 o'clock. After a short wait in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad, the train started on the return journey, the entire party returning with the president except Secretary Metcalf, who will remain in the west for a short time.

A memorial service was held in the chamber of commerce this afternoon, at which Gov. Herrick and a number of others spoke.

MR. HAY'S DISOBEDIENCE IS CAUSE OF HIS DEATH

He Did Not Obey Strict Orders of His Doctors to Take Absolute Rest, Says Surgeon General Rixey.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—Surgeon General Rixey, who came to Cleveland on the president's train, believes Secretary Hay's death was directly caused by his trip to Washington.

"The secretary should not have attempted a visit to Washington before fall," said Dr. Rixey. "He received the strictest orders from his physician in Germany to take a complete rest after he got home. Instead of doing so, he went to his office at the state department, worried over the business of that great branch of the government, and met and talked with numbers of bureau officials and diplomats. The result was bound to be disastrous. Had I been in town I would have put a stop to that program at once, but unfortunately I was away from Washington and did not know how he was over-exerting himself.

"Mr. Hay's death is the fourth among distinguished men, the direct result of over-strain in public harness. Vice President Hobart, Senator Hanna and Postmaster General Payne were the others I recall at this moment. They took too little exercise, got too little sunshine and fresh air and the inevitable result was death."

ONLY SPEECH ON FUNERAL TRIP

President Roosevelt Makes Few Remarks to Crowd at Union Station.

YOUNG BRIDE DISAPPOINTED

The only speech that President Roosevelt made going and returning from the funeral of Secretary John Hay at Cleveland was delivered in Pittsburgh last night at the Union station, when the president's special, on the return trip, stopped for ten minutes to change engines and crews.

The special carrying the president of the United States, the members of the cabinet, except Secretaries Taft and Metcalf, Former Secretary of War Elihu Root and former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, arrived at the Union station exactly on schedule time at 8:50 o'clock, and left at 9 o'clock over the Pennsylvania, taking the president back to his summer home at Oyster Bay.

Not over 150 persons, consisting of the trainmen, policemen, detectives, newspaper men and passengers waiting for outbound trains, were admitted to the platform and grouped themselves around the rear of the special as it wound in over the Fort Wayne road from Cleveland. The train stopped within 100 yards of the gates, against which pressed a couple hundred people. Forty policemen under command of Capt. Thomas McCabe, and the entire local detective and secret service force were strung along the platforms on both sides of the special, and the crowd, which had been carefully inspected by the police officials, closed around the rear of the train.

Guarded by Secret Service Men.

President Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou and other members of the cabinet were inside the last car within close observation of the crowd. They were standing around a table on which waiters were placing fruit and other refreshments.

As soon as the train came to a standstill the president advanced to the doorway and waved his hand. There were a few gestures from the crowd in response and the president backed into the doorway again and renewed the conversation with members of his cabinet. Two minutes later as a fresh engine was being attached to the train, backing up the train and pressing the crowd back, President Roosevelt made his second appearance on the rear platform. He was flanked on either side by James Sloan, Jr., and Frank Tyree, secret service men, who have been accompanying the president on most of his excursions. The president leaned over the railing and spoke as follows:

"My friends, I will not make a speech to you. I am just returning from the funeral of Secretary John Hay, a man who was the friend of all of you and for whom I had the deepest affection. I am always glad to be in Pittsburgh and I wish you well. Good night."

This was followed by repeated bows and waving of the hand as the president retreated into the car. The crowd applauded and a few cheered. It still hung around the car, waiting for the president to come out again.

Pretty Bride Disappointed.

Close to the steps of the car stood a pretty young bride, Mrs. Charles Franklin of Ambridge, Pa., and her husband.

"Tell him to come out. I am the only lady here," said she to Secret Service Agent Sloan, who guarded the rear platform.

"I will shake hands with you. That's the best I can do," said Sloan. She accepted the offer but was not satisfied.

"Tell him you have 14 children and he will come out and shake hands with you," suggested a brakeman.

"Yes, tell him anything," pleaded the young woman, but she was doomed to disappointment. The president shook hands with no one and did not reappear at the door until the train began pulling out of the shed. Again and again he waved his hand to the farewell greeting of the crowd. He showed particular recognition to the railroad employes along the platform, waving to each one as the train sped out.

Neither Mr. Root nor any of the members of the cabinet appeared before the crowd during the short stop in Pittsburgh. Members of the party on the train stated that Mr. Root, who is reported to have been offered the portfolio of state, remained in seclusion all day and his retirement had created the impression that he was giving the matter earnest consideration preparatory to making the president a final answer before separating from him on the trip.

Destinations of the Officials.

Mr. Root and the former secretary of the navy, Paul Morton, were bound for New York. The president, it was arranged, was to return to Oyster Bay by the Long Island railroad and boat from Jersey City. The cabinet officials were to return to Washington from Philadelphia. Senator P. C. Knox, one of the pallbearers at the funeral, got on and off the presidential special at Sewickley.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf did not return with the presidential party from Cleveland. From Cleveland he had arranged to go to Montreal to join his wife for a vacation trip through the northeast. Secretary Taft was in San Francisco ready to start for the Philippines.

After the funeral the president's train left Cleveland at 1:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was run onto Wheelock's switch, about 10 miles below Cleveland where luncheon was served on the train. The special left Wheelock's switch at 3:40 o'clock and made the run to Pittsburgh, with only a short stop at Alliance, O., where a change was made in the engines. The train was composed of the compartment car John Endicott, the dining car Oberlin, the buffet and library car Shetland, the private car Magnet, occupied by the president, and a composite baggage car.

The train came into Pittsburgh as the third section of train No. 6, the second section of the train being a "pilot" engine which was run ahead of the president's train for protection.

READY TO MEET DEFICIT PROBLEM

Speaker Cannon Is Expected to Support Resumption of Stamp Taxes.

OBJECTED TO ACT'S REPEAL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 18, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, July 5.

When congress meets next winter Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives will be ready to discuss the problem of keeping the government expenditures within the receipts. The speaker has just returned to Danville, Ill., his home, from a trip to Alaska with a congressional party and it was learned today that the deficit in the treasury for the year just ended and the prospect of another at the end of the current year was discussed by the members of the delegation.

It may be significant at this time when other public men and officials of the administration are considering the solution of this important question, to state that the speaker expressed some views of the revenue policy of the government very clearly during the last session of congress. Mr. Cannon, like Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, was not very enthusiastic over the repeal of the revenue act, which was passed during the war with Spain. The speaker believed that certain stamp taxes such as those upon bank checks and various other kinds of commercial paper should have been continued. He was not very much in favor, either, of repealing the stamp tax on patent medicines. Furthermore he did not see any imperative reason for wiping out what remained of the war tax on beer.

Prominent members of congress are now advocating the restoration of some of the stamp taxes. Inasmuch as Speaker Cannon did not urge the abolition of these taxes, some of these men are inclined to the opinion that he will regard their plan with favor, especially if no better method of producing more revenue for the government is suggested.

CAMPERS EAT TOADSTOOLS, NOW ONE IS A MANIAC

WARREN, O., July 5.—(Special.)—George Parker is today a maniac and William Jones is in a critical condition from eating what they supposed were mushrooms. The young men, who live in Niles, with Harry Hoffman, a companion, were camping along the Mahoning river. All ate the supposed mushrooms, but Hoffman was able to get to this city to summon medical help for his companions.

President Moffat's Son Shot.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—James D. Moffat, Jr., a Washington and Jefferson college student, son of President James D. Moffat, was shot in the right arm last night by a negro who had been angered by an injury inflicted upon him by another person. An effort is being made to find the man who did the shooting and place him under arrest.

Three men were seriously injured by the collapse of a floor in the Monongahela furnaces at McKeesport yesterday. The men were working underneath a floor which collapsed by the weight of cement. The injured men are all foreigners living in Jerome street, McKeesport.

THIEVES LOOT CITY HALL UNDER NOSE OF THE POLICE

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(Special.)—Thieves, who went the limit in daring, raided the city hall today during the busiest hours and committed five robberies.

Under the very nose of the police and with city hall guards all around them, the robbers ripped out the coin boxes of five pay station telephones in five different places and made away with them and their contents. The whole occurrence was absolutely stunning in its daring.

This robbery was committed within 50 yards of the detective bureau, the telephones being on the same floor and visible from the headquarters of the city sleuths. At the time it occurred no less than 200 men, applicants for the police force positions, were standing in line a short distance away.

FRICK WILL NOT PAY BENEFITS

Waives Damages if City Does Not Assess Property for Hump Cut.

COMMITTEE'S TOUR FRIDAY

H. C. Frick refuses to exempt the city from the payment of damages for the hump cut if any proceeding in instituted to assess benefits against Mr. Frick's property for the improvement. Mr. Frick stipulates that his waiver of damages shall become null and void if the city undertakes to make the property owners pay any part of the expense of cutting down the hump. The waiver was filed yesterday with Director Bigelow.

The agreement which Mr. Frick signed on Monday provides that the waiver is also null and void if the improvement is not started on or before January 1, 1906, and wholly completed on or before July 1, 1907, a period of 18 months. Mr. Frick does not exempt the city from the payment of damages resulting from possible negligence of the city, its employes or contractors. The waiver is based upon a 5-foot cut at the Grant street entrance to the Frick building, which Director Bigelow says means a 15-foot cut at Fifth and Wylie avenues. The contents of the waiver are as follows:

Frick's Waiver Is Received.

Whereas, The city of Pittsburgh is contemplating the grading or cutting down of Fifth avenue between Smithfield street and Tunnel street, and of the various streets, lanes and alleys connecting therewith and intersecting with each other, said improvement being popularly known as "removing the hump," and,

Whereas, The undersigned, H. C. Frick, is the owner of certain lands situate upon said avenue or said streets, lanes or alleys, and desires said improvement to be made, now, therefore, I, H. C. Frick, in consideration of the city of Pittsburgh making the improvement aforesaid and doing the said grading upon the said avenue, streets, lanes and alleys, as well as furnishing to said city an inducement to commence and finish the improvement as aforesaid, do for myself, my heirs, administrators, executors and assigns release and forever discharge the said city of Pittsburgh from all damages, debts, claims, demands and rights of action at law or otherwise, which I, or my heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, hereafter shall or may have by reason of any matter, cause or thing whatsoever arising out of said improvement; provided that this agreement shall not in any way affect or modify the liability of said city or its agents, employes or contractors for damages resulting from negligence in the performance of all or any part of said work.

This agreement shall become null and void if any assessment of benefits is made in any proceeding, before viewers or otherwise, upon the undersigned or any part of his property by reason of said improvement.

This agreement shall become null and void if the cut in Grant street, at the entrance of the Frick building, midway between Fifth avenue and Diamond street, shall be greater than five feet, or if the grade falling from said midway point to Fifth avenue and Diamond street, respectively, shall in either case be greater than one foot to each 100 feet.

This agreement shall become null and void if the said improvement shall not be begun on or before January 1, 1906, and wholly completed on or before July 1, 1907.

Witness my hand and seal this 3d day of July, 1905. H. C. FRICK.

Witness: F. W. McElroy.

Views Hump District Tomorrow.

The finance committee of councils will meet at the city hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and proceed to make a personal inspection of the hump district. The city engineers will have marked on the buildings at the principal corners the depth of the cuts at those points to inform the committee of the effect of the proposed plan for a 15-foot cut. It is generally conceded that the 15-foot cut will be adopted by the finance committee, otherwise Director Bigelow would not have asked for a waiver from Mr. Frick for a 15-foot cut.

"I believe that it will take about three years to cut the hump," said Mayor Hays yesterday. "I have always thought that it would cost a good deal more than $2,000,000. The cost will depend largely upon the waivers of damages received from the property owners."

"I don't think we will have any trouble in putting the hump ordinance through councils," said Director Bigelow. "If we get it through next week we can have the election during the week of August 15. We have to give 30 days' notice to the public and cannot hold a special election within 60 days of a general election."

Director Bigelow was asked about the report that he was going to make another effort to purchase the Monongahela Water Company's plant on the South Side.

"The contract of the city with the water company will not expire until December, 1906, and I don't see how we can obtain the plant until that time, when condemnation proceedings will have to be instituted," said the director. "The investigation I recently made convinced me that the city could buy direct at a fair price about only 60 per cent of the stock of the company. This would involve the formation of a new company with the city as a stockholder and City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers advised against that."

WATER SPOILS LIQUOR.

Carnegie Borough Has a Heavy Bill for Damages from Hotel.

Carnegie will be forced to pay more than $8,000 to the proprietor of the Hotel Schaffer, which was flooded for two hours last night owing to the inability of the firemen to shut a fire plug.

The office of the Valley Signal, a weekly newspaper, was damaged by fire at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, and for two hours after the fire was extinguished the firemen and fire chief tried in vain to shut off the water, which spouted across the street into the hotel basement. They were compelled to telephone the Knoxville office of the Chartiers Valley Water Company for a man to turn off the water. Wines and liquors were damaged beyond use in the hotel.

CHURCHES AT ROCK POINT.

Episcopal Day Today and Methodist Day Tomorrow—Joseph Horne Employes Go Saturday.

Today will be Episcopal day at New Rock Point park. Headed by the members, Sunday school students and friends of St. Peter's church, Craft avenue, a large number of Episcopalians from all over the two cities will go on the excursion. There will be special trains to accommodate the crowd.

Tomorrow two Pittsburgh and one Allegheny Methodist Episcopal churches will have the park. These are the Lincoln Avenue and Friendship churches of Pittsburgh and the Union church of Allegheny.

The week will be ended at the park by the annual excursion of employes of the Joseph Horne company. Three special trains at least will be required to handle this party.

FINEST OF BANDS WILL PLAY AT EXPOSITION

Damrosch, Sousa, Herbert and Creatore, Famous Musicians Secured for Point Show.

Pittsburgh's music lovers always await with interest the announcement of the musical attractions for the exposition, and although the opening day, August 30, is nearly two months off, Manager Thomas J. Fitzpatrick has already completed contracts with a half dozen of the leading bandmasters of the country for the coming season. The honor of opening the seventeenth season will be given to Walter Damrosch and his orchestra of 50 pieces. He will remain at the exposition for ten days, closing his engagement September 9. Damrosch will have one of the strongest musical organizations in the world this year. He has imported four stars from France.

Following Damrosch will come Sousa, Victor Herbert, Creatore, Sorrentino and possibly 50 players from the Boston Symphony orchestra. The latter has not appeared here for a number of years.

Following the custom of the past 16 years the Exposition will open on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The opening date, August 30, has been selected, so that hundreds who visit Pittsburgh over Labor day will be given a chance to hear Damrosch. It will remain open until the night of October 21, giving eight weeks in which to hear the half dozen leading bandmasters and take in the Point show.

On Monday a force of workmen started general improvements in the main building and machinery hall. Applications for show space have been coming in and Manager Fitzpatrick says that the bookings are nearly a month ahead of last year. There will be many new exhibits and amusements. The H. J. Heinz Company for a number of years has occupied the space in the foyer, but next season will witness an exhibit which Pittsburgh will pride itself on. King Edward VII. of England has authorized the placing of a Canadian exhibit there.

The Canadian government has reserved 3,200 square feet of space at the entrance to the main building for an exhibit which was seen at the St. Louis World's fair. Agricultural and mineral products from every part of Canada will be on view. The Canadian government has set aside an appropriation for the exhibit and arrangements have just been completed for the choicest space possible.

Another new exhibit will be the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's World's fair exhibit. Over 3,000 square feet of floor space has been reserved in the machinery hall for the railroad. The chamber of commerce of Pittsburgh will also have more than a passing interest in the exposition this year. The relief map, showing Pittsburgh, Ft. Duquesne and the ship canal which was exhibited at the St. Louis fair last year, and which cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, will be seen in the main building.

Many manufacturing exhibits will be added to the list of attractions this season. Several of the largest concerns in Western Pennsylvania are negotiating for space. In speaking of the coming season, Mr. Fitzpatrick said last evening.

"The seventeenth season of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society is going to climax all others, if possible. Last season we had nearly a half million paid admissions. This season we hope to do better than this. We have tried to get the best musical attractions possible. I think we have succeeded. I am gratified at the manner in which the space for exhibits has been engaged. When exhibitors begin to engage space months ahead you can readily perceive the interest that is being taken in the exposition."

ALLEGHENY POSSE RUNS DOWN BRUTAL ITALIANS

Little Esther Calaba Is Rendered Unconscious by Blow on Head Inflicted by Enraged Man.

The Allegheny police are holding August Rini, James Fena and Joseph Filashiki, Italians, of Cleveland and August Pase of Sandusky street, Allegheny, to await the result of injuries inflicted by one of the men on Esther Calaba, aged 8, of 886 Saw Mill alley. The little girl was struck on the head by a wooden block thrown, it is said, by Rini. The child was unconscious for more than an hour and it was feared her hurts were fatal. Late yesterday afternoon she was said to be out of danger.

According to the story told by the Italians, they were walking up Saw Mill alley when a crowd of children ran after them, throwing missiles. Rini says he caught in his hand one of the blocks of wood thrown and that he returned it in the direction of the children.

When the Italians saw what they had done all started to run. Neighbors followed, and on Chestnut street a gang of men and boys took up the pursuit. The men ran down the West Penn tracks, with the crowd following. They raced through the East park, where Policemen Shultz and Heckmen joined in the chase. Sergeant Harry Fowler at No. 1 patrol station saw the crowd coming and ran out into South Diamond street. The Italians stopped and were at once placed under arrest. In the patrol wagon they were hurried to Central station, for the crowd showed an inclination to go into the patrol station and do the Italians bodily injury.

"Johnny Comes Marching Home" Again.

Next week, commencing Monday, July 10, the Carleton opera company will inaugurate its farewell production at the Nixon. Numerous requests have been made at the box office for a revival of the military comic opera, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," so this work will be presented in the form of a new edition, with a new finale to the first act, and other interesting and attractive interpolations. The cast will be identical with the first production of the opera here, except that Mr. Fred Sullivan, who made such a marked impression in "The Mikado," has been retained to play the part of Major Geoffrey. At the popular Wednesday matinee the graduates of the High school for the year 1905 will attend in a body and sing the new celebrated patriotic song "My Own United States." The sale of seats is now progressing for this farewell week.

WILL NOT OPEN ROAD BIDS TODAY

Absence of Two County Commissioners Necessitates Delay of This Business.

NEW VENTILATING SYSTEM

Bids for about $300,000 worth of county roads were to have been opened today. It happens Commissioner Price is the only member of the board in the city, so the business will be delayed until either Commissioner Clark or Evans returns home.

"I am satisfied the law does not permit one commissioner to open bids for roadmaking," said Mr. Price. "The act says the bids must be opened in the presence of the commissioners and controller. I have conferred with Controller Cunningham and we agree it would be illegal to take up the business until another commissioner returns. A disappointed bidder might make trouble.

"Commissioner Clark is in Utah attending to some private business. Commissioner Evans is in Mt. Clemens for his health. He may return in a couple of weeks. When he does the bids will be opened. In the meantime the sealed proposals will be kept in the controller's safe."

The roads to be improved are Lourys run and Mt. Nebo, five miles; Carnegie and Oakdale, four and a half miles; Elizabeth and Monongahela via Roberts hollow, one and three-quarter miles; Elizabeth and Monongahela via Lock No. 3, two miles; Three Degree and Gibsonia, three miles, and the Versailles, one mile. The estimated cost is about $300,000 and the total mileage 17¼ miles.

Mr. Price is sticking close to his desk. He takes a great interest in the office and is rapidly mastering the details and constantly suggesting improvements. Owing to the absence of the other commissioner there is a great deal of business accumulating. In July there are many applications for tax exonerations in cases where mistakes have been made in assessments. Mr. Price says the law makes it imperative that at least two commissioners pass on these questions and he is declining to go contrary to the act of assembly.

Another matter to engage his attention is the question of a new ventilating system for the court house. Judge McClung urged him yesterday to do something toward improving the ventilation. The present system has been in use since the erection of the building and is not satisfactory. Mr. Price will consult experts today and familiarize himself with the various plans.

IRON MILLS SIGN SCALE.

Many Concerns Make Ready for Another Year's Operation—Independent Tin Mills Coming In.

All of the independent iron mills in the Pittsburgh district and many in other sections have signed the Amalgamated scale and the indications are for a very short summer closedown. Signed scales received at Amalgamated headquarters yesterday included the following concerns:

A. M. Byers & Co., Brown & Co., Pittsburgh; Lockhart Iron and Steel Company, McKees Rocks; Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Company, Allegheny; Colonial Steel Company, Monaca; Sligo Iron and Steel Company, Connellsville; Cleveland Hardware Company, Cleveland; Empire Rolling Mill Company, Cleveland; Helmbacher Forge and Rolling Mill Company, Madison, Ill.; Fort Wayne Iron and Steel Company, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Highland Iron and Steel Company, Terre Haute, Ind.; Lake Erie Iron Company, Cleveland; Ohio Falls Iron Works, New Albany, Ind.; Westerman & Co., Lockport, N. Y.; Ewald Iron Company, Louisville, Ky.; American Rolling Mill Company, Muncie, Ind.; Interstate Iron and Steel Company, East Chicago, Ill.; Western Steel Car and Foundry Company, Noble, Ala., and the Kansas City Bolt and Nut Company, Kansas City.

There is nothing to indicate that the sheet and tin plate mills operated by independents will object to agreeing to the scales signed already by the American company.

WANTS TO BE BUMPED BY HIS OWN FENDER

The inventor of one of the street car fenders which will be tested on St. Clair street this afternoon, is willing to be knocked down by the car which is equipped with his apparatus. He says he has undergone such experiences quite often in tests in other cities, the speed of the cars ranging from six to 25 miles an hour. In all 19 cars have been equipped with fenders for this afternoon's test.

These July Clearance Times

are, figuratively, a war of conquest upon Summer goods of every class, and the battery used to efface them from off the counters and the shelves is the powerfully reduced prices—

Prices Reduced to the Minimum.

Yesterday was one of our record days, and we are the least bit afraid that in some of the departments some of the visitors left without being waited upon. That is one of the annoying features of great sales that have an attendance such as rallies to this store on its sales days—in some departments the gatherings are abnormally large, and it is simply an impossibility to get to every customer just at the moment. This is well understood. It is passed over with commendable good nature by the ladies in waiting. If you happened to meet with disappointment yesterday overlook it and favor us with your presence today, and we'll make amends by showing you some goods that were not on sale yesterday.

Imported Hosiery at Clearance Prices.

An averment from our hosiery buyer: "Before I went to Europe in May the same stockings that we are offering today for 25c a pair were being sold fast at the counter for 75c a pair—that's the difference between buying from manufacturers first of the season and at end of the season. I got those stockings cheap enough to bring them over here, pay the duty, and make some money on them by selling them at 25c a pair."

Many hundreds of pairs were taken yesterday—and yet there is no perceptible decrease in the assortment—there was such an immense importation. In brief, here are the prices, and as for colors, there are all the high colors any woman could wish for—

Women's fine imported black cotton Stockings, gauze weights, grades that are worthy of such prices as 25c and 35c, imported in such quantities that we are enabled to say 3 pairs for 50c, or a single pair 18c

We also imported largely of children's fine Stockings to sell for clearance prices, for instance, Ribbed Cotton Stockings, black and tan—35c grades, 3 pairs for 50c, or, single pair 18c

Women's French and German Lisle Thread Stockings, all gauze and cobweb weights, all the new fancy tones of colors, as well as the always wanted black—50c and 75c grades, a pair 25c

Women's all-lace, lace ankles and embroidered lisle Stockings, black and colors—75c and $1.00 grades, a pair 35c

Women's lisle thread Stockings, in lace patterns, lace and embroidery, white, black and colors—$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 grades, a pair 50c

Silks--and the Prices Are Lower Than You Ever Knew Them to Be.

That's quite true, and yet we question whether you realize the fact. The trouble is women are so taken up with ready-made garments they don't seem to have time to consider yardage goods. Well, if you need silks now, or expect to need them any time in the future, this opportunity should not be allowed to go by. Note these Clearance Prices—

A 45c grade of Wash Silks in a pretty uniting of colors, forming checks, something that makes up wonderfully neat, a yard 25c

A 38c grade of White Wash Silk, something that can be effectively used in many different ways, and especially becoming for waists, a yard 25c

A 65c grade of plain Pongee—24 inches wide—one of the most popular silks of the day, a yard 38c

A 65c grade of fancy white Japanese Silk, a silk that is washable, a silk that is so soft it adapts itself to any sort of a garment, a yard 38c

Hair-line Louisine in checks—black and white, blue and white, 65c grade for, a yard 45c

A fine Taffeta, known as Chiffon Glace, 27 inches wide, an 85c grade, clearance price, a yard 65c

A beautiful pattern of changeable Messaline, with white figures, a material that was worthy of its regular price of $1.25, clearance price, a yard 85c

Changeable Check Taffeta, which is relieved by small and exceedingly neat figures, 85c grade, clearance price, a yard 65c

Colored Pongee, an abundance of colors with which to meet every fancy, an 85c grade, clearance price, a yard 65c

Black Grenadine—48 inches wide—$1.25 grade, will be offered for clearance at the unusual price of, a yard 50c

Black Taffeta in two widths—19 inches and 28 inches—75c grades, will be cleared at, a yard 58c

Full yard wide Black Taffeta, with a fine chiffon finish, $1.00 grade, clearance price, a yard 85c

A Wall Paper Clearance.

Of course you are not going to paper now? Did we hint of that? Here's the way to look at this clearance of wall paper. We carry the very best grades of wall papers, not only those made in this country, but papers from every country that manufactures wall papers. It is quite likely if you did not paper the past Spring that you will do so this Autumn; if not then, certainly next Spring. Now the prices for which we are going to clear this wall paper are low enough to warrant any one buying now and holding until he is ready to hang it. Perceive the force of the argument? The stock is so large that your taste is sure to be met.

Thursday, July 6, 1905.

The recent hurricane in Samoa and the damage resulting recall that of 1889, which destroyed three American and three German warships, the British Calliope alone escaping. While the modern warship may be better able to resist storms the danger from more effective ordnance has added much to the peril of those who navigate them and man the guns.

The first returns of casualties on account of celebrating the Fourth show almost exactly the same number of killed and injured as last year. Later returns will swell the list, as many injuries are likely to prove fatal, especially where tetanus develops. But nearly 50 immediate deaths, and the maiming of over 1,500, is a heavy penalty to pay for unrestricted jubilation.

Dr. Darlington, New York's commissioner of health, reports that more than a million pounds of adulterated food was discovered there and condemned recently in one week. This was more than one-fifth of all the food condemned last year, but the tremendous increase is due more to the vigilance of the department than an increase in poor foods. He makes this statement in reply to criticisms for inactivity, and it is certainly a forcible showing.

It was some consolation for the Vesper crew from Philadelphia to win a race at Henley on the Fourth, but defeat was reserved for yesterday when the Leanders pulled ahead of them. The Belgian crew, which is likely to be in the final race, has excited some surprise, owing to the violation of training rules by indulgence in ice cream and tobacco. Disregard of the prescribed laws of diet may not deprive all athletes of success, but over-indulgence in dainties is not a wise preparation for such contests.

Another inquiry is to be inaugurated in person as to progress in the work of building the Panama canal, and two of the commissioners started yesterday for the purpose. Considering the preliminary surveys made and the more recent plans the zone has been inspected pretty often. But the builders cannot be too thorough in their estimates, so as to prevent mistakes in digging. There is a limit to the energy that can be applied in the actual work, and much patience will be needed all around before the enterprise is completed.

The Hay funeral at Cleveland yesterday was notable for the attendance of present and former members of the cabinet. With the president were Justice Day, ex-secretary of state; Elihu Root and Robert T. Lincoln, former secretaries of war; Charles Emory Smith and Philander C. Knox, who held portfolios of the postoffice and law, and Paul Morton, who recently retired from the navy department. Secretary Taft of the war department, who is on the way to the Philippines, was the only member of the present cabinet absent.

The state dispensary method of liquor selling in South Carolina is said to be in danger, and Senator Tillman announces that he is prepared to fight for the preservation of the system which he introduced. An investigating committee is trying to learn why the position of state purchaser, which pays only $400 a year, should prove so attractive, and the result of charges of favoritism for certain brands of liquor has been the refusal of several counties to buy it. Tillman still believes the plan is the best regulation of the liquor traffic, and that his reputation hinges on its continuance.

The new steamboat law went into effect the first of the month, and inspectors report that the requirements concerning equipment are generally being complied with. Not only must there be better discipline on board and more effective life-saving apparatus, but a count must be made of the passengers received so as not to exceed the limit allowed by law. While the government has found difficulty in convicting those responsible for the disaster to the General Slocum, the lesson of that accident will not be lost if it made greater precautions against similar accidents.

The city hospital at Newark, N. J., has just discharged as cured a second case of cerebro-spinal meningitis which was treated without medicines. The patient was bathed daily in a temperature of 115 degrees, and at weekly intervals the serum was drawn from the spine. Four other cases are progressing favorably at the same hospital under this treatment. Although the warm weather has apparently checked the outbreak of meningitis, any discovery as to its cure will be eagerly welcomed by physicians. The decrease in the number of victims, moreover, gives opportunity to study the disease more thoroughly.

Taking Second Thought.

There can be no doubt that one of the purposes of the new commercial treaties negotiated by Germany was to apply pressure to the United States and compel the negotiation of a treaty which will accord to German products advantages in our markets above those which they now enjoy. German commercial interests have been so sanguine of success in accomplishing this object that in the memorials which boards of trade are making to the imperial government as to the provisions of a new treaty with this country, an exacting temper is noticeable as if there was a feeling that Germany is now in a position to dictate terms. This is so marked as to make it improbable that anything will come of the negotiations unless there is a decided change of tone. It is quite possible that the general movement toward the establishment of maximum and minimum schedules in European tariffs may make it expedient for this country to do likewise, but it does not follow that any special concessions to Germany or any other country will accompany the adoption of that principle. On the contrary, existing rates may be retained as the minimum and extra duties be imposed upon the products of countries which refuse to put our products upon the same tariff plane as those of the most favored nation.

This possibility is now descried by some of the more thoughtful organs of German manufacturing and exporting interests. The new commercial treaties go into effect March 1, 1906, and already the question is being raised whether Germany can afford to apply the general tariff to the United States, subjecting goods from this country to much higher rates than those upon the goods of nations with which commercial treaties have been concluded. Our exports to Germany consist mainly of foodstuffs and raw materials, while those of Germany to this country consist of manufactures. Although Germany takes more from us than we take from her yet our exports are goods she must have for the benefit of her own industries, and if she does not get them from us she must get them elsewhere. Either way, the raising of rates under the general tariff may be at the expense of her own commercial interests. On the other hand, the United States, next to Great Britain and Austria-Hungary, is Germany's best customer, and she may lose heavily by inviting a tariff war in the attempt to coerce the policy of the United States.

Germany's experience with Canada is not reassuring to her on that point. She resented Canada's preference in favor of Great Britain by discriminating against Canada as she is now talking of doing against the United States. The tariff war thus started reduced her exports from $9,234,400 in 1903 to $5,497,800 in 1904, and this diminished export has been retained only by great sacrifices made by export firms to retain Canadian trade. In 1904 we took from Germany goods to the value of $109,188,554, and during the present fiscal year German export firms to retain Canadian trade. In Our exports to Germany amounted to $214,780,992 in 1904, and disturbance of that large market would undoubtedly be felt severely in this country, but Germany's hurt would be so much more severe that as the time approaches when the imperial government must decide whether it will refuse to this country the benefit of the most favored nation principle as heretofore, it will be less and less inclined to take that step. The attempt to extort special privileges from this country by menace of tariff discrimination if we refuse will certainly fail. A tariff war would be injurious to both countries, but if one comes it will be of Germany's making.

Boil the Water.

Although the health bureau confesses to considerable uneasiness over the typhoid fever situation, there is no ground for special alarm or great fear of a general typhoid fever epidemic. There is, however, serious ground for warning against the carelessness that at this season of the year is so prolific a source of infection. The drinking water supply of the two cities is known to be germ-laden. There is no question about that fact, and the knowledge should be kept constantly in mind by every one. It is a danger for which there is no remedy just now within the power of the civic authorities. Filtration is on the way, but until that help comes the private citizen must be either induced or compelled to contribute his share toward preventing a typhoid fever epidemic.

It may sound like trite repetition, but the simplest and safest protection against disease germs is to be found in boiling all the water used in the home for drinking and cooking purposes. Just at this time, when the health authorities are declaring the danger from typhoid fever infection, and when health statistics prove that the number of deaths and cases now reported show an increase over the same number this time last year, there should be no let-up in this sensible and simple precaution against the disease. Boiled water may not be a perfect preventive of typhoid fever, but in the present condition of Pittsburgh's water supply, it is an almost necessary method of self-protection.

The Black Sea Situation.

When doubt has been raised about the loyalty of the crews, not only is the efficiency of Russian ships destroyed, but confusion results as to the extent of the insurrection. It is not easy to communicate with vessels at sea to learn about their maintenance of discipline, so their approach to ports is regarded with apprehension by the inhabitants, who have reason to fear that they will likewise be held up by reckless seamen. The situation on the Black sea is thus one of uncertainty and terror. The report that the rebels in control of the Potemkine have made demands on Theodosia, which lies on the Crimean peninsula, is followed by an account of dissatisfied crews in the merchant ships of Russia sailing from Alexandria to Constantinople.

The Black sea fleet is penned up so as to prevent its use against a foreign foe, but the injury it may cause at home by spreading the feeling of discontent now breaking out in Russia may well cause apprehension. Restrictions may make the communication of revolutionary movements difficult by land, but a turbulent crew has greater freedom, and can sail from port to port, announcing that the time has come for revolt, unless it is promptly checked by the authorities. The spectacle of Russia running down her ships at home while engaged in a foreign war can only add to her humiliation.

A Cat-and-Dog Time of It.

It is not an edifying spectacle to see two eminent literary men, advanced in years, squabbling over a cat. Dr. S. Weir Mitchell provoked the fight, and Andrew Lang seemed only too glad of the chance. The Philadelphia doctor and novelist, it seems, issued a libelous screed against poor puss. He invented the word "ailurophobia," meaning "cat-fear"—from the word of Herodotus, "ailuroi," meaning "tail-wavers," first used to describe the "softly-stepping tiger." The introduction of such a disease might have been pardoned, since appendicitis is getting too common, but Dr. Mitchell didn't stop there. He accused the cat of causing asthma in 20 minutes, just by its mere presence; other people suffered from lockjaw, blindness, convulsions and seasickness, merely because a cat was in the room. Nay, a brave soldier and tiger-hunter lost all his coolness and courage when confronted by a purring puss.

It was to be expected that Dr. Mitchell would not escape unscathed. Many thought his clever townswoman, Miss Agnes Repplier, would take up the pen in defense of "the Fireside Sphinx." But ere this was done, Andrew Lang, who has had his photograph taken with a cat upon his lap, rushed to the vindication of his furry friend. He pokes gentle fun at the "ailurophobes," hurls a few gratuitous insults at the dog, and pointedly suggests that the people afraid of cats were probably mice in some previous state of existence.

Such a controversy is most regrettable at a time when hopes of peace between Russia and Japan are rife. These venerable and talented gentlemen might set the world a better example. If cats cause all the diseases Dr. Mitchell charges against them, it would seem that gratitude alone should restrain him from further attacks. And Mr. Lang need not worry; an animal that has enjoyed the friendship of Dr. Johnson and has been immortalized in a sonnet by Keats, isn't going to succumb to an article in a medical magazine.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Mary had an autocar,
It went with gasoline;
And everywhere that Mary went
The autocar was seen.

She tried to go to town one day,
While early morning glowed;
When night time came the autocar
Still stuck there in the road.

This made the farmers laugh and jeer
To see the auto balk;
If Mary ever got to town
She doubtless had to walk.
—Chicago Chronicle.

The auto is a great thing, far outstripping its predecessor, the bicycle.

You may not be able to recall the old velocipede with is high front wheel and its low hind wheel. It was a most awkward sort of contraption, but it certainly could get over the ground rapidly.

Being so high, and so tottery, only those who had the balancing sense well developed could successfully navigate the thing; and then it was so awkward and unwieldy that it never became popular.

Then came the safety, and for a time it was thought that the horse would have to go, and that carriages and buggies would be sent to the dump.

Now, where is the two-wheeled, smooth-going whizzer?

Next comes the horseless carriage, but it was slow coming. Paris had it three years before its coming here, which is a wonder, for our people are usually fast to adopt practical devices for fast and convenient travel.

As a traveler the auto is not a howling success, except for city use. It is too apt to get out of repair, to say nothing of its first cost or the expense of maintaining it.

And, after all, an auto is not nearly as comfortable as a buggy nor as reliable as a horse that doesn't cost one-half as much.

Autoists tell us the horse is surely doomed to go, but it hasn't gone yet, and the chances are that when the last auto has been sent to the boneyard the horse will still be here in all its glory, the glory of being man's best friend among all the beasts of the field.

God made the horse and man made the automobile.

Don't worry yourself about the passing of the horse, for it was sent to stay as long as there was any use for it.

We are told that this is a fast age, which means that we are a fast people, fast livers and fast to die.

Well, what's the difference so we serve the purpose for which we were designed and created. Nor does it matter whether men are merely improved apes or original creations. But it is amusing to listen to speculative scientists, and more particularly to those who think they know where man came from.

A British humorist takes one of these off in this way:

"The Lady Psyche in 'Princess Ida' makes the unpleasant announcement that Man, however well-behaved,
At best is only a monkey shaved.
This is a hard saying. It raps at our self-complacency and plugs our vanity between wind and water. When a man has got on a frock coat and silk hat, when he is suede gloved and silk umbrella'd, when his neck is in the yoke of a three-inch-high 'Algy' collar, when his feet are encased in patent leathers and a gold watch chain reposes on his stalwart bosom, one can't blame him for feeling a 'lord of creation' and walking on his heels. Yet, O, Mr. Malvolio! O, sumptuously clad brother! thy ancestors had hairy skins; they extracted the nutritious kernel of the toothsome barcelona without the aid of crackers, and were exceedingly troubled with fleas. But on this point we need go no further. I know there are cynics who will tell me that woman is as much ape-ancestored as man—that she, in the days that were earlier, swung on the branches of the spreading chestnut tree by a caudal appendage, and waged war on the pestilence which infested her fully farthingale. I give these persons the lie in their throats—I invite them separately and collectively to step up and be decimated—polemically, of course."

For some reason or other our efforts to improve the animal man have not been crowned with notable success. The trouble seems to be that his tendency is to be piggish, if not pig-headed. He wants to eat everything that his stomach will tolerate, and to eat lots of it, even if he knows it will not be good for him to do so.

And, man-like, there are some who are "ferninst" this, and go to the other extreme. The following extract from an official report shows that the same holds good among those who are some thousands of years behind the times:

"The question of diet is one of extreme difficulty in Indian hospitals. Eggs are refused by many who eat other animal food, by others because they hold that they contain the principle of life, by others because they are generally laid by the domestic fowl, which lives on garbage. Curiously enough, many persons do not object to eating the eggs of the duck.

"High-caste Hindus," writes Col. T. H. Hendley of the Indian medical service in the British Medical Journal, "will not eat turnips because Mussulmans eat them. Many Mussulmans refuse the latter, but eat onions, which nearly all Hindu castes, except Brahmans, also take. Brahmans and Baneahs use asafoetida, cumin and garlic, instead of onions. Jains of the strictest kind will not even drink water from the spring, because it contains life, but use that which has been drawn by other people from the wells, as the sin of destroying life then falls on the latter instead of on themselves. Chaube Brahmans do not take potatoes or cabbages, because they were introduced into India by foreigners. These are but a few of the restrictions which apply to some of the natives of India."

Oh, well! we will get there somehow, get to the end of our string, and then we shall see how far we were wrong in our goings and comings.

And there are some who argue that we will be allowed to try it over again, provided we have shown a disposition to improve. If not the chances are that we will be branded n. g. and sent adrift, or chucked into the "hell box," as a printer would say.

Anyway, you will be taking less risk if you do a little thinking along this line and exercise common sense in all you do. It will cost you nothing to do this, not even as much as to do otherwise, and the benefits will be worth while, no matter what the final disposition of your soul may be.

The thing is to get busy and then keep busy doing something useful to your fellowmen, for you are rewarded in this life accordingly as you labor for the comfort and benefit of mankind.

To labor for your own benefit alone, as many do, is pure selfishness, and you know that selfishness is surely damning in its effect, damning here and hereafter.

Benefits of Long Service.

From the Springfield Republican.

The record of our own state department furnishes some excellent illustrations. The secretaries who made the greatest names have, with one or two exceptions, been those who served the longest in point of time. If it be said that these men enjoyed exceptional opportunities, the fact remains that they needed prolonged service in order to bring those opportunities within their range.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The four women immigrant inspectors now appear in natty blue uniforms, eton jacket, short skirt and bloomers. The skirts are just plain, without any stripes of any sort down the sides, and the bloomers are added as a necessity when the women are compelled to go aboard incoming vessels in rough weather. Their hats are soft blue fedoras, though Commissioner Watchorn had ordered visored caps, to which the women objected as too masculine. The women inspectors make a fine appearance in their new uniforms, and look strictly business. They are thus quickly recognizable in the crowds on the piers and can be found at a moment's notice.

The duties of the women inspectors are manifold. They may be called upon to search a woman passenger suspected of having smuggled goods concealed about her, or to look after some poor immigrant girl who has come to a new country without home and without friends. Mrs. Jennie Mooney is in charge of the corps, and assigns the women to their daily duties. One of them, Mrs. Adelle Pesuzzi, an Italian woman, is an accomplished linguist and her services are much in demand among women from the other side, who are a bit shy about telling their troubles to the male inspectors. All the women enjoy their work, apparently, and say the only drawback is the long hours of duty. They are expected to arrive at the barge office at 6:30 a. m. and often it is as late as 2 o'clock the following morning before the last ship has discharged her passengers and they are free to go.

Now for the Theatrical War.

With the return of David Belasco and Marc Klaw from Europe we can prepare for hostilities on the Rialto. Mr. Belasco issued a genuine declaration of war this morning, but declined to announce his plan of campaign for fear of allowing the enemy to turn his flanks. Both managers also promise some new features for the coming season, secured while abroad. Frederick Thompson of Thompson & Dundy, the hippodrome promoters, was also an arrival from abroad, and he brings over some new features for the big show house in Sixth avenue. He also announced that plans are completed for the Chicago hippodrome, and that the stale features from New York would be the new things for the windy city.

First Trip for Sick Children.

Sixteen hundred children and their mothers went out today for a trip on the St. John's Guild steamer, the Helen Julliard, but there were thousands at the pier who could not be accommodated. Mothers literally fought to get their babies aboard the vessel. There were doctors and nurses in attendance at the dock and they gave white tickets to those who were to return home this evening, and blue tickets to those who were to be taken to the seaside hospital at New Dorp for treatment. Then on board the doctors gave red tickets to children who were in need of special treatment. It costs about $250 a day to run the Julliard and Frank J. Gould furnished the money for all the trips this week, giving his check for $1,000 to the officers of the guild. From now on during the summer the boat will make daily trips.

Conried to Have New Studio.

Plans were filed today with the building department that call for the remodeling of the four-story tenement house at 422 East Twentieth street into a scenic studio for Heinrich Conried of the Metropolitan opera house, who has purchased the property. A rear extension will be built, giving the studio a total depth of 68 feet and the present second floor will be entirely removed. The changes will cost the Metropolitan manager $8,000. All the scenery for the big opera productions will hereafter come from this building.

Ice Cream Equal to Dog Button.

Ice cream caused the death of Prince, a dog that was owned jointly by all the children in the neighborhood of the Liberty avenue police station. His funeral occurred this morning, and over his grave is a little headstone announcing that he was a "true friend." The youngsters of the neighborhood have for years divided their luxuries with Prince, and yesterday, when they had ice cream as one feature of the Fourth of July celebration, Prince got his share as usual. But the ice cream proved too much for his digestive apparatus, and although a veterinary was called in, Prince passed in his chips and quit the game.

Corsair Back from Long Cruise.

J. Pierpont Morgan's yacht arrived in port this morning, after a cruise of probably 16,000 miles. The financier was not on board, and he was lucky that he decided to cross the Atlantic on a liner, as the captain reports the yacht had heavy weather during almost the entire voyage. While abroad the Corsair was used by Mr. Morgan and his daughter to travel from one Mediterranean port to another, and they also entertained many guests on board. The yacht left New York on February 22 and has been on the go nearly all the time since. Nearly every port on the Mediterranean was visited while Mr. Morgan and his daughter were on board.

Weird Midnight Funeral.

Unique were the funeral rites performed early this morning over the body of Thomas Dedidia, a Matabele native. He died at the Hudson street hospital from an illness contracted while appearing in the Boer war spectacle. Only members of his tribe were present at the funeral, and no white man was allowed to approach the spot near the ocean shore where the burial occurred. A cordon of Boer and British troops was drawn around the spot, but at such a distance that even the soldiers would not see what was going on. Dedidia was a member of the tribe referred to by H. Rider Haggard as "the children of the mist." They are worshipers of the crocodile and an image of their god, Inguenia, was employed in the burial ceremony. In the Matabele war of 1893 Dedidia was a herd boy. He was present at the Wilson massacre and when his people rose against the Chartered company he was one of the fighting men.

Plea for the End Seat Man.

After all, what difference does it make whether the man holds the end seat and forces people to climb in over him, or moves over and then climbs over the others when he leaves the car?—Cleveland World-News.

GEN. LINEVITCH.

Commander of the Russian Force in the East.

Gen. Linevitch, who succeeded his enemy, Gen. Kuropatkin, as commander, has come into prominence again by his claim that he wiped out the Japanese garrison at Sanvaitse, but in view of his previous record at exaggeration, people are inclined to doubt whether the Japanese casualties were as large as he reported. If there should be an armistice and final peace it will fall to his lot to assemble the fragments of a beaten army for its withdrawal from a field in which Russia had hoped to achieve great military as well as commercial triumphs. A correspondent in the London Mail thus describes his personality and experiences in the Boxer rebellion:

"Gen. Linevitch (Nikolai Petrovitch) is an infantry officer, who has seen none of the big campaigns of the last half of the nineteenth century, but has had a great deal of experience corresponding to that which British officers get on the frontier of India in their smaller expeditions. In height about 5 feet 6 inches, his full face, were his chin shaven, has often been compared to that of Lord Roberts, but in profile his distinctly Muscovite-tipped nose spoils the resemblance. He is in no way a powerful man to look at, but lean and of slight build, and apparently he has led a less rapid life than most Russian officers. He was, in fact, one of the few officers of his force who could be said by a sportsman to be 'in good training.'

Blustering and Duplicity in China.

"That he is dashing and brave is undoubted. Gen. Stoessel could not be induced to advance toward Pekin in July, 1900, but Linevitch, when he arrived, was disgusted at the delay, and concurred at once in the views of the British, American and Japanese generals then at Tien-tsin. That Linevitch in his dispatches is as little worthy of confidence as Kuropatkin is shown by the fact that, after the battle of Yang-Tsung, where the Russian casualties, all told, did not exceed fifty he telegraphed to the czar saying that he had lost 500 killed and wounded, and much exaggerated the altogether minor part played by his forces that day.

"At the assault of Pekin on August 14, 1900, as his troops filed past him to the attack he made an amazing speech to them, giving them license to behave like savages, and it was Linevitch, too, who, after having, at a conference of the allied generals, decided that the 12th of August should be devoted to a reconnaissance, the 14th to concentration, and the 15 to the assault on Pekin tried to steal a march on his colleagues, and, by a rapid coup de main on the early morning of the 14th force his way into Pekin and snatch the laurels from those whom he had allowed to bear the heat and burden of the day on the march up from Tien-tsin; but he found the Chinese on the lookout for him, and was rather severely handled.

"A memorable incident took place about this time. At a conference of the allied generals Gen. Linevitch stated that he had 18,000 men in and around Pekin, whereupon bluff old Gen. Chaffee, the gallant commander of the American forces, slapped the table with his fist and said: 'Well, that's a darned lie, anyhow.' This was interpreted to Linevitch, who knows no language other than his own, but he merely said: 'Da—da—da—da.'

"When the Summer palace was occupied Gen. Linevitch and the superintendent of the Russian Red Cross society (specially deputed by the czar) stripped it of practically everything worth taking, and shortly after Linevitch complained to everybody that he feared he was a ruined man, because there was some talk of levying customs duties in Port Arthur on the loot he had shipped! This, he complained, if exacted, would amount to so immense a sum that he would be hopelessly bankrupt.

His Rise in the Army.

"Gen. Linevitch was not in any way personally concerned in the strained relations which arose between Russia and Great Britain over the Tien-tsin railway station. This trouble really originated in land-grabbing and claim-jumping operations in which the Russian military agent had a pecuniary interest.

"Linevitch is anything but a young man. He is, indeed, nearly 70 years of age, Kuropatkin being his junior by ten years. He began his soldier life in the Crimean war, and was conspicuous by his services in the Turkish war twenty years later. Once during that campaign he distinguished himself greatly, in spite of severe wounds, by forcing the Turks to retire from a strong position. Linevitch served, too, in the Caucasus, and it was he who first led the Russian army into Manchuria. He raised the first battalion of Siberian sharp shooters, the nucleus of the Siberian army corps, and had command of the Russian troops at the relief of the legations in China. It was from Linevitch that the czar received a telegram saying that his troops were the first to enter Pekin, and one of the general's most precious possessions is a message from his sovereign congratulating him upon the 'rapid occupation' of Pekin, and conferring upon him the Order of St. George."

Shortage of Officers.

The military forces of the crown are, by the latest computation, 4,000 officers short of the requirements as laid down in the army and auxiliary establishment for 1905-1906. This serious shortage, combined with the fact that resignations are still as numerous as ever, is causing considerable misgivings in the minds of the authorities, and conferences are now taking place at the war office, under the director of staff duties and other officials, the object of which is to find a remedy for the situation.—London Express.

Searching for Radium.

Thomas A. Edison has for several weeks been engaged in an elaborate search for radium in American minerals. He has not yet been successful, but the thoroughness and enthusiasm with which he pushes all of his experimental work encourages his friends to think that he will find that wonderful stuff, if it really exists in unsuspected companionships in this country.—Baltimore American.

Means Prosperity.

From the Cleveland Leader.

There is no present reason to fear that the mines will fail to maintain the gold output of the world at the highest level for many years to come. The chances favor a further large increase in the production of the basic money metal. That means prosperity.

Removing Surplus Lives.

A bird enthusiast in Massachusetts wants cats exterminated as the worst enemy of the bird tribe. He might compromise on a few lives of each cat for the birds' safety and leave the rest of the nine to deal exclusively with rats and mice.—Baltimore American.

Hand on the Throttle Valve.

From the Boston Globe.

Vice President Fairbanks delights to ride in the engine cab. He probably is in practice for keeping his hand on the throttle valve of the nation.

The Day.

Another day to die tonight
And be a portion of the past;
And is the splendid shore in sight,
And are you captain of the ship,
Or, idling still before the mast
Of circumstance, and letting slip
The golden moments, do you still
Propose some day—some better day—
To walk the deck commanding those
Who as your fellows now obey?

They are the great who, at the dawn,
With more than fair intentions rise
To center eager efforts on
Their duties, and who realize
The passing moment's worth, the prize
Each splendid day is ere 'tis gone.
—S. E. Kiser in Baltimore American.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES.

"Best Convention Ever Held."

"This is undoubtedly the best and most interesting convention we have ever held," was the sentiment last night of the 32 members of the Pennsylvania Shorthand Reporters' association, which is holding its sixth annual convention at the Hotel Henry. The papers are of a broader nature and on more specific subjects than those presented on former occasions. There were 17 new members added to the association yesterday, and the body now has 95 per cent of the official court reporters of the state on its roll. There were two papers presented at yesterday's meeting. Fred Irland of Washington told of congressional reporting, and W. M. Clift of Philadelphia read a paper on court reporting in Philadelphia, which touched upon a subject of supreme importance to the members—that of a new court bill. The members enjoyed a trip through the Homestead mills of the Carnegie Steel Company last evening, and will be given a trolley ride in a special car this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. This evening an informal banquet will be given at the Henry. One of the interesting phases of today's sessions will be a demonstration of the graphophone by Secretary Stanley M. Langdon of Pittsburgh. This is a new phase of reporting that bids fair to bring about a change from old methods and lighten the work of the official reporters.

The Graft-Stricken City.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

The employers and workingmen of Chicago must now take their choice between the degrading, debasing methods of graft on the one hand and the clean, fair struggle for their respective rights on the other hand. With bright light let in on the dark places by the grand jury, a great improvement may be expected without delay, but the next general assembly should be urged to pass the proposed legislation, and so make more certain that in our industrial affairs we will not again deserve stinging official censure as a "graft-stricken city."

Tells Them to "Forget It."

From the Boston Transcript.

President Hyde of Bowdoin in his Wellesley address also advises young women who graduate from college to "forget it" in their after relations with other people. The frequency with which this bit of advice is given indicates that in respect to self-consciousness the college for women is nowadays just about where the college for men used to be 30 or 40 years ago.

Vacations for Horses.

Give all horses on the place at least a three weeks' vacation in the fields. The grass will be good for their feet and as a food will help to get all the old grain out of their system, besides giving them a good rest. Horses that are worked every day must be given a diet of grain. On Sundays and days when not in use turn work horses into the fields.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Municipal Bookkeeping.

Minneapolis determined recently to know as much about its financial condition as though it were a bank or a railway company. It employed an eminent firm of public accountants to devise the method and open a set of books. The result is an entire novelty in municipal bookkeeping.—Philadelphia Record.

Remember Her by Instalment.

"Try to forget me," she said, with a look of pity.

"How can I?" he miserably answered, "as long as I have to make monthly payments on the things I have presented to you?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Lowering the Animal Death Rate.

Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological society, in his annual report to the board of managers, shows that the death rate at the zoo has diminished 5 per cent among the animals.—New York Tribune.

IT IS TO SMILE.

Wife—Too dear, Charles? Don't be absurd! Why, it's a regular duck of a bonnet!

Husband—Nonsense, my dear! It must be a kingfisher judging by the big bill.—Pearson's Weekly.

Barber—Your hair's coming out badly, sir. You ought to have something on it.

Victim—I know it. Hand me my hat.—Cleveland Leader.

"Ah, how I love to hear your daughter sing," said Archie, as he waited in the parlor. "She's practicing her exercises now, isn't she. What a beautiful tremolo."

"No," replied the mamma scornfully. "She has had the [illegible] for three [illegible]. She's taking a [illegible]."—Indianapolis Star.

"[illegible] Jenkins these days? I never see anything of him."

"No, he's been in a state of [illegible] since Decoration day."

"Oh, come, now, he doesn't drink at all."

"I didn't say he did. I merely mean to say he's visiting friends in Kentucky."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"Nothing would please that woman better than [illegible] to gossip with her neighbors," remarked Jokeley.

"Really?" replied Pokely. "She doesn't look [illegible]."

"Fact, though. She's deaf and dumb."—Philadelphia Press.

GRAND JURY MAY GET EQUITABLE

District Attorney Jerome Is Said to Be Ready With Evidence Against Officers.

CONCERN'S MISUSE OF FUNDS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 5.

It was today said by a man closely connected with affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society, that District Attorney Jerome had found evidence touching certain things which, while not violations of the so-called common law, he regarded as violations of certain criminal statutes. He has a lot of technical matter to go over, it is said, but otherwise is ready to go before the grand jury with the evidence he has collected.

It is reported in Wall street the next report of Francis Hendricks, state superintendents of insurance, will contain allegations that officials of the Equitable Life have dealt with the funds of the society in stock margin transactions, which transactions are absolutely forbidden by law.

That Mr. Jerome intends to present phases of the Equitable Life's troubles to the July grand jury as soon as he returns from the west, was the intimation believed by many to be contained in an address of Judge Warren W. Foster in general sessions today to the members of the grand jury. He said:

"I understand the district attorney is investigating a matter of great importance and may need your assistance. I have given him my assurance you will assist him. In order to meet any important matter that may arise in that contingency, your time may be extended."

Success or failure of the plan of reorganization of the Equitable Life Assurance Society it is believed depends upon the legal acumen of one man, a man now in the eye of the nation as possible successor of the late Secretary of State Hay—Elihu Root. It became known today that when Mr. Root retired as secretary of war and became again a practitioner of law, he found awaiting him in his law office here retainers representing more than $200,000. Of this amount the major portion was from persons interested in straightening out the Equitable muddle. Mr. Root accepted the retainers, and at once began work.

Mr. Root is the personal counsel of Mr. Ryan, and as no move has been made by Mr. Ryan without the advice of his counsel, the entire Equitable transaction from the purchase of the Hyde stock to the present has been made upon the suggestion of Mr. Root.

YELLOW FEVER SUSPECTS LAND IN NEW YORK

They Come from Panama Where Health Conditions Are Said to Be in a Bad State.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 5.—Three suspected cases of yellow fever from the Panama canal zone were removed from the steamer Advance when she arrived at quarantine today. The suspected cases were George Baylor, Standard, N. J.; Edward P. Penick, New York city, and Frank Hamact, Texas. From Colon the steamer brought the body of the late secretary to Gov. Magoon, Samuel Y. Hirsch, who died of yellow fever at Panama.

George G. Matlock of Louisville, Ky., superintendent of a dock at Christobal, who was among the passengers of the Advance, said things were very bad at the isthmus, the diseases prevalent being black measles, smallpox, yellow fever, Chagres fever and malaria.

Miss A. A. Robinson of New York, who has been a hospital nurse on the isthmus, also returned on the Advance. "The supply of nurses," she said, "is beginning to fall off, and by fall the hospital at Panama will be very short-handed. None of those who are leaving now will return to Panama."

ENTERTAIN CHILDREN.

Salvation Army Gives River Outing to 2,000 Boys and Girls.

Almost 2,000 children of the poor from this city and neighboring towns were given a delightful outing and boat ride by the Salvation Army on the steamer Francis J. Torrance yesterday. The excursion, which was in charge of Maj. William Andrews, was the first of several to be given by the army this season.

The steamer carried the children to Moss Grove, where four hours were devoted to games and other pastimes, while the bands of the Salvation Army from Uniontown and Altoona lent further entertainment. All sorts of edibles were furnished by the hosts.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Going to Camp.

Many small boys who are members of the branches of the Young Men's Christian association in this section will leave Allegheny over the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad at 8:15 o'clock this morning for the annual encampment, which this year will be held at Fairview, Pa. The outing will be the third annual, and will be attended by boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years who are members of the branch associations in Western Pennsylvania. It is expected that 200 will attend the encampment, which will continue for two weeks. A "Camp Store" will again be conducted this year.

New Window Is Placed.

The art window presented to the First Presbyterian church by Samuel Ewart, a member of the session, has been completed and installed. It contains 26 figures depicting the lineage of Christ, beginning with Jesse. Its cost was approximately $25,000. Work on the $25,000 organ will begin next week, and the instrument will not be completed for 10 weeks.

Lawler Goes With Hamfeldt.

Thomas A. Lawler of Braddock has resigned as superintendent of transportation at the Carrie furnaces, Rankin, to go with George K. Hamfeldt, who will be general manager of the Cooks Ferry (O.) plant of the Midland Steel Company. Yesterday the employes of the furnaces presented Mr. Lawler with a watch and chain.

Rammed by a Battleship.

BERLIN, July 5.—The Kiel correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger says that the battleship Woerth rammed a torpedo boat in the harbor of Eckenfoerde Wednesday morning, cutting her completely in two and that three firemen in the boiler room were scalded to death.

Boy Is Badly Squeezed.

Roy Detman, aged 18, is at the West Penn hospital under treatment for a crushed abdomen. He was riding on an open car on Main street, Sharpsburg, yesterday morning and was caught between a wagon and the car. His home is at Salina and he is employed at Vandergrift, Pa. He will recover.

FINDS MILLION POUNDS OF ADULTERATED FOODS

New York Health Department Makes An Alarming Discovery During One Week's Investigation of Produce Supply.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 5.—More than 1,000,000 pounds of adulterated foods have been detected and condemned by inspectors for the health department in one week, the most alarming increase in the traffic known to the department. This assertion was made today by Dr. Darlington, commissioner of health, in reply to criticisms that his department was derelict in its duty in the matter of the food supply.

In the year 1904, he said, 5,500,000 pounds of adulterated food had been found and destroyed by the inspectors, but in one week, the week before last, the figures amounted to 1,010,291 pounds, one fifth of the amount for the whole year preceding.

Asked how the great difference in the amount of food condemned in 1904 and that condemned this year, as indicated by the figures for one week, could be accounted for, Dr. Darlington said that the difference existed not because more adulterated food was being brought here, but because more of it is being detected and condemned than ever before.

SCHWAB BUYING SOUTHERN STOCKS

He Is Said to Be a Heavy Purchaser of Tennessee Coal & Iron.

NEEDS LARGER FACILITIES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 5.

Ever since the return of Charles M. Schwab from Russia there has been activity in Tennessee Coal & Iron stock, and lately this has become most pronounced. It is now currently reported he has been a very liberal buyer of this stock and has secured very large amounts of it. Among the properties of the company is a large amount of what is known as ore land, which contains exceedingly valuable ore for many purposes, especially in the manufacture of open hearth steel.

The Tennessee Coal & Iron Company is so situated that, it is claimed, it can export pig iron or steel far cheaper than any other iron and steel company in the United States, and practically all the exports of pig iron made in the last decade have been made from southern ports of southern iron.

It is presumed, according to the reports, that Mr. Schwab has taken a long look ahead in connection with his large Russian and other European steel contracts, and that he has fixed upon southern properties as the most available and cheapest source of supply for his requirements. The fact that the Tennessee company has a well equipped steel mill in operation makes it of more value to him than any other southern iron property, as it is the only one that has entered the steel market.

Incidentally, if he should obtain a controlling interest in this company it would make him a very powerful factor in the entire southern district and he would probably be nearer able to form a combination of the warring element in that section than almost anybody else. At any rate, it is evident that he is bound to be a factor, and probably a dominating one, in the southern iron situation.

MAXIM GORKY DECLARES THE WAR A BLESSING

Says Peace Now Would Give Russia a Chance to Stop the Reform Movement in Empire.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—Maxim Gorky, the novelist, who is living at Kokola, on the coast of Finland, has refused a flattering offer to go on a lecture tour in the United States, preferring to remain for the purpose of aiding in the work of emancipating Russia. He is one of the recognized leaders of the constitutionalists and is visited daily by persons from all parts of Russia. He has a large income, but gives the major portion of it to the cause which he has at heart.

Gorky is a great admirer of the United States and of President Roosevelt, and while he gives unstinted praise to the president's efforts toward bringing the war to an end, he says he thinks that, from a Russian standpoint, peace would be a misfortune.

"In spite of the cost of the war and the great loss of life, the struggle with Japan has proved to be an unmitigated blessing to Russia," said the novelist today. "It has opened the eyes of the country to the impossibility of the present regime and has already produced changes which were hardly dreamed of two years ago. If peace should come now the government would be able to turn its attention to the interior and possibly check the tide of reform."

Maxim Gorky's attorneys are making extensive preparations for his trial on the charge of participating in alleged revolutionary plots last January, which they hope to convert into a political demonstration and they are subpoenaing ministers of state and other high personages.

PRESIDENT SENDS GREETING.

Epworth League Convention Receives a Characteristic Message from the Chief Executive.

DENVER, July 5.—President Roosevelt today telegraphed greetings to the members of the Epworth League, who are assembling for the annual international convention. The president's telegram, which will be read at the opening session of the convention, is as follows:

"Pray express to the International Epworth League convention my heartiest greetings. I wish them God speed in working for the practical application of their motto: 'Look up; lift up!'"

Commissioners Go to Panama.

NEW YORK, July 5.—(Special.)—Gen. Peter C. Haines and Col. B. M. Harrod, members of the Panama canal commission, sailed for the isthmus today on the steamship Segurança to obtain data to present to the advisory board of engineers, which meets in Washington on September 1. The commissioners hope to complete their work in a week.

Street Car Smashes Auto.

An automobile belonging to L. L. Dilworth was struck by a Shady avenue car yesterday evening at Howe street and badly wrecked. The machine was turning out of Howe street to Shady and the chauffeur attempted to cross the tracks in front of the car. The car struck the rear end of the automobile, tearing off the rear wheel and badly smashing the bed of the machine. The driver of the machine was thrown to the pavement and received a severe scalp wound.

CITIZENS COMMITTEES SCORE DAVID MARTIN

Declare He Is "Ordinary Politician," No Better Than Durham, Whom He Succeeds.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The selection of ex-Senator David Martin as successor to Insurance Commissioner Israel W. Durham moved the committees of nine and seventy today to adopt resolutions characterizing Martin as an "ordinary politician," one not to be preferred above Durham, his predecessor.

The resolution of the committee of nine states that the committee wishes to record its "profound conviction that in this appointment Gov. Pennypacker has gratuitously affronted all honest citizens now seeking to redeem Philadelphia from the frightful misgovernment to which these two men (Martin and Durham) and their associates have so long condemned it."

The committee of seventy's resolution declares that the governor's appointment "is another evidence of the governor's lack of judgment in the selection of public officials and his hostility to reform sentiment."

Another feature of the day was the action of the city party in adopting a resolution declaring against "reform within the party."

On the best authority it is said the Weaver administration does not intend to make many more arrests.

In order to keep up the excitement an order was issued today to raid all the disorderly houses in the city. Hundreds of women were captured.

Ex-Judge Gordon announces he will go to New York tomorrow to confer with ex-Secretary of War Elihu Root and Joseph Auerbach, the private counsel of John M. Mack. The mayor today said:

> I will recognize no man as the political leader of this city. You may make this as emphatic as I say it. I know nothing in the prerogatives of the place or in the oath of office that entitles the mayor to name candidates for office. I have not been in politics and I am doing my best to keep out of politics. No individual may name the ticket; the people must do that. It is their right. I propose to do everything in my power to see that the people are not hindered in the naming of their ticket. The November ticket must be a peoples' ticket.

The fact remains that Mayor Weaver's administration, guided by Assistant Directors Hicks and South, is doing all in its power to disrupt the ward organizations. In a half dozen wards tonight, the mayor's orders were obeyed. Congressman George Castor lost control of his ward, as did Thomas Wiltbank and others of lesser political importance.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

SEEK NEW PASTORS.

Two Presbyterian Congregations Appoint Committees to Fill Pulpits.

At a congregational meeting of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church last evening a committee of five, consisting of J. McF. Carpenter, O. A. Miller, John McLaren, Dr. Sidney White and J. C. Breeden, was appointed to secure and present candidates to fill the pulpit which was made vacant by the resignation of the Rev. H. B. Hummell several months ago.

The congregation of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Liberty avenue, met last night and also appointed a committee for the same purpose. The Rev. Dr. W. P. Shrom recently retired as pastor of the congregation and was pensioned, having served the church over 20 years.

THIRD OF JAPANESE LOAN IS GIVEN TO NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 5.—Semi-official details concerning the latest Japanese loan of $150,000,000 were made public today. The bonds will bear interest at 4½ per cent and will be secured by a second lien upon the tobacco monopoly. The syndicate underwriting the loan consists of Parr's bank of London. The Hongkong and Shanghai banking corporation and the Yokohama specie bank, with whom are associated Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York and the Deutsche Asiatische bank of Berlin. New York gets $50,000,000 of the subscription. An interesting feature is Germany's direct participation in the loan.

Shot Firers Case Is Decided.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., July 5.—Information was received today at the headquarters of the Illinois Coal Operators association and of the United Mine Workers of Illinois that Judge George Gray, of Wilmington, Del., had given his decision in the shot firers' case and that it would be sent to Springfield.

Cloudburst at Manheim.

LANCASTER, July 5.—The Chickies valley from White Oak to Manheim was flooded by a cloudburst this evening. At Manheim houses are submerged to the second story and there is eight feet of water on the Lancaster and Manheim trolley tracks.

Death Bath of Molten Iron.

MARION, O., July 5.—(Special.)—Boiled to death in molten iron was the fate of William Ross, aged 40, and Charles Smith, aged 30, at Newcomerstown today. The accident occurred in the Clow pipe works.

July 18th Is the Next Date for the Pennsylvania Railroad Sixteen Day Seashore Excursion.

WATER COMPANY CHARTERS NO LONGER EASY TO OBTAIN

Seven Applications Are Being Held Up at Harrisburg Until Information Is Furnished as Required by the New Law.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Water companies hereafter applying for charters in Pennsylvania will be required to comply with rigid regulations prescribed by the state water supply commission, created by the recent legislature, before securing the privileges given them under the old system.

These companies will be required to furnish with their charter applications, maps showing in detail the source of the water supply and a description of such supply; written evidence showing the character and volume of the water and the proposed method of storing and distributing the water.

They will also be required to furnish the names of other companies, if any, using the water; the communities which are furnished with water from such source, and such other information as will enable the commission to act intelligently on the charter applications.

The applications of seven water companies are being held up by the commission until they comply with these regulations.

CZAR BOWS HIS HEAD TO THE INEVITABLE

Crushed by Defeats and by Disorders at Home, He Is Now Anxious Only for Peace.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—Japan has another proof that Russia has decided on peace in the abandonment of further mobilization in the St. Petersburg and other districts. The situation regarding the armistice is as follows:

Russia has formally signified to President Roosevelt her desire for a lasting peace not only by the appointment of plenipotentiaries who will be accompanied by eminent experts fully empowered to conclude a treaty subject only to the ratification of the respective governments, but as a final step has indicated her readiness to suspend hostilities. She has avoided formally asking for an armistice as a matter of pride, but under the circumstances Russia could hardly go further than she has.

The position of Russia is critical. The emperor crushed by the defeats in the far east and with almost civil war at home has bowed his head to the inevitable. He wants peace.

If Japan still insists in humbling the emperor's head into the dust and forcing a useless battle which will result in the loss of tens of thousands of lives, she may produce a cataclysm of anarchy greater than the French revolution which will leave her no government to negotiate with, besides threatening the peace of Europe.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

BRIDGE FIGHT GETS INTO DAUPHIN COURT

Erection of Structure in Jefferson County Is Cause for Litigation.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, July 5.—The Dauphin county court heard arguments today on a rule to show cause why the approval of a bill for costs of a state bridge by the Jefferson county commissioners should not be set aside.

The proceedings grew out of the erection of a state bridge over Red Bank creek, at Brookville. Senator Oscar E. Thomson of Phoenixville, the engineer to represent the state in the construction of the bridge, received 3 per cent on the total cost of the bridge, which is $69,500. The senator was afterward appointed superintendent of the operations, for which he filed an additional bill of 4 per cent.

The Jefferson county commissioners, Messrs. Webster, Hawk and Howe, approved these bills, but later alleged that they did so by mistake, and the matter was taken into the Dauphin county court for adjustment. Senator Fox of this city, who represented his colleague in the senate, argued that the proceedings were entirely regular and within the law.

Solicitor White of Jefferson county declared that the 7 per cent charges were excessive and that Thomson did not personally superintend the work, but delegated his authority to an assistant.

MURDERER CONFESSES.

Walter Wheaton, Life Prisoner, Says He Helped Kill George Carter at Franklin.

FRANKLIN, July 5.—(Special.)—District Attorney McBride made public tonight the confession of Walter Wheaton, that with George McKay he killed George Carter the night of August 10, 1898. Wheaton made the bargain with J. M. Anderson, he alleges, who was jealous of Carter, and received $12 for committing the crime.

Anderson has not been here since Wheaton was tried for the crime in 1898 and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Carter was shot through a window while sitting in his home. Wheaton and McKay were arrested for the crime and McKay confessed, making Wheaton the principal. McKay was sent to the reformatory and has since been released.

DEATH FAILS TO STOP FAMILY LITIGATION

GREENSBURG, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—Litigation over the fortune of "Uncle Jake" Byers, which formed the basis of a suit first heard in the local courts and later carried to the superior and the supreme courts, has not ended with his death. Mr. Byers left an estate worth $500,000. To-day J. R. Trauger and twenty other heirs of Mr. Byers' wife brought an action of ejectment against Marion Franklin Byers to gain possession of the farm willed to him. The tract is worth $180,000. Mrs. Byers inherited the farm from the estate of her father, Abram Brinker, and her heirs allege that Jacob Byers never gained full possession of the property.

DAVIDSON FAMILY HOLDS ITS REUNION

NEW CASTLE, July 5.—(Special.)—The annual reunion of the Davidson family of Lawrence and Beaver counties was held yesterday at the home of Pierce Hazen of North Sewickley, Beaver county. Some 200 were in attendance. The following officers were elected: President, Fred Davidson, New Castle; vice president, Stewart Pierce, Ellwood City; secretary, Miss Eva Davidson, New Castle; treasurer, J. R. Davidson, Wampum.

Will Contest Her Father's Will.

GREENSBURG, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lucy Cowan Lowry of Chicago will institute proceedings at an early date to have the will of her father, the late Dr. Frank Cowan, set aside on the ground that he was not mentally competent. After her mother's death the daughter is alleged to have been induced to assign a portion of her interest in the estate to Dr. Cowan.

BOY BATHERS MEET DEATH IN THE ALLEGHENY RIVER

George Loeffler and Peter Feeney Both Go Down in Full View of Young Companions.

The Allegheny river claimed two victims yesterday from the hundreds of small boys that daily go swimming in the stream. In both cases the boys had companions with them who became frightened, and were powerless to render aid.

George Loeffler, aged 14, living at 1204 East street, Allegheny, was drowned shortly after 7 o'clock last evening while swimming at the foot of Grantham street. His cries attracted his companions, but before any aid could be given he floated under the Columbia club boathouse. His body was recovered a short time later.

Peter Feeney, aged 10, of 608 West Lacock street, Allegheny, was drowned at the mouth of the Allegheny river yesterday afternoon, shortly after 1 o'clock. With John Kidd and Harry Donnelly the lad went skiff riding and the small boat was pulled out into the stream to catch the waves of the steamer Margaret. Feeney became frightened, thinking the skiff would upset, and jumped out. He sank immediately and those who worked all afternoon below the Union bridge failed to recover the body.

The body of Harold Robinson of Wilkinsburg, who was drowned in the Monongahela river while bathing opposite Homestead, Tuesday, was recovered yesterday. He was 21 years old and a member of the Odd Fellows and Heptasophs.

The body of a man supposed to be Stephen Welsh, who was drowned Monday night in the Monongahela river at the foot of South Twenty-ninth street, was found yesterday at the foot of South Twenty-fifth street and taken to the morgue. He was in a boat with Ernest Goth, which was overturned. Goth was saved.

Edward Bredrick, aged 13, of 43 Kramer street, Mt. Washington, an errand boy for J. D. Murdock & Co., of 537 Liberty avenue, died on the way to the Allegheny General hospital at 4:15 p. m., yesterday, of injuries received a short time before in the elevator shaft in the John Fite building at 546 Liberty avenue. The boy was found in the cellar at the foot of the elevator shaft, his body and back badly crushed. It is not known how he was hurt, but it is supposed he went into the Fite building on an errand and put his head into the elevator shaft on the second floor and was struck by the cage as it came down.

The body of James H. Snyder was recovered from the Monongahela river near Elizabeth, yesterday. He was a passenger on the Island Queen on the Fourth and fell into the river and was drowned a short distance from where the body was found. Snyder was 21 years old, unmarried and was a laborer. His home was in Brownsville.

Are Appointed Special Examiners.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Pennsylvania's commissioner of health, has appointed all the medical examiners of the Pennsylvania railroad's voluntary relief department and the Philadelphia & Reading Relief association to be special medical inspectors in the state department of health for those two railroads. These appointments carry with them no salaries from the state. Among the examiners are: Dr. W. K. T. Sahm, Pittsburgh; Dr. J. B. Hileman, Pitcairn, and Dr. J. C. Lemmer, Oil City.

Wilkinsburg Boy Drowns in Canada.

Dr. O. L. Blachley of Wilkinsburg received a telegram yesterday morning notifying him of the drowning of his son at Jackson Point, Can., on July 4. The young man had gone to Canada with his brother, Stephen, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas of Wilkinsburg, a week ago. He was a sophomore at Washington & Jefferson college.

KENSINGTON PLANTS START UP NON-UNION

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company was partly successful today in its attempt to start its plants here and have them operated by non-union workmen. At the Pittsburgh works, which contains seven mills, a union plant since it was built, two crews reported for work and made tin plate all day. But one crew reported at the other plant, which has been operated as an open mill for months.

Fined for Selling "Crackers."

WASHINGTON, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—Six local merchants were arrested today charged with selling cannon firecrackers containing a compound which is highly explosive. They pleaded guilty and paid fines of $10 each. Information against others has been made.

Will Defy the Amalgamated.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 5.—(Special.)—The puddlers of the lower plant of the American Steel Hoop Company will make the final move toward returning to work in defiance of the Amalgamated association tomorrow night.

Pittsburghers in the Deal.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 5.—(Special.)—About 1,500 acres of coal three miles south of this place, in Amwell township, has been sold to Pittsburgh and New York capitalists at $100 an acre. Already an advance payment of $1 has been made to the farmers owning the surface.

The Death Roll.

Emma Wallace.

Emma Wallace, aged 63, of 1104 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, one of the oldest and probably the most widely known public school teachers in the district, died yesterday at the Homeopathic hospital. She was born in Pittsburgh and taught at the Forbes street public school for more than 33 years. She was deeply interested in religious work and for 25 years was a member of the old Cumberland Presbyterian church which formerly stood on the site now occupied by the Duquesne club. Deceased was the last member of an old Pittsburgh family.

Mrs. Alexander Baird.

Mrs. Alexander Baird, aged 60, died yesterday at her home, 1807 River avenue, McKeesport, from a complication of diseases. She had been a resident of McKeesport for 17 years, coming from Scotland; was a member of the Central Presbyterian church, and is survived by her husband and four children—Miss Belle Buchanan, a school teacher; Thomas Buchanan, a fireman, and Mrs. Peter Hope, all of McKeesport, and Mrs. John Forrester of British

Mrs. Malissa T. McKee.

Mrs. Malissa T. McKee, widow of Frederick McKee, died last night at the home of her son-in-law, William E. Carnahan, Fifth and South Highland avenues, East End, of heart disease, after a long illness. Mrs. McKee is survived by one son, Attorney Frederick W. McKee, and a daughter, Mrs. Melissa S. McKee Carnahan.

Mrs. Elizabeth Burry.

Mrs. Elizabeth Burry, aged 83, died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. C. Smith of Ohio avenue, Glassport, from general debility. Mrs. Burry had been an invalid for 12 years. Her husband died several years ago, any no children survive.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Phila Grumbley, aged 92 years, a pioneer resident of Salineville, O., is dead at her home.

Edwin Schaarschmidt, aged 61, died Tuesday at St. Francis' hospital from a complication of diseases. For 30 years he had been shipping clerk for the Carnegie Steel Company at their upper union mills.

Mrs. Mary Fitzsimmons, aged 63, widow of John Fitzsimmons, died Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Green, on Grove street, Sewickley. She is survived by one son—Frank Fitzsimmons.

General Amasa Cobb, brigadier general of volunteers during the civil war, veteran of the Mexican war, formerly congressman and justice of the supreme court of Nebraska, died yesterday at Los Angeles, aged 72 years.

Col. Jefferson E. Doolittle, 52 years old, a prominent mine owner and capitalist of California, died suddenly yesterday at San Francisco. He was a partner in many ventures with John Hays Hammond, and was well known in New York financial circles.

AMERICANS ARE OBJECTS OF FRENCH COURTESY

Special Ambassadors Are Wined and Dined by High Officials of French Republic.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, July 5.—Premier and Madame Rouvier gave a luncheon at the foreign office today in honor of the special ambassadors of the United States and others connected with the ceremonies attendant on the removal of the body of Admiral Paul Jones from France to the United States.

Gen. Porter, Mr. Loomis and Admiral Sigsbee later visited the town hall, where M. Brousse, president of the municipal council, surrounded by high functionaries of the city of Paris, gave a hearty welcome to the American officials. During the afternoon the American party attended a garden party at the Austrian embassy.

M. Thomson, minister of marine, and Madame Thomson gave an elaborate dinner this evening in honor of the special ambassadors and the officers of the American squadron.

CIVIL SERVICE POSITIONS.

One Is Reserved for Negro, Another for College Graduate With Degree.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces examinations to be held as follows:

On July 12 and 13 for first assistant surgeon at the Freedmen's hospital at a salary of $1,500 per annum. This position is open to all male citizens of the United States. As this is an institution for colored patients, it is understood that the department appoints only colored persons to positions therein.

WHETHER YOU LIVE OR DIE

An Equitable Policy is a wise and profitable investment.

During the six months ending July 1, the Pittsburgh Agency of the Equitable Life paid 91 death claims, amounting to $608,074.93, or more than $100,000 a month—90 of these claims were paid within 24 hours after proofs of death were received—the other within 2 days.

During the same period, in settling 52 maturing twenty year Dividend Policies, the total premiums on which amounted to $105,872.50, Cash Dividends amounting to $42,075.94 were paid—an average of over 40 per cent on the whole 52 policies.

Thus it will be seen that the holders of Equitable Policies who survived, reaped a handsome profit, and the beneficiaries of those who died—most of them widows and orphans—were provided with immediate available means—the booklet "Growth" gives some interesting facts about the Equitable—call or write for it.

E. J. FRAUENHEIM'S WILL IS FILED

Late City Treasurer Leaves Estate Valued at $750,000 to Wife and Children.

RESERVOIR EVIDENCE ALL IN

Attorneys Fagan and Magee yesterday filed the will of Edward J. Frauenheim, late city treasurer. It disposes of an estate estimated at three-quarters of a million dollars. The will was dated November 28, 1904, and is as follows:

"I, Edward J. Frauenheim, of the city of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county, and state of Pennsylvania, do make, publish and declare my last will and testament as follows, to wit:

"First. I give, devise and bequeath all my estate of every nature and kind, real, personal and mixed, to my beloved wife, Marie Antoinette Frauenheim, for and during the term of her natural life, and at her death to my children, share and share alike, the issue of any child or children who shall have predeceased me or my said wife, to take by representation such share as his, her or their parent would take if surviving.

"Second. I authorize and empower my executrix, hereinafter named, to sell and dispose of any and all of my real estate, either at public or private sale or sales, for the best price that can be obtained for the same, and by proper deed or deeds to grant and assure the same to the purchaser or purchasers thereof in fee simple, and to invest the proceeds thereof in other real estate, or in personal property, as she may think best, and to sell and dispose of any real estate acquired as aforesaid and to invest the proceeds as hereinbefore set forth. I likewise authorize and empower my said executrix to retain and carry on, to convert and reconvert any and all securities and personal property held by me, and invest and reinvest the proceeds of such conversion in other personal property or in real estate. The sale of any of such real estate or personal property to be without liability on the part of the purchaser for the proper application of the purchase price.

Names Wife as Executrix.

"Third. I nominate and appoint my said wife, Marie Antoinette Frauenheim, executrix of this my last will and testament." Letters testamentary were issued to Mrs. Frauenheim at once.

In the case of Jonathan Clark's Sons Company vs. the city of Pittsburgh over the Highland reservoir contract, being heard before Judge Acheson, the testimony for both sides was completed and the case will be argued at 10 a. m. Tuesday of next week.

Witnesses for the defense were Franz Engestron, Charles A. Finley and O. M. Mowal, assistant engineers for the city, and John C. Glenn and E. K. Collins, embankment inspectors. Their testimony was to the effect that the rollers used by the plaintiff company on the contract were too light for the work; that much of the stone placed on the ground was condemned because it was broken and otherwise faulty; that it seemed that the contract was in every way too big for the company to handle.

Judge Buffington handed down an opinion in the equity suit of the Mississippi Glass Company vs. Nicholas Franzen. The plaintiff company brought suit to compel the defendant to assign to it a patent for a process of manufacturing wire glass, claiming that he agreed when employed by the company to turn over to it any patent invented while in its employ. On October 13, 1903, Franzen took out the patent in question, but left the employ of the company in May, 1903. The court rules that the testimony proved that Franzen invented the patent before he went into the employ of the company, and therefore dismissed the suit.

Gets Three Years for Burglary.

Joe Cogaweppo was sentenced three years to the penitentiary on a charge of burglary, by Judge Kennedy. He was accused by Madeline Antono of Wilmerding, with breaking into her house and stealing $400 in cash from a trunk. "Whitey" Dale was also sent three years to the same institution for robbing the office of the Allegheny granite works.

Hugh McCauley and Edward Brown pleaded guilty to robbing the stores of Alex Klien and J. G. Funk, at East Pittsburgh, and were sentenced four months to the workhouse. William McCauley, indicted for the same robberies, stood trial and was acquitted. Other cases disposed of were: John Sunoski, felonious assault, six months to the workhouse; Joseph Dolesky, felonious assault, six months to the workhouse; Robert Johnston, entering a building, three months to the workhouse; Morris O'Connor, felony, convicted; John Beggs, unlawful wounding, 18 months to the workhouse; B. R. Barker, misdemeanor, four months to the workhouse; Mrs. Annie B. Miller, misdemeanor, convicted.

Harry S. Robb, doing business under the name of the Fayette Milling Company, has sued the Millers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company for $5,000 which he alleges is due on an insurance policy. He says his mill was destroyed by fire January 29, last, and he says the company has not paid the amount for which he had it insured.

Claims Desertion for 29 Years.

Mary Jane Thompson of Allegheny, has sued William Thompson for a divorce after 29 years, she alleges, of continuous desertion on his part. They were married December 25, 1869, she sets forth in her libel, and he left her, she says, in October, 1875.

Judge Young granted decrees in the following divorce cases: Maggie J. Stafford against George H. Stafford; Mary E. Hoos versus George Hoos; Margaret Ryan versus William J. Ryan; Clara W. Jeffrey versus Robert R. Jeffrey; Stella M. Orr versus Chambers S. Orr. Desertion was charged in each case.

Common pleas court No. 1 granted a decree in the divorce suit of Lydia B. Randolph versus E. N. Raid[illegible]. The grounds for the divorce were alleged to be desertion.

Samuel Magellan Rhoabergir, a merchant at Clarendon, Warren county, filed a petition in bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at $3,322.90 and his assets at $2,128.67.

Judge Buffington continued until the September term the case of the D[illegible]ier Engineering Company of Philadelphia vs. the Keystone Electric Company of Erie for $40,000 damages for breach of contract in the sale of a lot of machinery.

By the will of Hannah M. Pare an estate of $3,800 is left to her nephew, John F. F. McCloy. Attorney William A. Jordan has the estate in charge.

Charter for Sons of Veterans.

A charter has been applied for by Col. John I. Nevin, Troop A, Sons of Veterans, of Allegheny. The officers are: Captain, W. C. Martin; lieutenants, F. S. Gemmel and W. S. Moffatt. Attorney R. R. Elder is the solicitor.

Joseph Stipetich charges Nick Porubich with alienating the affecations of his wife. He asks $10,000 damages, and had a capias issued for the defendant's arrest.

An order was made leaving Ruth E. Hepner, aged three years, with her grandparents until further order of court, in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Susannah Hepner, the child's mother. She alleged the child was in the father's custody and was at the home of George Hepner, the child's grandfather. Mrs. Hepner, the petitioner, alleged her husband was in jail in default of a bond for her support. The court in making the order allowed the mother to have free access to the child and to see it at least once a week.

In the habeas corpus proceedings of Bertha Winkler against Peter Winkler for the possession of her infant child the court ordered the child to be given to its mother, but that the father be allowed to see it at least once a week. Attorney F. C. Grote represented the mother.

Executions issued: Samuel S. Little vs. John I. Shaw, $556; Mary J. Jack vs. Adeline M. Cooper et al., $1,097; Dimes Savings, Building and Loan association, Sharpsburg, vs. James R. McGeary, executor, et al., $2,558.

CAMPBELL TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Missing Witness Causes Commonwealth to Defer the Case Until September.

WILKINSON IS NOT LOCATED

Owing to the absence of an important witness for the commonwealth, the trial of Melvin H. Campbell, former superintendent of police of Allegheny, charged with extortion in accepting $50 to permit the opening of a disorderly house in Allegheny, will go over until the September term of criminal court. This is the second trial of Campbell for the same offense, he having been convicted in the first trial and awarded another chance, owing to a defect in the evidence as compared with the indictment. The postponement was asked by District Attorney R. E. Stewart, after the case was started, and was agreed to by Attorneys Robertson and Ferguson, representing Campbell.

While a jury was being called in the case, Constable W. E. Wright of Millvale came into the court room and tried to persade Mollie Carson, the star witness for the commonwealth, to accompany him to another part of the building to go on the bond of a woman whom he had arrested. The Carson woman, however, refused to leave until after it was determined to postpone the case, when she went on the bond. The case was started before Judge McClung.

After the court had announced that the case would not go on, Attorneys Marron and Haymaker left the court room. They refused to give the name of the missing witness, because, they said, it would have a bad effect on others and might injure the case. The witness is a woman and had not been heard in any of the graft cases to date. They refused to say whether any more graft cases will be taken up at this term or not, although others are on the trial list. If the witness wanted has left town, the matter will be investigated.

Campbell Apparently Satisfied.

Campbell appeared to be contented that the case was postponed. He would not discuss it, however, and studiously avoided talking on that subject. At the first trial the court decided that Campbell was placed in a bad position owing to the fact that he was convicted of two charges, whereas the indictment only referred to one. When the jury was first called Attorneys Marron and Haymaker discovered that two important witnesses were missing and two subsequent juries were called so as to enable all three criminal courts to get in operation. At the calling of the third jury the witnesses whose presence were desired had not appeared, and both attorneys left the court room. The anti-graft sleuth, whose work is responsible for the anti-graft crusade and who secured evidence that led to the arrest of S. L. Wilkinson on the charge of embracery, the first case of its kind where the evidence was said to be strong, was sent to look for the witnesses. He succeeded in finding one, but the case had to be postponed until 1 o'clock. In the afternoon the second missing witness was still absent.

Late last evening it was decided that the trial of Director Thomas B. Scandrett, whose case was set for today, will also go over until the September term.

Wilkinson Still Missing.

Samuel C. Wilkinson has not been apprehended. The attorneys for the commonwealth say they will have no trouble finding Wilkinson. They refuse to state, however, whether they have a clew or not. His case remains on the trial list. If they do not get Wilkinson an effort will be made to bring a few more jury fixers to trial, as enough evidence against at least three has been secured to make an attempt at it. The only reason others have not been arrested is because the evidence is not good enough to make a sure thing of the case. They are being watched, however, and if they try the game over again, they will be arrested at once and a chance taken that the evidence will be strong enough, even if it is not as good as they claim to have in the Wilkinson case.

HARMONY AMONG THE RULE MAKERS

Chairman Ford Hopes to Have Them Agree Before County Committee Meets.

DESIRE UNIFORM PARTY LAWS

There will be a meeting this week of the Republican conference committee on revision of the rules. After this gathering, it may be possible to tell whether there will be a fight in the county committee at the meeting on July 15.

The conference committee is made up of sub-committees representing the county, Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport organizations. The report now being sent to the county committeemen was adopted by the sub-committee of the county committee. Chairman Ford wants the conference committee to go over it, and thinks it is possible the rule-makers will all agree.

If the conference committee does not agree to take out the proviso which allows the Pittsburgh and Allegheny city committees to hold the primaries which the election boards provided for in their rules, the question will be carried before the county committee. At present it is not known that a majority of the conference committee favors the proviso. Its insertion prevents the adoption of uniform rules.

The conference committee will also have the question of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport rules before it. The proposition to change the basis by representation in the Pittsburgh city committee will receive consideration. Chairman W. A. Magee says there has been a good deal of talk of the necessity of a change.

"It will be a question for city committee to decide," said he. "The same committee must also decide whether city candidates are to be nominated by a direct vote, and I think their decision should be made before the September primaries."

Chairman Leslie says he believes there is no general demand for a change in the apportioning of seats on the city committee. In his opinion the proposition is absurd and predicts it will not be adopted by the city committee this year or any other year.

Select Councilman William McKelvey of the Eighth ward has sold his wholesale liquor store to Harry Braman. McKelvey is complying with the license court rule forbidding a councilman to engage in the liquor trade. McKelvey prefers to remain in councils and will seek a reelection on the Citizens ticket next spring.

The deadlock in the school board of Ben Avon resulted yesterday in the old board being turned out and a new one appointed. The board failed to effect an organization after several meetings and the matter was brought before quarter sessions court in a petition for relief presented by George Lysle and others. Yesterday afternoon Judge John M. Kennedy handed down an order removing the board, that consisted of William Flaccus, John C. Bragdon, George H. Alexander, John H. Watts, James H. Irons and Charles N. Harwood. In their places Judge Kennedy appointed John Wilhelm, C. H. Stone, Charles H. Hayes, W. Wallace Miller, H. S. Scribner and A. C. Knox.

Director Bigelow, Mayor Hays and Controller Larkin have declared for former Congressman James W. Brown as a candidate for mayor. Mr. Brown had a conference with Mayor Hays yesterday.

OUTING AT SEA GIRT FOR THE BOYS' BRIGADE

Pittsburgh and Homestead Companies Will Have Special Over B. & O. Railroad.

Arrangements were completed yesterday by Col. H. P. Bope, commander-in-chief of the United Boys' Brigades of America, for the annual outing arranged by him and Col. Asor Hunt for the members of the Pittsburgh and Homestead companies. This outing will be held at Sea Girt, N. J., on the permanent camping ground of the New Jersey National guard. It will last 10 days, from July 21 to 31.

The party leaving Pittsburgh will number about 275. It will occupy a special train on Friday, July 21, over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, with six coaches, a Pullman car and a baggage car. Two of these cars will be filled at Braddock station, where the members of Col. Hunt's command will march to join their comrades. A representative of the B. & O., possibly Assistant General Passenger Agent J. P. Taggart, will go along.

Of the party about 200 will be the members of the Brigade. The remainder will be the cooks and waiters. There will also be some ladies in the party.

Each of the members are making contributions towards the expense of the trip, and these are supplemented by the officers, the result being that a thoroughly enjoyable trip is made possible.

The national encampment of the organization is to be held in Pittsburgh October 7, 8 and 9. Committees are at work now on the plans for the entertainment of the members during their visit here.

Applications for loans on improved real estate in Allegheny county in large or small amounts will be promptly answered by the Peoples Savings bank, Fourth avenue and Wood street. No commission is charged and rates for title examination are reasonable.

Dizzy Spells

That dizzy spell is an important message from the heart—a plea for help.

If this message receives no attention others come: shortness of breath, palpitation, weak or fainting spells, smothering or choking sensations, pains around the heart, in side or shoulders, and so on, until it receives the necessary help, or is compelled to give up—stop. You may furnish this aid with which cures heart disease in every stage.

Every day we read of sudden deaths from heart disease, yet it is a fact that the heart had been pleading for help, and gave up the struggle only when it had exhausted the last spark of vitality.

"I was taken down with heart trouble and dropsy, and my family doctor said there was no chance for me. I set up three months to keep from smothering. A trial bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure helped me, and I got 5 bottles, which entirely cured me."

HOSACK FILES ANSWERS.

Pittsburgh Attorney Will Represent Proposed New Street Railway Companies at Harrisburg.

Attorney George M. Hosack of Pittsburgh has filed an answer at the state department in Harrisburg to the protests against the granting of charters of the Ambridge, Leetsdale & Edgeworth Street Railway Co. Hosack will also appear for the charters.

In his answer he says he is advised the Leetsdale Borough Street Railway Co. is not a valid corporation under the laws of Pennsylvania, and has no standing to protest against the incorporation of the new railway company. He explains it by showing what charters were granted for the route in controversy, and claiming that no valid charter had expired before another company had taken the route. He alleges the Leetsdale Borough Street Railway Company's charter conflicted with other charters at its date of issue. He further claims the protesting company is nothing but a partnership, and is under capitalized according to the act of 1889, rendering its charter invalid.

Mr. Hosack also filed answers to the protests to the incorporation of the Ambridge, Edgeworth & Sewickley Street Railway Co.; Ambridge, Sewickley & Osborne Street Railway Co.; Ambridge, Osborne & Haysville Street Railway Co.; Haysville & Glenfield Street Railway Co.; Ambridge, Glenfield & Dixmont Street Railway Co., and the Ambridge, Dixmont & Emsworth Street Railway Co. He claims the persons protesting have no standing whatever; that the authority to construct over the Beaver road must be obtained from the councils of the several boroughs through which the respective roads are to be constructed, and that they must appear before their respective councils. He further claims these few people assume to speak for a population of over 80,000 for a road extending over 12 miles, and that they therefore assume a selfish guardianship and have no standing. The same route has been covered time and again by street railway charters, many of which were only in the hands of promoters, but they fear the necessary consents will now be granted, hence the protest.

The people who invest their money in the real estate of BROOKLINE

THE 15-MINUTE SUBURB

will get it back with more profit than famed the records of Squirrel Hill

BROOKLINE, the 15-minute suburb, is the first lot plan of Greater Pittsburgh that was ever laid out on a magnificent scale.

There have been some splendid plans with street improvements put on the market, but not one that looked so much as if it were being prepared to receive an immense population, ready and willing to make it its home.

Husbands and wives who contemplate establishing new homes have never before come to us with such wonderful enthusiasm.

What gives them this enthusiasm? The remarkable fifteen-minute run from the city through the Tunnel over our great speed rail trolley wouldn't alone give it to them. Level property, fifteen minutes from the city, alone wouldn't do it. But Brookline's street improvements and metropolitan possibilities have, in their stupendous scope, such a fascination that it is impossible for the real home-seekers to resist the temptation which the unusualness of the whole thing sets forth.

People do not come to Brookline solely with the thought of "How much money will I make from my purchase?" Of course, the "money question" is a great point with them, but it is NOT THEIR ONLY POINT.

"What part of the property would be best suited for the residence I expect to build?" "What location would give the best view of the surrounding country?" The number of questions like these being put to our salesmen demonstrates that Brookline will be the seat of lovely homes before many of the older good plans shall have revealed any extensive building activity.

There's a psychological influence which takes hold of everybody who looks at this marvelous city-building project. A psychological truth is responsible for this psychological influence. When you feel that a wonderful promise is true and then see with your own eyes that it is true, what more could you desire?

Those who investigate Brookline want nothing more, could expect nothing more—they're satisfied.

All the streets are being paved or macadamized, many have stone curbing and granolithic-stone sidewalks, all of them are graded and sewered, all of them electric-lighted, all have city water and gas—nothing is missing.

Lots double-size and prices $100 to $1,000. Just about as many at $100 as at $1,000. Terms, 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly. No interest nor taxes for you to pay for two years.

Remember that you can catch one of the NEW BROOKLINE CARS anywhere on Smithfield Street or at the Union, B. & O. or P. & L. E. Depot. These cars make the run from the points mentioned in 20, 12 and 10 minutes, respectively, barring occasional delays on the switches. But switches will be done away with altogether in a few weeks. Second track will soon be laid, and then the dash from the Pittsburgh Postoffice through the Tunnel to Brookline will be just 15 minutes by the watch.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 5.—Fred Clarke's band of Piratical sluggers put a large crimp in the second place aspirations of Selee's hopefuls today, when in the eleventh inning they grew reckless with their bats, drove five runs across the plate and won the hard-fought contest, 8 to 3.

For the first three innings Dame Nature furnished an "eel ball" that neither Weimer nor Case, who were the box artists, could handle to advantage, and each side accumulated three runs before the rain, which descended in a gentle drizzle, subsided. The downpour was enough to keep the ball slippery, but not enough to stop the playing. After the sun reappeared in the fourth and dried the ground both men settled down to hard and effective work. Weimer, who has heretofore had something on the Pittsburgh players, was put in by Captain Chance to assure the dragging down of Clarke's men from second place. He performed well until the fatal eleventh, and then exploded.

The contest was the first of a series of five, and, combined with the popularity of the Pittsburghers the fact that the series must settle position in the pennant race, caused a big week-day crowd to assemble. Clarke sprung a surprise by presenting a new face and a new lineup. Davy Brain of St. Louis was at third and Tommy Leach appeared a diminutive speck away out in center garden. Beaumont is in poor condition just now, and Clarke will rest him as long as the new combination works as well as it did today.

The trade of McBride to St. Louis for Brain was made this morning, and was not clinched too soon, for Frank Selee has had an eye on Brain since the St. Louis shake-up. But Selee is sick in bed, and Clarke got the man. Fred said tonight that he had been after Brain for some time, and as St. Louis was anxious to get McBride, there was little difficulty in completing the negotiations. Brain has played with the Cardinals for two seasons, going there from the Buffalo team of the Eastern league. He is considered one of the best infielders in the country, and ranks high as a third baseman. He has been at outs with the St. Louis club for some time, and it is believed by many that he was not playving the ball he was capable of doing because he did not have his heart on the game.

Chicago started the game with a grand rush, and appeared to have a soft thing. They landed hard on Case in the first inning, getting four hits, which netted them two runs. Their lead was of short duration, for the Pirates came back smiling in the second inning and pounded in two runs, evening up the score. Then, in the next round, three singles in a row put the visitors to the good. The ball was still "eely," however, and the score was again tied in the Chicago half. Then the rain ceased, the ball raised to normal condition, and Case and Weimer settled down to some grand pitching.

It was give and take, the batters going out in almost regular order. Things went on this way until the ninth, and the fans settled themselves down to see a repetition of yesterday's twenty-inning game in the east. But it was not to be, for some blunders by Evers in the eleventh apparently took the heart out of "Tornado Jake," and it was all over. The Pittsburgh bats looked like railroad ties, and they hammered the ball to every part of the lot. The five runs that galloped in left no room for doubt, and the Chicagoans were disposed of in one-two-three order in their half. The score:

BURSTING WATER MAIN CAUSES FIRE ALARM

A 16-inch water main of the Ohio Valley Water Company burst at Jackman avenue and Second street at 6:30 yesterday morning and caused an alarm of fire to be telephoned to the Avalon volunteer fire company. A woman living in the neighborhood was awakened by the roar of the water rushing from the bursted pipe and seeing the spray imagined it was flames and that the whole neighborhood was on fire. The water supply of a portion of Avalon had to be shut off until the break had been repaired.

RAIN SPOILS PITCHERS' BATTLE AT HOMESTEAD

Russell for Pittsburgh Collegians and Osborne for Steel Workers Are in Fine Mettle.

The Pittsburgh Collegians and Homestead started a game yesterday at Homestead that gave every promise of being a very interesting affair, but rain came down in torrents in the Collegians' half of the fourth inning, and the game was called. Earl Russell was on the rubber for the Collegians, and he was dividing honors with Arch Osborne. Neither team scored, and neither side got but one man on first. Kennoy singled in the first inning, but Russell nabbed West's bounder and threw to Moffet, who doubled up West at first. Moffet was the first up in the fourth, and he grounded out, Osborne to West. Price hit into right, and then the rain started to fall.

The Collegians will be idle today, but tomorrow they will play at Braddock and Saturday will play the Turtle Creek Athletics at Turtle Creek. Don Doyle and "Toots" Shultz will do the pitching in these games. Next week the Collegians will be at Atlantic City. Score of yesterday's affair:

AMERICAN CREW BEATEN IN THE HENLEY REGATTA

Quakers Gave Leanders the Hardest Race That Eight Ever Had, but Could Not Win.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HENLEY, ENG., July 5.—The Leanders defeated the Vespers of Philadelphia today in the second heat for the grand challenge cup. The Englishmen won by a length. Time 7 minutes 1 second.

As the boats came up to the line preparatory to the start the British oarsmen seemed the most composed of the two crews. The boats got away together but the nervousness of the Philadelphians was shown in the splashing which marked their first half dozen strokes. The Leanders started with a stroke of 41 to the minute and the Vespers with 39. The nose of the British craft forged slightly to the front but there was not much to choose between them when they passed Temple Island in the record time of 47 seconds. The Philadelphians, however, soon began to give signs that the hard work was telling on them. The Leanders dropped their stroke to 37 but the Vespers could not diminish the lead of half a length which the home crew had already obtained. This was increased to a full length. When three quarters of a mile had been covered the Leanders again slowed down their stroke to 34, but they always maintained a safe lead. In the last quarter the Vespers made a desperate spurt and Exley quickened his stroke rapidly. The Americans responded and their boat gradually forged up until only three-quarters of a length separated the two boats. The effort, however, was futile. The Leanders had plenty in hand. They responded to the spurt of their opponents and passed the winning post a full length in front. Both crews finished strong.

Harry Willis, the Leander coach, admitted that his heart was in his mouth during most of the race. "The Vespers," Willis said, beat all my anticipations before the race. I expected them to play out half way but they pushed the Leanders to the finish. They are as fine a crew as ever crossed the Atlantic. I have always contended that the English leg drive combined with their swing is better than the long slide. But I must admit that this race does not prove that our methods are superior to those of the Americans."

In the second heat of the semi-finals for the Grand Challenge cup the Belgians beat the London Rowing club by three lengths. Time 7 minutes, 20 seconds.

HARRISBURG SHUT OUT.

Johnstown Scores One Run and Wins Game—Tri-State Results.

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Both Brackenridge and Glendon pitched gilt-edged ball this afternoon and neither side could score until the eighth inning, when Johnstown secured the only run of the game on a base on balls, followed by a sacrifice and two singles. Both teams fielded in great style. Score:

GORDON BENNETT RACE FOR THERY

Frenchman Wins Blue Ribbon International Auto Event Over Auvergre Course.

AMERICANS SHOW POORLY

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLERMONT-FERRAND, July 5.—The international automobile cup remains in France, thanks to the combined genius of MM. Brasier and Thery. On the same machine which triumphed in the French eliminating race, and on the same circuit, Thery once more came rushing to victory this afternoon over the Nuvergne course, as cool, apparently, as when he set out, winning from the Italian champion, Lancia.

An enormous crowd witnessed the race and gave enthusiastic greeting to Thery as he crossed the line a winner. Soon after the start Lancia began to draw up on Thery, finally passing him and securing six minutes' lead, when his machine broke down. Thereafter Thery had the race his own way, finishing in 7 hours 10 minutes, with Cagno, another Italian, second; Nazzari, third, Gatlota, fourth, and Earp, fifth. Three Americans started, but they did not make a notable showing.

I was in the grandstand by the side of Mr. Brasier as the cannon boomed out announcing the approach of a machine which every Frenchman present hoped might be Thery's. As the trumpet some 100 yards away signaled the nearer approach of the vehicle I could see the muscles of M. Brasier's face tighten and his hand tremble just a little as he held his field glass on the furtherest point of the dark brown road. A crash of cheering followed the bugle note with a dull roar which seemed to keep pace with the advancing machine. There was no more room to doubt. No other driver could be hailed in such a way, and no other likely winner was expected just then.

Instead of watching the road I kept my eyes on M. Brasier. Suddenly he let fall his glass and, turning to those around him, coolly remarked: "It is he."

It was certainly Thery. The blue machine flashed past the stands like a bullet, the excited crowd wildly cheering, shrieking and gesticulating as only a French crowd can. The next moment M. Brasier was swept up in the arms of a hundred sympathizers and, in a far more perilous position than Thery was ever placed, was rushed toward the garage in which Thery was quietly storing his invincible engine.

From M. Brasier the crowd turned to Thery and literally hurled him to the tribunes, where he was again received with frantic applause. Ladies rushed forward and kissed him, despite his besmirched countenance, and children sprang into his arms to be saluted.

WRIGHT AND WARD ARE BEATEN IN FAST TENNIS

LONDON, July 5.—Beals C. Wright and Holcombe Ward retired today from the all-England doubles tennis championship, only after what was conceded to be the most magnificent exhibition of lawn tennis ever seen at Wimbledon. S. H. Smith, the Welch champion, and Frank L. Riseley, one of the best exponents of tennis in England, their opponents, played at the top of their form, Smith's driving being especially brilliant.

In the first set the Americans simply smothered the Britishers, but the effort seemed to tire them and they lost the second and third sets by ill-judged play. The "fireworks" began in the fourth set, when Wright commenced to play the game of his life, ably assisted by Ward. The Americans won the first four games, with the Britishers contesting every point, but in the fast play, which continued to the end, the Britishers finally got the upper hand and took the set, 9-7.

DAVE BRAIN PROVES HIS WORTH TO PIRATES

Deal Was Consummated Yesterday, and Former Cardinal Helped to Defeat Chicago.

The long-talked-of deal between the Pittsburgh and St. Louis clubs for the exchange of Players McBride and Brain was finally consummated yesterday, and the former Cardinal who joined the Pirates in Chicago yesterday morning proved of great value to the team in winning the opening game of the series for Clarke's crew. Brain covered third base, Leach going to middle field in place of Beaumont, who has been allowed to go home to rest up his injured legs.

In yesterday's game Brain only had one fielding chance, which he accepted all right, but it was at bat where he made his presence felt, as he had two hits, one for two bases and the other a three-bagger. He also scored two of the Pirates' runs. In the deal the St. Louis club not only gets Player McBride, but $2,500 in cash as well. Both President Dreyfuss and Manager Clarke say that the deal will prove a good one for the Pittsburgh club. Last season Brain had a batting average of .266, which is good for an infielder.

Homer Hillebrand, the Pirates' clever utility player, had an experience on the Fourth of July he will not forget in a hurry. The baseball team of the Pittsburgh Field club, which is made up of Ed Young and a lot of other ex-college players, had a game on with the Kinde-bergers, one of Wheeling's strongest teams, and they succeeded in securing the services of Hillebrand to pitch for them. Hillebrand pitched the game all right, allowing but one hit, had 20 strikeouts and did not give a base on balls, and yet the Field club lost the game, 3 to 1, errors being responsible for the runs. It is Manager Clarke's intention to pitch Hillebrand regularly when the Pirates go east next week.

WORKS IN MINES UNTIL SUSPENSION EXPIRES

Jockey Watson, Hero of Many Hard-Fought Races, Has Been Having Hard Luck Recently.

If further misfortune does not rise up to confront him, Jockey S. Watson, who has gained fame on the eastern race tracks as well as those at New Orleans, St. Louis and San Francisco, will next Monday morning have control of a gang of 75 coal miners in one of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's mines near Homestead.

Watson arrived in the city several days ago greatly depressed. A year ago he was ruled off at Sheepshead Bay for one year, which suspension ends on the first of next month when, with the lucre gained in timing the coal miners, he will hie himself once more to the pathway of the thoroughbreds, never again to waiver.

But the saddest fate that has yet befallen Watson occurred in Vincennes, Ind., just before his arrival in Pittsburgh. His financial condition was not of the best and he sought solace in a cigarette, forgetful of his crime under the new law of that state. He was rudely seized and bereft of his cigarette and fined $25 for his carelessness. Broken in spirit and wealth, he sought the city of smoke and smokers, and is anxious to meet his reward and "go back to the mines" until August 1 arrives and he finds his way back to the judges' stand.

WILL NOW START THEATRICAL WAR

Combination of New York Managers to Compete With the So-Called Trust.

THE EFFECT IN PITTSBURGH

By CHARLES M. BREGG.

An interesting and somewhat surprising announcement is made from New York to the effect that the rumors that have so persistently percolated through the Rialto for several months are to be partially realized, at least. A new working combination of theatrical managers and producers is to be formed, which, while in no sense a "syndicate," will have the desired effect of giving wider versatility to the forthcoming season in those cities where this new combination will find a footing. David Belasco and Harrison Grey Fiske have long been independent in the management of their several attractions, and for this reason have been effectually barred out of nearly all the leading cities in the country. These two managers have formed a working combination with the Shubert forces and with the enlarging scope of the producing power thus given, the new combination will be a formidable one.

The managers involved in the independent booking of their attractions—in association with any other independent managers who may hereafter see fit to join them—have simply decided upon a community of interest in circumstances that promise to benefit them all, as well as others who may be concerned. They have no plan to fight anybody, or to coerce or otherwise meddle with others, their only desire being to be free to conduct their businesses as best they may, in a free manner and for the best interests of the attractions which they control and will add to.

Will Not Lose Independence.

The theaters that these managers control in New York are well known. The theaters that will open to them throughout the country will be announced in good time. While these managers, as has been said, will have a certain unity of interest in the booking of their offerings, they will continue in the same individual independence as formerly.

These independent managers will start next season in this community of booking interests with this list of stars and companies:

The Shuberts' Attractions—Sarah Bernhardt, in repertoire; Jefferson de Angelis, in "Fantana;" De Wolf Hopper, in a new comic opera; Ada Rehan, in repertoire; Henry Russell Grand Opera Company, including Alice Nielsen; "The Earl and the Girl," the English musical comedy success; "Babes in the Wood," the English pantomime; Paula Edwardes, in a new musical play; "The Sweet Girl," musical comedy from the German; "The Jury of Fate," by Charles L. McLellan; a musical production, "Lady Teazle;" "The Royal Chef," and several others in preparation.

David Belasco's Attractions—Mrs. Leslie Carter, in "Adrea," "Du Barry" and "Zaza;" Blanche Bates, in a new play; David Warfield, in "The Music Master;" Bertha Galland, in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs;" Robert Hilliard, in a new play; four other productions in contemplation.

Harrison Grey Fiske's Attractions—Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan company, in "Leah Kleschna;" Mme. Bertha Kalich, in "Monna Vanna;" a new comedy, details of which will be announced later; a new drama, as to which announcement is yet to be made.

Managers to Assist Each Other.

The attractions of the above managers will be booked from their own theaters, the arrangements for the Shuberts continuing to be made at the Lyric theater, those for Mr. Belasco at the Belasco theater and those for Mr. Fiske at the Manhattan theater, as heretofore. But, as suggested, each manager will aid the others as far as possible in the matter of bookings, and thus further the cause of independence, the theaters in which their attractions will play also being open to all others who wish to conduct a free and independent business.

What effect, if any, this new combination will have upon theatrical affairs is problematical and will depend wholly upon whether the new organization shall secure a theater in Pittsburgh. With fully 25 attractions already under its wing, the new combination may find it profitable to have a theater in this city. A season is 40 weeks and without attractions of a certain grade sufficient to fill in these 40 weeks, it has hitherto been hazardous for a pioneer to attempt the risk of renting or buying a theater in a city controlled by syndicate interests. With 25 good attractions and the possibility of more to come, this risk is reduced materially. As to theaters here, there is now a chance for the entrance of the independents unless unwise avarice steps in and lifts the renting price to a prohibitive point.

Change at the Alvin.

As foreshadowed in the dramatic department of The Gazette more than two months ago, the Alvin theater will next season be jointly managed by Messrs. Harry Davis and R. M. Gulick and attractions of a musical comedy kind will doubtless largely prevail there, such as the Duquesne played last season, only I am assured by the new management that the grade will be kept higher. Whether the Gayety will be played as last season or not has not been finally settled, though I am inclined to believe that these houses will be given over to burlesque of a somewhat higher grade than that which has hitherto marked the academy seasons, while that house will also bring its burlesque bookings up to a higher standard.

There will be no theater built upon the site of the Avenue theater, recently destroyed by fire, for the present at least. The Grand will, of course, be continued as an allied vaudeville house. This leaves the Duquesne and the Empire to be considered. Manager McCullough of the Empire, is now in California, but he assured me he would continue in all probability the Stair and Havlin bookings, if anything like a fair deal was given him.

The Duquesne theater remains unaccounted for. I hardly think the house can be profitably opened by anybody outside the two big syndicates. Outside the syndicate there are no managers or producers who have attractions enough to keep it going, and all the discussion about isolated managers and producers renting the house at $35,000 a year is sheer nonsense.

Fate of the Duquesne Theater.

If the Duquesne is not rented to one of the syndicates, either to be used or to choke off competition, there is but one chance for it and that is the Belasco-Fiske-Shubert combination. Will these gentlemen rent it? I do not believe so, unless the rental is made reasonable. The improvements required in the house will cost a large sum. The theater is not now in the shape that producers of high-class attractions would like to have it, but Pittsburgh has an opportunity now to secure excellent competitive theatrical entertainment if reasonable prudence is exercised by the owners of property available for such purpose.

This being denied, the handsome Nixon theater should be opened to these fine productions of the independent managers. I know this is wildly improbable, but why should 25 undeniably high-class, clean theatrical attractions be shut out of Pittsburgh because Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger do not like Daniel Belasco personally, or vice versa. The people of Pittsburgh are no longer suburban. The theatergoer is metropolitan in his tastes and should be treated with common sense and fairness. Either this formidable new booking arrangement will be admitted to share Pittsburgh's generous patronage at a profit to the "powers that be," or it begins to look like they may take a big slice of it to the serious financial loss of the men who are doing the present dog in the manger stunt.

In line with the fact above stated the new joint management of the Alvin and Bijou theaters, Messrs. Davis and Gulick and McNulty, made this statement yesterday to the newspapers. It is simply an official confirmation of The Gazette's original story of some months ago.

Two Theaters Pool Issues.

Arrangements have finally been consummated whereby the Alvin and Bijou theaters pool issues under the same management. The Alvin will be conducted as it always has been, in a first-class manner, and will become the new home of comedy.

The best musical and comedy productions obtainable in Europe and this country will be offered to the theatergoing public of Western Pennsylvania at prices (night) ranging from 25 cents to $1 for reserved seats. "Special price" matinees will be established Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, with best reserved seats 25 and 50 cents. Season opens latter part of August.

The Bijou's season opens at the Monday matinee July 31, with the new scenic melodrama, "How Hearts Are Broken." The bookings of this ever-popular playhouse will be materially strengthened. Only the best in comedy-drama and melodrama will be offered.

SOCIETY

THE absence of Mrs. William Thaw from the city has caused some delay in completing the plans for the elaborate entertainment which will be given in the Country club in October by the Homeopathic Hospital Ladies' Aid society. A meeting of the society was held yesterday morning, and many of the features of the entertainment were discussed, but the exact date has not yet been decided upon as well as certain other features depending upon the presence of the president, Mrs. Thaw. The entertainment will be one of the most elaborate affairs ever given in Pittsburgh, and the whole of the first floor of the Country club house in Squirrel Hill will be utilized. The affair will be conducted both afternoon and evening. There will be bazar attractions, dinner will be served in the club diningroom and one of the prettiest and most interesting features will be the flower dance by children of prominent families in Pittsburgh under the direction of one of the managers of the society. Society is taking a great deal of interest in the early arrangements and few entertainments will enlist more attention than this. The women hope to realize several thousand dollars, which will be devoted to the furnishment of the Homeopathic hospital to be erected in Center avenue, Shadyside. Mrs. S. Jarvis Adams, first vice president, presided at the meeting yesterday. Mrs. George L. McCoy is the secretary of the society.

Grier-Hunter.

Quietly at 7 o'clock last evening the marriage of Miss Eva Grier and Frank Milton Hunter was solemnized in the home of Mrs. Margaret M. Patterson, an aunt of the bride. The Rev. John D. Irons of Oakmont officiated, the ceremony being performed in the library. The bride is a daughter of the late W. W. Grier, formerly a prominent resident of Oakmont. Mr. Hunter is the son of Mrs. Sarah A. Hunter of Mellon street, and is a well-known teacher and musician. They left last evening on their wedding trip, and will spend several weeks on the Massachusetts coast, returning to Pittsburgh the middle of August. They will be at home after September 1 at 1043 South Negley avenue, making their home with Mrs. Patterson. Among the out-of-town guests who were at the wedding were: Judge Samuel Miller, Mrs. Lila Orr and Miss Hough of Mercer, Pa.; Miss Nancy and Miss Marion Patterson, Miss Florence Windsor, W. C. Patterson and M. Patterson of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Patterson of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Patterson being a sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Tate of Finley, O.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Patterson, Jr., of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Miss Galloway of Freeport, Ill.

For the Fresh Air Fund.

In hopes that the weather man will co-operate with them, four little girls in the East End have been arranging for a lawn fete this evening at the home of Mrs. W. J. Morris, 6736 Penn avenue, for the benefit of the fresh air fund. The quartet of workers includes Miss Henrietta Shumaker, Miss Bessie Wright, Miss Margaret and Miss Rachel Woods. They will be assisted by Mrs. W. H. Keller, Miss Dorothy Shumaker, Miss Helen Black, Miss Helen Hastings, Miss Rebecca Botsford, Miss Julia Ward, Miss Nancy Wood and Miss Catherine McCutcheon. During the evening there will be a band concert, and among other attractions will be a gypsy tent and a fishing pond. Should it rain this evening, the entertainment will be postponed until tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Fleming Wins Prize.

Mrs. George Fleming of New York won the first prize, a Tiffany cut glass vase, at the informal bridge whist party of three tables given by her sister, Mrs. Mansfield B. Cochran, at her home, "Hampton Farm," Sewickley Heights, where Mrs. Fleming was honor guest. The winner of the second prize, a Royal Wooster pitcher, was Mrs. J. T. McKown, and Miss Bessie Cunningham won the third prize, a china salad bowl.

Seeks a Bride in Pittsburgh.

Miss Estelle Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Brooks of Mellon street, East End, will be married on Tuesday, July 18, to Dr. F. M. Stratton of Spencer, O. No invitations have been issued for the wedding, which will be very quietly conducted at the home of the bride's mother, and immediately afterward the bride and bridegroom will leave for a wedding trip of several weeks' duration, later making their home in Spencer.

Musicale for Westminster Church.

A musicale and lawn fete will be given this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Smyers, 512 McClintock avenue, Allegheny, for the benefit of Westminster church. The program will be exceptionally fine and will be presented by Miss Roessing, Mrs. Vida McClure, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Anson J. Dill and Messrs. Dorrington, Drum, Arbogast, Rorah and Jackson. Among the features of the lawn fete will be automobile rides to the end of Perrysville avenue and return.

New Castle's Big Social Event.

NEW CASTLE, PA., July 5.—An important society event here will be the garden party given next Monday evening by Miss Emma Brown, daughter of Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. William Brown, in honor of Miss Bess Paur of New York. Over 300 invitations have been issued and the reception will be one of the most elaborate society events ever held here.

Water Melon Party.

A water melon party was given on Wednesday afternoon by the Misses Todd, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Todd, at their home in Egewood avenue, Swissvale. The guest of honor was Miss Adele Williams of Pittsburgh, who leaves in a few days for her summer home near Erie.

Mrs. Elizabeth von Hofen of Sewickley announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret, to Charles Matterer of Buffalo, N. Y. The wedding will take place in the fall.

"DEAN PUPILS" MEET.

Former Students of the High School Form Organization to Honor Old Teacher.

Pupils of the High school, who attended the school between 1855 and 1871, held a preliminary meeting at the Fifth Avenue High school building last night for the purpose of founding an organization to be known as the "Dean Pupils." The organization is named in honor of the late Prof. Philotas Dean, who was a teacher in the High school for many years.

W. S. McCutcheon, member of the central board of education from the Minersville district, was elected chairman, and Miss Mary Wilkins secretary. Many men now prominent in business and professional circles in Pittsburgh and other cities were pupils at the High school under Prof. Dean, and the "Dean Pupils" are preparing, as an organization, to assist the High school committee now arranging for the semi-centennial celebration of the school in September.

The organization also intends to raise funds to repair the Dean monument in Uniondale cemetery, Allegheny; erect a tablet in the Central High school building in memory of the pupils who fell in the civil war, and to present Mrs. Grace P. Dean, widow of the professor, with a gift. The next meeting of the organization will be held at 2:30 p. m. on July 15.

To Atlantic City in Autos.

The first party of McKeesporters to take a long automobile trip left that city yesterday for Atlantic City, and expect to make the trip in four days. The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Conrad and children and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Childs and children. They will be accompanied as far as Chambersburg by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ayres.

Chance to Win Scholarships.

HARRISBURG, July 5.—A competitive examination for the admission to the state forestry school at Mont Alto will be held at Harrisburg on July 20. The applicants making the highest averages will be appointed to scholarships in the school by State Forestry Commissioner Conklin.

CLUBS

Enroll Children in Allegheny Playgrounds

Over 2,000 children were enrolled in the summer playgrounds yesterday in Allegheny. Nine playgrounds were opened at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the enrollment was considered good, although the children are demoralized the day after the Fourth, and the attendance is expected to increase during the week. Mrs. John Cowley, the general chairman of the Allegheny playgrounds and vacation schools this season, divided the morning between the two playgrounds in the Second ward, the Sherman avenue and the Irwin avenue schools. These are two of the smallest schools in the city, and yesterday morning 150 children were enrolled in the Sherman avenue school playground, while almost the same number was reported from the Irwin avenue school. In the Thirteenth ward school the attendance almost reached 200, with 175 reported from the Ninth ward playground. The regular routine of the playgrounds and vacation schools was established yesterday, after the enrollment, the teachers organizing their classes and the directors of the playgrounds starting the games. This is greater progress than has been made in previous years, as the children were usually dismissed after they were enrolled, and the classes were not organized and placed at work until the second day. The committee on equipment and supplies was unusually active, and each playground was well equipped, while the supplies for the vacation school work were awaiting the arrival of the children, so there was no delay in commencing the summer work. Millinery has captivated the girls in the Irwin avenue school, and already there is a waiting list of girls anxious to form a class. There will be two classes, one in the morning and another in the afternoon, and each is limited to 20 pupils, the number one teacher can direct. Basketry was arranged for the boys only in the Sherman avenue school last year, and there was disappointment among the girls. But both the girls and boys are in the classes started yesterday. The interest which the neighborhood takes in the summer playgrounds was shown yesterday morning in the Thirteenth ward, where no fence surrounds the school playgrounds, and in the large paved area, unenclosed, the children played throughout the morning, while the streets were crowded with older girls and boys, and even grown people, who watched the new games and sports. The sandboxes for the smaller children are, however, in an enclosed portion of the school grounds. The games this year will be taught under the direction of Miss Marion Knapp, while the kindergarten work is under the supervision of Miss Lillian Stoefel. Music will be a feature of the weekly plan of work, and is in charge of the members of the Tourist club, with Miss Mary Ure chairman. This afternoon the first teachers' meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock in the Irwin avenue school. They will continue each Thursday afternoon during the season of the playgrounds. Reports will be presented by the teachers, and there will be conferences on the work and its possible improvement.

Arranging for Annual Garden Party.

Arrangements are almost completed for the annual garden party which will be given at the United Presbyterian Home for the Aged in Penn and Trenton avenues, Wilkinsburg. A meeting of the board of managers was held yesterday, when plans were discussed. The garden party will be held on Thursday afternoon and evening, July 13, a month later than usual, but the delay was caused by the slowness in pushing the work on the new wing of the home, now in course of construction. The entertainment will be given for the benefit of the three institutions founded and supported by the United Presbyterian Women's association, which are the Orphans' home, the Memorial hospital, which is to be succeeded by the new Columbia hospital, to be opened in September, and the Home of the Aged. The affair will be conducted on lines similar to those of previous years and supper will be served at tables on the lawn, if the weather permits, otherwise the diningroom in the basement of the new wing will be opened for the occasion.

Pittsburgh Playground's Teachers Meet.

The opening session of the teachers' institute, conducted under the auspices of the Joint Committee of Women's clubs, in charge of the Pittsburgh summer playgrounds and vacation schools, was held yesterday morning in the South school, Diamond and Ross streets. The institute will continue four days and each morning will be devoted to the playground work. The games which will be used this year were taught yesterday morning by Mrs. Alma Oliver Ware, of the Chicago Kindergarten college, who will supervise this feature. The sewing teachers were instructed by Miss Jennie D. Bradley, chairman of sewing, who is connected with the Saturday Afternoon Sewing school at Kingsley House. The art and nature teachers were in charge of Miss Myrtle D. Graff, instructor in the Pittsburgh schools. Other features of the work to be accomplished in the playgrounds and schools during the summer will be brought out in practical conferences between supervisors and teachers during the institute.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 5.—A good sized audience containing an unusually large number of men, listened to the third lecture on "American Diplomacy," by Mr. Arthur E. Bastor, who chose for his subject, "John Quincy Adams and the Monroe Doctrine." He said in part:

"John Quincy Adams was one of the best trained diplomats and took to his office as secretary of state the best equipments of any man. It is probable he had considered the relation of European powers to America more than had any other statesman. Many friends of Adams affirm he wrote the Monroe doctrine. Doubtless he was asked to draw up the document.

"The arguments against the doctrine are either not effective or have lost all efficacy. It has been said it has no legislative confirmation. That is true, but as an American principle it has been acquiesced in by every president. If there is any confirmation needed as to its being a doctrine of international law, it comes from the actions during the last century. It is not meant to be international law, it is the enunciation of the policy of the United States. It is as effective today as on the day it was first promulgated. It stands as the balance of power."

The elevated dock at Celeron gave way under the weight of the crowd which was gazing at the fireworks and more than 100 were plunged into the lake.

ANOTHER FAMILY HOTEL FOR EAST END

Loxterman Estate Plans $100,000 Structure for Fifth Avenue and St. James Street.

OUTER FIFTH AVENUE SALE

A family hotel to cost not less than $100,000 is projected for the northwest corner of Fifth avenue and St. James street, Nineteenth ward. Plans for the building are being drawn by Architect J. E. Obitz of the East End, and it was announced yesterday that bids would be taken by August 1, if not before. Some time ago plans were prepared for a four-story brick apartment house to be erected on the site, which is 90x145 feet. This plan has recently been abandoned owing to the application by a well-known hotel man for a long lease on a modern hotel building at this corner. This deal has so far advanced that the Loxterman estate, which owns the property, is going ahead with the plans for the hotel. The building will be a modern fire proof brick and steel structure, and will contain 100 sleeping rooms. Large parlors will be provided on the first floor and also offices and a dining room to seat 150 people. It is expected that work on the building will be started early in September.

Fifth Avenue Sale of $31,000.

Another outer Fifth avenue sale has been made through the agency of B. R. Faulkner & Co., Incorporated, who sold for the Eshelman heirs to Dr. J. J. Buchanan No. 1329, for $31,000. The lot is 24x90 feet on the north side of the avenue, between Stevenson and Logan streets, so that the sale figures at the rate of $1,290 a front foot, or $14 36 a square foot. There is a good three-story brick building on the front of the lot and a two-story brick house on the rear. These rent for $1,600 a year. Dr. Buchanan last spring bought from Julius Baer an adjoining property in Fifth avenue, which he improved, and it is said that he will make a considerable change in his last purchase soon.

It develops that the sale to Taylor Alderdice of the Charles Clapp property at Wilkins and Murray Hill avenue, Twenty-second ward, which was announced last week, was in the nature of an exchange, Mr. Clapp getting in part payment for his Squirrel Hill house the residence at 4612 Dithridge street, near Craig street, which was valued at $20,000. The Wilkins avenue residence, a 14-room stone and shingle house, was put into the deal at $65,000. The house on Dithridge street is a 12-room reception hall brick dwelling on 50x153 feet, and is nearly opposite Zouave street. C. G. Mitchell handled the deal.

Moving a $50,000 Residence.

Shady avenue travelers are taking a great interest in the moving of the old Hallman residence at the corner of Walnut street by the Kress-Hanlon company. A few months ago the Calvary Protestant Episcopal congregation bought the Hallman property as a site for a new church, and the residence is being moved 50 feet to the west and 150 feet to the north to be set on the northwest corner of the lot for a parish house. The house is now propped up nearly ready for the rollers, and seems to be a favorite mark for the lightning, which has struck it twice within 10 days. It is one of the finest residences in this part of the East End having been erected about 12 years ago at a cost of $42,000. Today the house would cost at least $50,000, as it contains 20 rooms and is finely finished in different kinds of hardwoods. Two sides of the residence are nearly covered with ivy vines, and an effort will be made to save these by setting the roots in boxes during the moving of the house, which weighs over 700 tons. As soon as the house is out of the way work will be started on the new church, which will cost over $150,000. Plans for the latter have been drawn by Architects Gram, Goodhue & Ferguson of Boston.

Public Buildings on the Boards.

The Knights of Pythias will build a three-story home for aged members at Harmony, Pa., from plans by Architects Mueller & East of this city.

The Vincent Methodist Episcopal congregation of Wilkinsburg will build a brick church at Swissvale and Ross avenues from plans by Architects A. Dudgeon & Son.

Bids will be taken in a few days on a $12,000 school house at Munhall, plans for which have been prepared by Architect J. C. Rowlands of Homestead.

Revised plans are being prepared for a 10-room brick and stone school house at South Park, McKeesport, by Architect Thomas J. Herron. Bids were taken some time ago, but were too high, as it is intended to hold the cost to $50,000.

Architect C. W. Hodgdon has plans for the $10,000 brick school house to be built at West View on the North Side. Bids are now being taken by F. C. Martsolf.

A $12,000 school house will be erected in Stowe township from plans by G. Hodgden & Son.

The Homestead Lumber Company received the contract for the brick lodge and club building which the Odd Fellows' association will erect in Homestead at a cost of $30,000.

The Pittsburgh Construction Company has the contract for a brick passenger station for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company at New Philadelphia, O.

Big Rumors Are Again Afloat.

Rumors are again current of big offers made for downtown properties. A story was on the street yesterday that a deal for $500,000 was well along and it is known that an offer of $275,000 was made for a centrally located property last week. Two other deals that will overtop the six figure mark considerably are "on" for properties in the main business streets, but in the spasmodic absence of the principals this hot weather, may not be closed for sometime. If the activity in all kinds of properties were keeping up as well as in downtown lots the July real estate market might be expected to pan out some sensational records.

The continued wet weather is causing serious delay to the companies which have a large amount of grading to do to get their properties in good shape for market or building. In spite of the frequent rains a large force of men and teams is working on the Schenley farm in Oakland. Near Fifth avenue a large rectangular tract has been torn up so as to give the passerby some idea of what is to be done. A tram road has been laid on the hillside near Center and Bellefield avenues and a long space is being graded there. On the plan of the Aspinwall-Delafield Land Company most of the grading is finished and hundreds of loads of paving brick are on the ground. The company has put up a fine cement office building near the West Penn station and is selling lots daily. Over 1,000 men are still at work under the direction of Booth & Flinn, limited, on the new Brookline allotment, but their operations are greatly retarded by the rain and mud.

Good Sale in Emsworth.

Through the office of Henry W. Armstrong of Allegheny the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth sold to a Pittsburgh investor five acres of land in Center street, Emsworth borough, for $11,000.

Michael Margolis has bought from Isabel J. Barr an improved property, 20x99.5 feet, in Congress street, near Fifth avenue, for $15,000.

New Sewickley—James W. Turner sold for Mary R. Hickman to Edwin C. Haslett a farm of 55 acres in New Sewickley township, Beaver county, two miles from Freedom, for $8,000.

Hamilton avenue—S. H. Lloyd sold for Samuel Jarvis to W. P. Tatnall a frame house on 25x130 feet in Hamilton avenue near Dallas avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $4,000.

Gross street—The Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company sold for Henry Laufer to Margaret Douglass 24x120 feet in the east side of Gross street, Twentieth ward, for $2,040. They also sold for Annie H. Budinger to Esther K. Marx an improved lot, 32x120 feet, in Euclid avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $7,000.

Knoxville—James A. Griffith sold to Alfred B. Smith estate to John M. Hamilton 235 Jucunda street, Knoxville, a six-room house on 20x100 feet for $5,200.

Scattering Real Estate Deals.

Wilkinsburg—Mrs. Margaret Tomb sold to Nicholas Kuntz an eight-room reception hall brick house on 25x120 feet on the east side of Clark street, near Glen street, First ward, Wilkinsburg, for $4,000.

Summit park—Kock, Helle & Daschbach sold for the Summit Park Land Company to the Rev. R. H. Marlin of the East End 100x200 feet in Library avenue, Summit park, for $720.

Tacoma street—R. M. Zahniser sold to S. H. Gould an improved lot, 25x125 feet, in Tacoma street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $3,000.

Negley avenue—Catherine Negley estate sold to John M. Gartside 50.5x110 feet in Negley avenue near Hays street, Nineteenth ward, for $6,211.

Forbes street—Mary Rogers sold to J. E. Kidney an improved lot, 25.5x65.5 feet, in Forbes street, near Chestnut street, Sixth ward, for $5,200. Mr. Kidney has since sold it to D. F. Shanahan for $5,120.

Fulton street—The Aronson Realty Company sold for David Rosenthal to Morris Aronson an improved lot, 25x123.5 feet in Fulton street, Eighth ward, for $8,500.

Congress street—Charles Manning sold to Julia Stein an improved lot, 20x45 feet, in Congress street, Seventh ward, for $4,000.

Double Last Year's Record.

During June there was nearly twice as much building authorized in Pittsburgh as during the corresponding month last year. The report issued by Building Inspector A. C. Dies yesterday showed that there were 287 permits issued for buildings, estimated to cost $2,885,062. Of this number 228 were for new structures, 76 for additions and 73 for alterations and repairs.

The city of Pittsburgh yesterday received a permit to build an engine house at First, Ferry and Water streets, to cost $52,435. Other buildings were authorized as follows: To Mrs. K. W. Knobs for two brick veneered dwellings on Chestnut street, Eighteenth ward, to cost $6,700; to Charles E. Speer for a frame stable on Woodland road, Twenty-second ward, to cost $7,500; to W. A. Easton for a frame dwelling on Morningside road, Eighteenth ward, to cost $6,000; to Ralph Overholt for a frame garage in the rear of 7211 Thomas street, to cost $2,800, and to Charles Baumberger for a brick veneer dwelling on Susquehanna street, Twenty-eighth ward, to cost $2,800.

REACTION IN N. Y. STOCKS ON PROFIT-TAKING SALES

Resumption of Gold Exports Also a Factor in the Decline—Crucible Preferred Sold Higher Than Coal Preferred in Pittsburgh.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Business was resumed after the holiday on a large scale in the New York stock market yesterday, the sales for the day exceeding a million shares, the largest total for any day in weeks. The tone of the market was very strong at times, but extensive profit-taking sales finally had their effect and caused a decided reaction in the final dealings. The closing prices, with a few exceptions, were ½ to 1½ per cent below the close on Monday.

Some disappointment was experienced at the opening because London's prices were fractionally lower, and later in the day London was a considerable seller. There was no definite news showing any change in foreign political or financial circles, but it is possible that the extraordinary advance in the Liverpool cotton market on Tuesday, which continued yesterday, impressed foreigners with the wisdom of not following the Wall street bull leaders too confidently until after more is known of the crops. This feeling may have had some effect upon investors on this side, but it had little or no effect upon the large professionals who apparently have the market in hand.

Enormous buying of Reading common, which carried the price up to 106, the highest ever quoted, was sufficient to change the tenor of the general market before noon, and it was during this period that the highest prices of the day and of this rally occurred. There was a mild panic among the bears in Reading common stock and the floating supply of the latter was reported to be scarce. Pennsylvania rallied to 143⅛ and Baltimore & Ohio to 114⅝, while Norfolk & Western touched 86½. The Eries were also active, but the highest prices were scored in the initial transactions. Union Pacific was the strongest of the western group, advancing to 130⅞, and was closely followed by St. Paul, which advanced to 180⅜. New York Central advanced to 119¼. The movement in these stocks may or may not have been based upon the reinvestment demand which usually follows semi-annual interest and dividend disbursements, but none of the stocks mentioned retained the gain at the close.

The traction stocks all advanced in the early dealings, as they usually do after a national holiday, when traders make all possible use of figures based upon holiday traffic returns.

In the industrial list Tennessee Coal & Iron scored the largest advance, selling up to 92 and closing with a net gain of 1½ per cent. United States Steel and the minor issues were all strong and higher during the early part of the session, but all sold off and closed lower than on Monday, the loss in United States Steel preferred being 1⅛ per cent.

The reaction in the closing hour was quite pronounced and was helped along by the resumption of gold exports, one international banking house taking $1,000,000 gold bars for shipment on today's steamer. Call loans, however, were easy, quoting at 3 per cent in the morning and declining to 2½ per cent at the close.

The cotton market was again active and excited, but lost most of the early gains and closed slightly above Monday's prices. In Chicago July wheat advanced to 94, but subsequently broke to 90⅝ and closed only a fraction above the lowest. Corn also closed lower.

For the first time in its history Crucible Steel preferred crossed Pittsburgh Coal preferred yesterday. Opening transactions were at 62⅞ for Crucible and 63⅝ for Coal preferred. Later in the session Crucible preferred advanced to 63¾, while Coal preferred declined to 63. The final quotations were 62⅞ bid for Crucible preferred and 63 bid for Pittsburgh Coal preferred. Crucible is still on the non-dividend list, while Coal preferred has never missed the payment of 1¾ per cent quarterly since its organization. There were no sales of Crucible common, which was quoted at 10¾ bid, 10⅞ asked. Pittsburgh Coal common was a fraction higher, selling at 15 and closing at 14⅞ bid. American Sewer Pipe and Manufacturers' Light & Heat each closed a fraction higher, but the remainder of the list was dull and featureless. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse issues, but Electric was firmer at 83½ bid, 84 asked. The tone of the market changed with the weakening in New York near the close, but there was no selling pressure and no increased demand at the fractional declines.

Summary.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $3,000,000 for the day.

Crucible preferred sold above Coal preferred for the first time.

No dealings in the Westinghouse stocks and the market closed dull.

IN WALL STREET

Sales included 1,076,600 shares stock and $3,386,000 bonds.

Reading common sold at 106, the highest ever quoted.

With few exceptions final prices were lower on enormous profit-taking.

Gold exports resumed, $1,000,000 being engaged for shipment today.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Union National bank yesterday opened for business in the quarters long occupied by H. Holmes & Sons, at the corner of Fourth avenue and Wood street, and the merger of the two institutions is now practically complete. This has proved to be the quickest and quietest consolidation of large financial interests ever accomplished in Pittsburgh. A special meeting of the stockholders of the Union National has been called for August 1 to vote upon a proposition to increase the capital from $500,000 to $600,000. There will be no opposition to the proposition, which will mean the issue of 1,000 shares additional stock. This stock, as stated in The Gazette a week ago, will be subscribed for at $1,300 a share, which will give the bank $1,200,000 to add to surplus after adding $100,000 to capital, and will make it one of the strongest banks in the national system in the relation of capital to surplus and undivided profits.

The fact that Crucible Steel preferred, which has nearly two years of dividends in arrears, yesterday sold higher than Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which has never missed a dividend since its organization, attracted much attention in local market circles. Anomalies like this are frequently witnessed in the Wall street market, being just now very strikingly shown by Reading common, which is selling higher than several prominent preferred stocks and a score of railroad common stocks. In the case of Crucible Steel the strength of the stock is based upon reports that the business of the company is prospering and that its financial condition has steadily improved, rendering unnecessary an issue of any part of the bonds authorized last year. On the other hand, the heaviness of Pittsburgh Coal is due to the unsatisfactory condition of the trade and the fear that the full rate of dividend may not be maintained. Action on the dividend for the past quarter is due next Tuesday, and while the market displays uncertainty, street opinion is that the regular dividend will be declared.

...another and the skill displayed in the selection of stocks in these movements with a view to influence on sentiment and to help selling to advantage of stocks previously advanced left no room for doubt of the continued control of the market by organized leadership. The continuance of maneuvers to sustain prices created a belief that the distribution of stocks accumulated in the course of the late rise is not completed, although the digestive process was going on actively.

Gross earnings of Chicago Great Western for May increased $22,782 and net increased $1,171.

Advices received from London announced that the Japanese government has accepted an offer from the Parrs Bank, Limited, the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Yokohama Specie Bank, Limited, with whom are associated Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York and the Deutsch-Asiatische bank of Berlin, for £30,000,000 4½ per cent 5-20 sterling bonds, secured by a second charge upon the revenue from the tobacco monopoly. A simultaneous issue of the bonds will shortly be made in England, the United States and in Germany.

Louisville & Nashville was under some pressure by reason of the unfavorable cotton report, but was well supported.

According to a New York message, sentiment was somewhat disturbed by the fact that Mr. Lawson starts on his western trip tomorrow. He will be received by the governors of three different states, and some of the lighter waisted holders are afraid of what he may have to say.

The trouble precipitated among a chain of western banks by the Topeka bank failure is of a kind which would upset the stock market in some of its moods, but it seems to have been totally disregarded by the present market, and this notwithstanding the widespread discussion given to the present great volume of bank loans outstanding and the importance of the maintenance of perfect confidence in their quali...

The Baltimore & Ohio directors are scheduled to meet next Wednesday, and if the dividend is increased, as expected, the bull will...

MARKET ADVANCES, BUT BREAKS AT ITS CLOSE

Traders, Detecting Hands of Manipulators, Take Profits or Work for Reaction.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Stocks yesterday showed the effect of the disturbing movement which, according to the Wall street theorists, was the underlying motive of the recent advance. Traders, detecting the efforts of the manipulators, took profits or worked for reactions. As a result, the general list, after a sharp advance in the early trading, broke sharply near the close.

Dealings were entirely professional. Another late decline was regarded as without significance, except insofar as it confirmed the belief that the chief object of the bull clique in advancing prices was to make a market to sell in. There was little if any public interest in the day's market, the business being confined to purely speculative circles.

Little, if any attention was paid to the news of the day. This was of mixed variety, but in the main favored the construction side of the market. An effort was made in the late trading to attribute the break in the market to the engagement of $1,000,000 gold for export, but as money rates were unchanged, the explanation found few believers.

The majority of traders in the market held that the decline was simply a profit taking and distributive movement. Crop reports were not unfavorable, but cereals eased off and cotton reacted, showing that the gambling spirit rather than development was rampant and effective in all markets. The confirmation of the Japanese loan issue was only important in disclosing that Japan has a new financial ally in Germany. The weekly report of iron and steel was regular.

SUMMER MARKET IN STEEL LINES

Conditions Continue Firm and Mills Are Kept Fairly Busy at Good Prices.

PIG IRON DEMAND NOT LARGE

The settlement of the scales between the Amalgamated Association and the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company on a basis which the independent manufacturers also accept, has been the main development of the week in iron and steel circles. For a time there was prospects of difficulties on this matter, but these passed away with an agreement more favorable to the manufacturer than any similar scale for years.

The normal summer dullness is still in evidence in the pig iron market. There are now 26 blast furnaces out. Of this number 18 are U. S. Steel stacks.

The market price for Northern Bessemer remains between $14.50 and $15, a sale of 5,000 tons having been made yesterday morning at better than $14 75 at the furnaces. This covered deliveries extending through the second half. There is undoubtedly some cheaper spot iron.

Foundry is quoted at about the same price as Bessemer. The slowness of the buying trade in this class of pig iron remains marked. There is no doubt that it will come with a rush eventually and cause a higher market rate.

In the finished lines, rails, plates and structural material are in great demand. On rails the mills are booked far ahead of their capacity for immediate shipment, at both the Edgar Thomson and the Illinois mills. The Ohio plant has been pressed into service to help clear up the accumulated orders.

The structural demand has been a considerable surprise. This line was away behind the others in the increased demand of last winter and spring, but the rush of orders has been steady and large for a month or two and still continues.

Current Quotations.

The Hardware Market.

The market for hardware continues very active, the demand from the trade generally being for a good volume of general lines in housefurnishing goods, in builders hardware, in tools, paints, colors and varnishes and window glass, and in active lines of sporting goods, including bicycles and sundries and automobile sundries. This carries forward the prediction made sometime since that summer business was going to continue good right along. The demand for season goods is very strong, evidently caused by stocks being low in the hands of retailers, and by the consumers' needs. Orders continue to come in freely from the salesmen on the road, and from the trade throughout the country. The demand for wire and nails is more active than it has been for some little time, owing possibly to the feeling that prices are firmer than they have been, and the shutting down of the mills for annual repairs, and the probabilities stocks will be very much reduced throughout the country, and prices will possibly be firmer than they have been for some time. The demand for window glass continues excellent, the trade rushing to cover, so that they may have sufficient quantities of sizes and qualities for their summer business, making business active in this line. The business in bicycles and sundries continues excellent, the demand being almost at the heaviest point. Prices in general are very firm, the trade feeling that the demand will continue right along. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount, 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount, 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, a ton, $27; window glass, first three brackets single; except 16x20, 90 and 20 off list October 1, 1904; above third bracket and all double, 90 and 10 per cent off list October 1, 1904; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

FUTURE OF IRON TRADE DISTINCTLY HOPEFUL

Structural and Tin Plate Trades Said to Be the Backbone of Good Times.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say: The feeling in the iron trade generally is distinctly hopeful and yet there is little that is tangible to justify increased optimism. Those branches which saved the situation after the check of the late spring are still the backbone of good times. These are the structural and the plate trades, which are flourishing through the railroad buying of cars and engines and the heavy requirements for buildings, bridges and ships for the lakes.

As an indication of the volume of business being done, the fact may be mentioned that the American Bridge Company alone booked orders for bridges, buildings and structures aggregating 71,000 tons during June. In New York contracts for buildings involving 15,000 tons of structural material were placed during the week.

There are indications that at least one large consuming interest in the foundry trade has begun to feel the market for pig iron seriously, but that is the exception. The deadlock is really unbroken and the drift of events seems to favor the buyers since southern iron has weakened further and some smaller interests have accepted the basis of $11 for No. 2 foundry at Birmingham.

LIBERTY STREET MEN RUSHED WITH TRADE

Business Is Heavy in All Lines of the Local Markets and Buyers Are Plenty.

Working like beavers would be the only way to describe the movements of the Liberty street dealers yesterday, and they kept it up in spite of the intense heat. They had to, for it seemed as if all of the Pittsburgh district had run out of green goods and produce at the same moment. The street was crowded with wagons all day long and the employes of the many houses were busy from morning until night getting out goods for both local trade and for shipment.

There were few changes reported. Red raspberries are coming in in poor condition, and prices have dropped considerably, as the goods are not up to standard. Potatoes are on the down grade and are quoted at $1.50 a barrel for top. Cabbage is down to $1.15 and peaches are also getting cheaper. Canteloupes, huckleberries, cucumbers and numerous other goods can be purchased at lower figures since the Fourth.

The butter market is still slow, the failure to cut prices last Monday seeming to have done but little to restore confidence and stimulate buying. Eggs are getting very draggy. Good ones are scarce and there is no trouble getting 18 cents for strictly fresh, select stock.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 7 cars hay, 34 cars oats, 16 cars corn, 3 cars straw, 1 car rye, 1 car husks. Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 1 car corn, 2 cars feed.

Receipts were very light yesterday, especially in view of the fact they were for two days. Business on the exchange was good and there was a firmness to all lines. Dealers believe that hay will be doing better next week than this for good stock and believe that prices generally have not reached top.

TO BE NO BOOM IN IRON, BUT TRADE WILL PROSPER

Signing of Sheet and Tin Plate Scale Relieves the Situation of Former Doubts.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

There are sound reasons for believing that while we shall not see boom conditions this year, the iron business will be very prosperous. One of the encouraging indications was the rush with which specifications on contracts for finished material came in during the last week of June and another was the settlement of the sheet and tin plate wage scale. It was known 10 days ago that the union would make almost any concession asked to prevent a strike, but the basis on which the workers accepted a settlement was more liberal than was expected.

Last year's scale will continue in force and the limit of output has been removed in both sheet and tin plate mills. The Pittsburgh Steel Company has closed a contract with the Carnegie Steel Company for its entire supply of steel for a period of five years. The requirements of the Pittsburgh Steel Company are upward of 200,000 tons of Bessemer and open hearth billets annually, and while the terms of the scale were not given out, it has been learned that the basis is a favorable one, the selling price of Bessemer iron to govern the price of the steel on monthly adjustments.

Users of pig iron are very active in calling for deliveries on contracts. For No. 2 foundry furnaces quote $14 25 to $14 50. Bessemer and basic can be purchased at $14 00. On southern iron $11.25 is now the usual quotation, and there is reason for believing that $11.00 has been done, a decline of $1 50 since June 1. June made a new record for ore shipments on the Great Lakes, the total being only 550 tons short of 5,000,000 and nearly 400,000 tons in excess of the previous record, that of May this year.

The Wool Market.

LONDON, July 5.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today included a large supply of Merinos and fine crossbreds. Competition was spirited. Withdrawals were frequent as holders asked high rates. A fine supply of Tasmanian sold at extreme prices, Americans paying 1s 6d for first greasy combings. The home trade bought medium and coarse scoureds. Following are the sales: New South Wales, 3,900 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 11d; greasy, 6¼d@1s 9½d; Queensland, 1,000 bales; scoured, 1s@1s 11d; greasy, 9½d@1s; Victoria, 2,700 bales; scoured, 10½d@1s 9½d; greasy, 6¼d@1s 3d; South Australia, 300 bales; scoured, 1s 1d@1s 8½d; greasy, 7½d@1s; Tasmania, 1,000 bales; greasy, 10d@1s 6d; New Zealand, 2,400 bales; scoured, 1s 6d@1s 11½d; greasy, 5¾d@1s 4d; Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 1,300 bales; scoured, 10d@2s ½d; greasy, 5¾d@11d.

EXTREME WEAKNESS MARKS WHEAT PIT

Official Report Declares Spring-Sown Grain to Be in Excellent Condition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 5.—An official report declaring spring-sown wheat to be in excellent condition caused extreme weakness in the wheat market here today. At the close the September delivery was nearly 4 cents below the highest figures of the day, or 2@2¼c down compared with Saturday's final quotations. Corn is up ⅜@½c. Oats are off ¼c. Provisions show a loss of 15@20c.

No signs of weakness were in evidence in the wheat market at the opening. On the contrary, sentiment was decidedly bullish, initial quotations on September being up ⅝@1⅛c, at 90@91½c. The market was influenced almost exclusively by the situation surrounding spring-sown wheat, continued rains in the northwest being construed as altogether unfavorable for the proper development of the crop. A number of bearish factors were apparently ignored altogether by the majority of traders. Lower cables and a liberal increase in world's shipments constituted the principal elements of a bearish nature. For the first few minutes of trading, shorts and commission houses were active buyers. Small longs, who saw considerable profits in sight, sold in sufficient volume to cause a loss of most of the opening gain. Later the bulls were further encouraged to withhold offerings by reports made by two prominent crop experts asserting that spring wheat had been seriously damaged by rust. Toward the middle of the session a crop report given out by the weather bureau at Washington almost flatly contradicted the damage reports caused a severe slump in prices. According to the government report the condition of spring-sown wheat is excellent, little damage comparatively having been done by rust. Under general profit-taking, September option dropped to 7½@7¾c. Sentiment continued bearish the remainder of the day, the market closing weak, with September at 7¾@7⅞c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 126,000 bushels. The amount on passage increased to 1,648,000 bushels and the visible supply decreased 1,114,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 355,000 bushels, compared with 304,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 405 cars, against 80 cars last week and 209 cars a year ago.

Notwithstanding a number of bearish influences the corn market was firm throughout the entire session. Shorts were active buyers. Higher prices at Liverpool formed the main bullish factor. Primary receipts were large, world's shipments showed a liberal increase and crop reports were bearish. The market closed firm in spite of the weakness of wheat. September opened ¼c higher, at 54⅞c, sold between 54½@55½c, and closed at 55¼c. Local receipts were 1,353 cars, with 687 cars of contract grade.

Fluctuations in wheat were the controlling influences in the oats market. Early in the day the market was quite firm, but, following the break in wheat prices reacted considerably.

Bearish reports concerning the new crop furnished additional cause for profit-taking late in the session. September opened ¼@⅜c higher, at 31½@32c, sold between 31⅞@32¼c, and closed at 31½c. Local receipts were 460 cars.

Provisions were weak under moderate selling of lard by packers. An increase in stocks of lard for the month was an important factor bearing on the weakness. Another factor was a decline of 5 cents in the price of live hogs. At the close September pork was off 20c, at $12 32½. Lard was down 15c, at $7 32½. Ribs were 15@17½c lower, at $7 50.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 43 cars; corn, 256 cars; oats, 237 cars; hogs, 31,000 head.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The market for coffee futures opened irregular at unchanged prices to an advance of 20 points in response to higher European cables. Houses with European connections and Wall street interests were good buyers, being influenced, it was reported, by low temperatures in Brazil, although many local traders did not consider the weather cold enough to do any material damage. Offerings, however, were relatively light and the market ruled generally firm, closing steady net 15@25 points higher. Sales were reported of 73,500 bags, including September at 6.65@6.85c; December at 6.95@7.10c; February at 7.10c; March at 7.20@7.30c; April at 7.15@7.45c; May at 7.35@7.45c. Developments Are Light in Lower Southwest Field

Light developments are reported from the lower southwest fields. All of the wells completed show for light producers or dusters. In the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the M. P. Dye farm into the Gordon, and it is producing 50 barrels a day. This well as formerly a gasser in the stray sand. The Carnegie Gas Company owns the gas right on the farm, and when it came in a gasser in the stray, instituted legal proceedings to prevent the South Penn company from drilling it deeper. Near Wallace, in the same county, the South Penn is drilling in the top of the Gordon at its No. 3 on the Elsie Lambert farm, but has developed no oil or gas. In the Salem district, the same company has drilled its test on the J. Sandy farm 20 feet into the Gordon, and the hole has filled up 100 feet with fluid. It is showing for a very light pumper. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its second test on the M. D. Queen farm, four feet into the Gordon, and has a light show of oil. The same company has given its No. 12 on the M. T. Williams farm a shot and increased its production to 75 barrels a day.

Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the E. and G. Ashcraft farm into the Gordon and has a very strong gasser. In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the C. W. Eberhart farm, and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun. On Middle Island creek, Union district, Dotson & Dotson's test on the school lot is producing 10 barrels a day from the Cow Run sand. In the river front district, Wood county, Chichester Brothers have completed their test on the David Chichester farm, and have a duster in the Cow Run sand.

In the Benwood district, on the Ohio side, in Monroe county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 7 on the Joel Taylor farm through the Berea grit, and has a 20-barrel producer in that formation. Near Dillonvale, Jefferson county, the Jefferson County Oil Company has completed another failure, looking for an extension to the McBride pool. This company has drilled its test on the A. C. and L. J. Lewis farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. This is about 3,000 feet northeast of the old No. 1 on the James McBride farm. In the Marietta district, Washington county, William Reader's test on the Cynthia Mendenhall farm has declined to 140 barrels a day.

Near Homeworth, Columbiana county, Forts & Company, of Youngstown, have a freak on the I. Berkovitz farm. The oil in this well was developed in the Big Injun formation at a depth of 310 feet, and is of a fine lubricating quality. The well produces about one barrel a day of oil, and about 50 barrels of fresh water. The owners think the well would have produced three or four barrels a day had it been shot and put to pumping as soon as drilled through the sand. They have made the location for a second test, 300 feet southwest of No. 1.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

General Manager Ickes of the Ray Consolidated, reports that the main working shaft has reached a depth of 585 feet, and preparations are being made to drift both ways, and also to crosscut at the 500 level. The mine never looked as well as it does at the present time. The ledge measures from 1½ to 5 feet between walls, and there are several inches of ore on each wall that is of a very high shipping grade, while the intervening vein matter averages about $30 a ton. All indications in the shaft point to the close proximity of a large ore body.—Tonopah Miner.

A special dispatch from Sheridan, Mont., to the New York Mining Reporter says: W. H. Godfrey, manager of the Montana Overland Mining Company, is feeling jubilant over a recent strike in the McKinley claim, which is one of a group of eight claims. The group is in Cedar gulch, on Wisconsin creek, and was acquired by the company three years ago, who have been doing development work since. The body of ore was uncovered in the tunnel the first of the week. It is a concentrating proposition and contains several nice streaks of lead ore with pyritic iron and a small streak of pyritic copper. The claims are situated four miles from town. Work on the tunnel will progress as rapidly as possible, and later it is intended to sink a 1,000-foot shaft.

A Cripple Creek dispatch says: The Fort Pitt Company, operating on the Sunshine claim on Galena hill, has started the work of sinking and it is the intention to continue for 200 feet, which when completed will make the shaft 700 feet below the collar. In the present bottom level the company is breaking the ore better than two feet wide and the grade is increasing in value, and it is understood that the company is now more than breaking even. This is the only producer on Galena hill, and this company is the pioneer of this immediate section. It is a close corporation composed mostly of Pittsburgh people who rarely give out any information. The ore shipments of late have been quite heavy, and the indications are that they have opened a whale of a proposition.

Red Cliff, Col., dispatch: The Pittsburgh Gold-Zinc Mining Company has abandoned for the present heavy production from the oxidized iron stope of its Iron Mask mine lease, and is now exploiting the lead-zinc ore bodies of the lower levels, repairing chutes to the copper sulphides and getting ready for shipments from that section of the mine.

The Cripple Creek output for June shows a slight falling off over the preceding month both in value and in tonnage. However, considering that the month has one less working day, the output holds good. A total of 58,500 tons of ore was broken and shipped that contained gold to the value of $1,725,200.

White Pine, Col., dispatch: The Akron Mining Company, in its long 4,000-foot tunnel, is now developing a new ore chute, with very gratifying silver and lead values. Manager R. M. Haney, a conservative and successful mine manager from Red Cliff, assures his friends in Ohio, who so courageously financed the big deal, that he thinks he now has what he has long been looking for. On the May-Mazeppa and North Star the lessees all have plenty of ore and are happy. Arthur Woodworth and Tom Allen are shipping $20 ore from development work, and John B. Turner says he has 20 feet of Galena-lead carbonate in his Dividend shaft workings of the North Star. United States Senator Dick of Ohio and several manufacturing people at Akron financed these properties.

BOSTON, MASS., July 5.—Allouez was again the strongest stock in Boston, selling at a new high record, 28½. The noticeable feature about the copper stocks is the scarcity. All of them rally very easily whenever any buying orders appear. There appears to be considerable interest in Franklin, also Tecumseh.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Active buying said to be largely for speculative account caused a sharp advance in the London tin market over the local holiday, and spot tin closed there at £140 2s 6d and futures at £139 2s 6d. The local market was firm in sympathy with spot, held at $30 65@31 00. Copper closed at £66 for spot and £66 2s 6d for futures in the London market. Locally the situation appeared unchanged with lake and electrolytic quoted at $15 00 and casting at $14 75. Lead was also a shade higher in London, closing at £13 3s 9d, the inside price being a shade under the general market. Spelter was unchanged at £23 17s 6d in London and at $5 30 in New York. Iron closed at 49s 4d in Glasgow and at 45s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was easy and lower on southern grades. No. 1 foundry Northern is quoted at $16 25@16 50; No. 2 foundry northern at $15 50@16 00; No. 1 foundry Southern at $15 25@15 75; No. 1 foundry Southern soft at $15 25@16 00 and No. 3 foundry Southern at $15 25.

Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton RAILWAY COMPANY

Refunding Mortgage Four Per Cent Gold Bonds

Dated July 1, 1904. Due July 1, 1954.

Interest Payable January 1 and July 1.

UNITED STATES MORTGAGE AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, Trustee

$1,000 Coupon Bonds with Privilege of Registering the Principal and Interest, or Principal Only.

(Total issue $25,000,000, of which $15,023,000 are Reserved for Prior Liens)

These bonds are secured by direct mortgage, subject to $15,023,000 prior liens, on the entire railroad property and leases of the C. H. & D. Railway Company, consisting of approximately 1,000 miles of road. The bonds are further secured by a first lien on $11,000,000 par value of Pere Marquette common stock, which alone cost more than the entire amount of the outstanding Refunding Bonds; and the dividends on same more than cover the interest on the actual amount of Refunding Bonds now issued. Of the underlying bonds, $2,595,000 will mature in October of this year, and $2,728,000 will mature six years hence and be refunded under this mortgage. The mortgage will be closed when the $1,477,000 bonds reserved for betterments are taken down and no further bonds can then be issued, except for the purpose of retiring underlying bonds. These Refunding Bonds underlie an issue of $50,000,000 bonds since authorized.

The C. H. & D. System, including the Pere Marquette, comprises some 4,000 miles of railroad, consisting of a trunk line from Buffalo via Detroit to Chicago, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, with traffic connections to St. Louis.

The C. H. & D. Railway Company has paid 5 per cent dividends upon its preferred stock uninterruptedly for the past ten years, and the earnings of the two companies, operating independently, for their last respective fiscal years, were reported as follows:

WABASH POLICY OF RETRENCHMENT

Redivisions and Reorganizes Main Line—Ramsey Patterson Road for Ohio.

LUNDERGAN RESIGNS AS D. F. A.

A redivisioning of the Wabash railroad and a reorganization of the maintenance of way department are being made by Vice President F. A. Delano. The reorganization cares for all of the engineers' maintenance of way excepting James K. Howard, a nephew of President Joseph Ramsey, who resigned and has accepted a similar position on the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad.

The eastern division of the Wabash is being extended from Danville, Ill., to Bement, Ill., and the Detroit division, which has been under the jurisdiction of Superintendent George M. Burns, will come into the territory of Superintendent L. J. Ferritor of the eastern division. There is talk of Superintendent Ferritor removing the division headquarters from Peru, Ind., to Montpelier, O., to be in closer connection with the Detroit division. Mr. Howard has been succeeded as engineer maintenance of way on the eastern division by E. K. Woodward, who held a similar position on the Detroit division. Mr. Woodward has been placed in charge of both divisions. A. G. Trippeer, engineer maintenance of way on the St. Louis division, has been made assistant engineer for the Detroit division under Mr. Woodward. Edward Shelah, engineer maintenance of way on the western division, has had his jurisdiction extended over the Springfield division, with headquarters at Decatur. E. M. Merriweather has been transferred as engineer maintenance of way of the Springfield division to a similar position on the combined Moberly and St. Louis divisions at Moberly, having as his assistant W. W. Greenland, formerly engineer maintenance of way of the Moberly division.

This is a portion of the retrenchment policy of the new Wabash management. On July 1 the train collectors which were installed several years ago to assist the conductors, were dispensed with, affecting about 30 men.

Ramsey-Patterson Line in Ohio.

Among the incorporators of a new Ohio railroad, to be known as the Lorain & Ashland Railroad Company, are James W. Patterson and W. E. Griffiths of Pittsburgh, N. W. Ramsey of Dayton, O., and R. J. Odell. The charter for the company, initial capital $5,000, was granted at the department of state in Columbus on Monday. The charter designates that the termini are to be Lorain and Ashland, O., with the company's headquarters at the latter place, and that steam and other power is to be used. It is said that the company has secured valuable terminal property at Lorain.

Mr. Patterson had nothing to say regarding the new company. Mr. Ramsey, who was in the city attending a meeting of the Wabash officials here, would not discuss the matter further than to say that the road will give an entrance into Lorain. When asked whether it would be a part of some other system he said that the road would be independent of all interests. He would not admit that it is to be a portion of a cross-state line, possibly connecting with the Marietta, Columbus & Cleveland—a "Little Kanawha syndicate" road—at Palos, 44 miles north of Marietta, and thence entering West Virginia by way of the Little Kanawha railroad. Much interest attaches to the Lorain & Ashland, because of its entering Lorain, the "Pittsburgh of the Great Lakes."

B. R. & P. Traffic Change.

Owing to continued ill health Dennis Lundergan has resigned as division freight agent of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway at Buffalo. He is succeeded by F. W. Bale, traveling freight agent at Rochester, who has been acting division freight agent at Buffalo during Mr. Lundergan's illness. Mr. Lundergan's prolonged indisposition is said to be due to his refusal to take a rest a year ago. Afterward he was compelled to relinquish his duties and went south, but returned before he had sufficiently recovered and thus caused a relapse, from which he has not rallied. Mr. Lundergan is well known and popular. It is said that he will continue in the company's service in an active position less onerous. Mr. Bale is considered an energetic traffic man.

Traffic Men at Maloney Funeral.

Almost all of the general agents, commercial agents and commercial freight agents of the initial and foreign lines in Pittsburgh, as well as a number of passenger men and traveling agents, were in Cleveland yesterday attending the funeral of Daniel H. Maloney at his late home in Morse street. The burial was in Lake View cemetery and was private. In commenting upon Mr. Maloney's death, the Chicago Record-Herald says: "'Dan' H. Maloney had the reputation of being the best story teller and the best entertainer in the railroad world. He was known for his wit and loved from coast to coast for his sunny disposition. Many of his stories have become famous and are in constant use by public speakers throughout the country."

Wabash Holds Family Meeting.

The officials of the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal railway met yesterday in the office of Vice President B. A. Worthington to discuss family matters. This is a new feature of the Wabash and hereafter the meetings will be held regularly each Wednesday. Among those from out of town were Traffic Manager H. J. Booth of the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Cleveland; Superintendent H. W. McMasters of the Wabash system lines east of Toledo, and Superintendent of Mails N. P. Ramsey of the Wabash railroad at Toledo.

Die Is Cast in Rate War.

The die has been cast in the eastern rate war between Chicago and New York. This is done by the Grand Trunk and Erie railroads notifying the interstate commerce commission that on July 6 they will reduce their rates so as to maintain the difference which has existed between points on their roads and on the Michigan Central to eastern points. This is a result of the Michigan Central taking advantage of the differential rate on a parity with the Erie, Grand Trunk, Panhandle, Baltimore & Ohio and Wabash roads, as against the standard lines, the New York Central, Lake Shore and the Pennsylvania-Ft. Wayne routes. So far as can be learned officials of the other differential roads have not decided what action to take.

Tent Meetings at Pitcairn.

General Secretary M. W. Callender of the Pennsylvania railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association, announces that the usual summer tent meetings will be held from July 9 to July 23, in a tent [illegible] Third street, Pitcairn. The services of the [illegible]mer revival campaign will be conducted by the Rev. Thomas J. Wheeler, pastor of the Baptist church of Great Valley, N. Y., who will be assisted in music by his wife, son and daughter. There will also be a large choir in charge of Herbert Tamblyn. A men's mass meeting will be held next Sunday at 3:30 p. m., and a union mass meeting at 7:30 p. m. Ira G. Sanders having resigned as assistant secretary at Pitcairn to accept a similar position at the Derry association, J. Wilbur Taylor, assistant secretary at Wilmerding, has become assistant secretary at Pitcairn.

Railroad Notes.

W. C. Durbin, conductor on the Lake Erie's Buffalo limited, is off duty and C. F. King is on his run.

Capt. "Billy" Rector, the popular Baltimore & Ohio conductor, is enjoying a fishing jaunt in his native county of Somerset. H. G. Burns is on his run.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton is relaying the entire 203 miles between Cincinnati and Toledo with new 85-pound steel, replacing the old 60-pound rails.

The Big Four has established the office of engineer maintenance of way and has appointed Charles B. Clark, assistant engineer to Chief Engineer G. W. Kittredge, to the office.

The masonry has been completed for the Baltimore & Ohio bridge at Bryant and the masonry for the Wildwood bridge will be ready for the superstructure work in a few days.

It is said that some of the railroads have offered the rail manufacturers a premium for the early delivery of steel so as to get the roads into good shape before the winter sets in.

F. A. Delano, president of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway, has been made one of the 30 overseers of Harvard university, his alma mater, succeeding former Congressman George E. Adams.

H. H. Temple, engineer maintenance of way on the Pittsburgh system of the Baltimore & Ohio, has returned from Cincinnati where he was called by the death of his mother-in-law, whose funeral occurred Monday.

General Superintendent Robert Finney, Superintendent B. W. Duer and Division Engineer L. F. Rossiter, made an inspection of the Wheeling branch of the Baltimore & Ohio. The "pike" will be inspected by President Murray and other officials on Saturday.

The formal opening of the Chicago Great Western railway's new offices in Cincinnati will be on July 10. W. D. Jones, former traveling passenger agent here, will be in charge of the passenger business and H. E. Matlack will have charge of the freight traffic in the new territory. The offices are in the Traction building.

Ugly Fire at Breckinridge.

Fire in Breckinridge at an early hour yesterday morning resulted in the destruction of two frame buildings and household goods amounting to about $19,000. The flames are believed to have broken out in Dr. J. M. Moorhead's drug store. Dr. Moorhead occupied a two-story building and adjoining it was one of three stories occupied by Dr. A. M. Hoch, who owned both buildings. He places his loss on the buildings at $10,000. In addition he lost his household goods and medical instruments valued at $4,000 and Dr. Moorhead's loss on household effects and stock is $4,500.

GETS A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT

Christian Endeavor Convention Is Commended for Its Work by Head of Nation.

HAS 66,772 SOCIETITES TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, July 5.—The formal opening of the twenty-second international Christian Endeavor convention took place this afternoon in Armory hall, with 8,000 delegates present and nearly all the 16,000 seats in the auditorium occupied. In the absence of President Francis E. Clarke, who is detained at home by illness, the Rev. Howard B. Grose of New York presided. Treasurer Shaw, of the United Society, read the following letter:

Oyster Bay, July 4, 1905.

The Rev. Francis E. Clearke, D. D. president United Society of Christian Endeavor, Baltimore:

I am very sorry it has been found impossible for me to accept your invitation to address the Christian Endeavor convention. But will you permit me to send through you a word of greeting to those assembled, and to heartily wish them continued success of the work in which they are engaged?

The work of your society during the quarter of a century of its existence has been far-reaching in its effect for good. To make better citizens, to lift up the standard of American manhood and womanhood, is to do the greatest service to the country. The stability of this government depends upon the individual character of its citizenship. No more important work can be done, important to the cause of Christianity, as well as to our national life and greatness.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The convention voted to send the following reply:

Baltimore, Md., July 5, 1905.

President Theodore Roosevelt, president's train, Lake Shore railway, Cleveland, O.

Thousands of Christian Endeavorers from many lands honor with you the memory of Secretary Hay. We thank you for your inspiring message. We beg you to stop at Baltimore on your way home and let us hear your voice in a plea for the noble citizenship you exemplify. Any hour, day or night, will do.

WILLIAM SHAW.

The devotional exercises included a brief memorial service for the late Secretary of State John Hay, conducted by the Rev. Dr. F. D. Power of Washington. Gov. Edwin Warfield of Maryland delivered an address of welcome, and was followed by Mayor Timanus. In the absence of Dr. Clarke, the Rev. Dr. Smith Baker, pastor of the "Mother Society Church," Williston Congregational church of Portland, Maine, responded in behalf of the delegates.

The following annual review of the Christian Endeavor field was read by General Secretary Von Ogden Vogt. Among other things it says:

There are today 66,772 societies of Christian Endeavor—49,339 in the United States and Canada, and 17,433 in other lands. The 10 denominations in the United States which have the largest numbers in the order named are Presbyterian, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Baptist, Cumberland Presbyterian, Methodist Protestant, Lutheran, Dutch Reformed, Methodist Episcopal and United Brethren. In Canada the Methodists lead, followed by the Presbyterians. The Young People's societies number 46,859, Junior 17,838, and Intermediate 1,958. The net gain for the year has been 2,014.

I mention a few foreign unions only, to illustrate the marvelous advances in other lands, comparing the records of the last biennial report with those of today:
